COUNCIL TO PROCEED WITH HARBOR PLANS

Mexican Pact up to Coolidge

HARBOR BOND ISSUE NOT TO BE DELAYED

Here are the latest developments in the city council controversy over the harbor bond issue:

Mayor Davie orders the bond issue movements to proceed in spite of Commissioner Carter's action in calling them off.

City Attorney Leon E. Gray is instructed to draw up all the necessary legal proceedings.

Commissioner William J. Baccus, on vacation in the Santa Cruz mountains, is ordered to return to Oakland.

A rumored movement to transfer W. J. Moorehead to Carter's department is held in obeyance for the time.

Carter charges that the controversy is caused by his "refusal to stand for this purchase of the E. B. Stone property on San Leandro bay for $1000 an acre," alleging that Stone has been getting options on nearby property for $500 an acre.

Carter asserts he was willing to agree to any harbor plan modifications that the council majority asked, but "refused to swallow the San Leandro deal."

Baccus, who voted with Carter against the Stone options, will be asked tonight to take a definite stand on one side or the other.

Despite the fact that Commissioner Albert E. Cartr on Saturday called off the project for a bond issue for harbor improvements, Mayor Davie today announced that the council will "go right ahead with a harbor bond election."

City Attorney Leon E. Gray and the majority of the council held conferences concerning the legal angles of the harbor row, and the best way to proceed over the head of Carter, the commissioner of public works.

WILL PROCEE DWITH OR WITHOUT CARTER.

"Who gave him authority to stop this bond issue?" demanded Mayor Davie after council today. "That's for the whole council to decide and not one commissioner! We'll proceed with the bond issue, with or without Cate!"

Meantime City Clehk Eugene Sturgis sent Commissioner W. J. Baccus a summary telegram to return from the Santa Cruz mountains and get into the battle. Baccus, on Friday, was granted a 15-day leae of absence.

"We'll not hae Baccus taking a run-out powder just now," said the Mayor. "He will hae to come back and get into this or we'll revoke his vacation permit."

Intimations were made this morning that a plan was afoot to transfer Moorehead into Carter's place, as head of the harbor department to handle the bond issue. Both Moorehead and Mayor Davie, however, said that it was "not contemplated just yet." But they charge again that Carter did not let them into his harbor plans, but endeavored to "jam it through, including the purchase of a large amount of estuary lands, from Clay street to Twenty-third avenue.

DECLARES HIS PLANS WERE OFTEN SEEN.

Carter asserts that they knew all about it. He says they saw his plans time and again. He alleges that the trouble is caused by his refusal to "swallow that

De Valera's Son Says Ireland Will Be Free

DUBLIN, Aug. 20.—(By The Associated Press.) — The chief speakers at a large republican gathering in Sackville street yesterday were the 12-year-old sons of Eamonn de Valera and Erskine Childers.

"Friends of Ireland," said Young de Valera, "my father promised to speak to you today, but cannot for servants of a foreigner arrested him in Clare and imprisoned him. They may give him the same fate as Dick McKee, Erskine Childers and Liam Mellowes; they can put us and others to death, but they cannot kill the spirit of freedom in Ireland; that spirit will live and Ireland will be free from sea to sea, in spite of foreigners and the servants of foreigners."

Girl's Disguise Effective

Twenty-two-year-old ANNA HENDERSON, disguised as a boy, traveled four months in box cars and on foot from Texas to see the Golden Gate. She was arrested on a charge of vagrancy on Saturday night in Oakland before her dreams came true.

VAGRANT YOUTH TURNS OUT GIRL

Pretty Texan Beats Her Way Here to See Ships, But Lands in Prison.

All the way from Texas on foot or stealing rides in box cars, just to see the big ships come through the Golden Gate is the broken dream which brought Mrs. Anna Henderson today to the Oakland city prison. The young woman reached Third and Jackson streets on Saturday night with only a few miles to go to win her heart's desire, when the strong arm of the law interfered and she was arrested on a charge of vagrancy. Perhaps the arresting officer was the more surprised of the two when in the jail he discovered that in place of the slender, gallant youth who confessed to adventuring across the continent to see the world, he had on his hands a pretty and fearless young woman who had put her past behind her and started out "on her own." When brought into court this morning, Mrs. Henderson was placed in charge of Miss Ella Flynn, adult woman probation officer, who is trying to solve the immediate difficulties of the girl.

"For a million dollars I would not have been bribed to give up

GOVERMENT TO PUT CURB ON MOB ACTS

By WM. K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Frequetly recurring outbreaks of mob violence throughout the Nation today caused officials of the Coolidge administration to consider enactment of legislation making these offenses a crime against the federal government.

With governors of four states alarmed by mob uprisings and martial law proclaimed in one locality, President Coolidge was reported deeply concerned by the apparent increased disregard for law and order. The President and other government officials were said to be considering the advisability of enacting an anti-mob bill in the next Congress. The proposed legislation would apply not only to lynch mobs, but to all organizations of masked men who take the law "into their own hands."

DYER BILL WILL BE REINTRODUCED.

The Dyer bill, passed by the last House but "talked to death" in the Senate by a Democratic filibuster, will be reintroduced in the next

GANGSTERS SLUG, ROB TWO MEN

Victims Battle Desperately Against Trio of Armed Holdups.

Overcome after a desperate battle with three armed hold-up men at an early hour this morning, Olaf Sorensen of San Pedro and Thors Thorsen of Oakland were robbed of money and valuables and thrown out of the automobile in which they were riding.

An accurate description of the gangsters, who are said to be young men, has been furnished the police, a dragnet has been spread throughout the bay region and instructions have been wired to the police at other points.

The hold-up occurred at 3 o'clock this morning as Sorenson and Thorsen were waiting for a taxicab at the corner of Fourteenth and Broadway. Thorsen, in his account of the occurrence to the police, said that the three men drove up in a machine and asked whether they were waiting for a street car. They thereupon offered to drive Sorensen and Thorsen home, the offer being accepted.

Arrived at the corner of Fourteenth and Market streets, Thorsen states that the driver of the car pretended that engine trouble had developed. The gangsters got out of the machine and suddenly produced revolvers, which they leveled at Sorense and Thorsen, ordering them at the same time to "throw up your hands and shell out." On resisting the demand, both men were roughly handled, and a melee ensued, in the course of which the victims put up a stout resistance, but were eventually dragged from the car and overcome. Sorensen, at the point of the revolvers of the gangsters, was made to hand over the sum of $30 and Thorsen lost a valuable gold watch. They immediately reported the attack to the police.

Sorensen had been visiting Thorsen at the latter's home at 1219 Adeline street.

The storm was heaviest along the Yalu river on the west coast of Korea. The first report of the storm, received here on August 15, said tidal waves submerged 25,000 houses along the river.

BERKELEY'S TAX RATE IS $1.60

Four Firemen Eliminated; Police Increased in the First Budget.

BERKELEY, Aug. 20. — Elimination of four firemen; increases in the police department to provide for more adequate traffic regulations; amalgamation of various department activities at the city hall and salary raises for various municipal employees are included in the first budget to be submitted to the Berkeley city council under the city manger form of government.

City Mnager John N. Edy, in completing the budget for the coming year today announces the tax rate as $1.60, the same as last year. Berkeley's total revenue for the coming year, including taxes from al sources, is placed at $1,276,948. Of this amount $881,855.78 is raised from the dollar general tax. In budgeting for the coming year, Edy leaves a surplus of $7,612.22 for emergencies, the total amount of the budget for general municipal purposes being $881,855.78.

The $1.60 which is to be levied for the coming year has been divided in the budget as follows, together with resources: Grammar school, receipts $226,320, tax 35 cents; library fund, $58,132, 9 cents; library building fund, $29,061, 4½ cents; bonds, $74,267, 11½ cents; general fund, $881,855.78, $1.

FOUR FIREMEN DROPPED.

In announcing his budget, Edy discloses the fact that four substitute firemen have been dropped from that department. To provide against a shortage of men in this branch of municipal activity, Edy will abolish the office of inspector in the department now held by Captain Lawrence Buchenary, and will make repair shops of certain firehouses instead of keeping men at work at the city corporation yards. In this way, he plans to give the department the same number of men. Captain Buchenary will go back into service at a firehouse, while inspection work will be carried on by the chief and assistant chief.

As an important item in the budget, Edy provides for an increase in the police department of $5000, to be used in a more rigid enforcement of traffic regulations. Of this item, $3000 is placed in the salary fund to provide for the employment of a traffic officer, if necessary, and $2000 is set aside for the painting of parking lines and installation of traffic buttons.

The budget of the city health department was cut this year to

CLARA'S AIDE RETURNS TO BARE PLOT

..NEW YORK, Aug. 20 (By the Associated Press).—Silent on Clara Phillips, Los Angeles hammer murderess, whom he is accused of having aided in her sensational escape, but loquacious regarding revolutions in Honduras and plots which he said were fomented there against him, Jesse C. Carson, former Los Angeles groceryman today awaited in a New York hotel for funds with which to return to his home town.

Carson arrived in New York yesterday aboar the steamship Ulua. Today he was located in a small hotel on West Thirty-eighth street. Among his startling announcements was one to the effect that he would have to undergo treatment here for groundglass which he said has been put in his food while he was imprisoned in Honduras.

CARSON PROMISES "DARNDEST" SURPRISE.

He absolutely declined to discuss the Phillips case until his return to Los Angeles.

"There'll be some surprise when I do say something," he predicted. "It will be the darndest story you ever heard."

Meanwhile he spun a yarn of plots and shipments of rifles, of revolutions and the double-cross.

When Mrs. Phillips after her escape from the Los Angeles jail, was captured in Honduras, she told of plans to overthrow the government there—plans which were to raise Carson, then her protector, to a high place in the new government. Today Carson, a tall man with sandy hair, who looks like a groceryman, but talks like a revolutionist, recited the same tale with additions.

Carson became mysterious when he referred to the revolution, but hinted that he was an agent of the revolutionists engaged in transporting $80,000 and some rifles from Mexico to Honduras. He was in Vera Cruz when Mrs. Phillips arrived there with her sister, Mrs. Etta May Jackson. When they got to Honduras, the trio was arrested.

Carson told a melodramatic story of having escaped with the aid of a fake rifle whittled from a bed post and covered with tin foil taken from cigarette packages. Then it seems, he was recaptured and some one—he didn't make it plain just who it was—put ground glass in his food. Soon after this he was released.

He was penniless nd unable to telegraph for money, but he managed to get aboard a boat and come to New York by means not wholly explained.

Throughout his story Carson referred mysteriously to an American official in Honduras at whose door he laid most of his troubles.

According to Carson this official professed to be heart and soul in the revolution and then double-crossed him.

Asked what could be the official's motives Carson explained dramatically:

"Ha, he wanted the $50,000. Also he was to keep me in Honduras so that I couldn't tell the state departmentof his participation in the revolution. I have proof."

Asked for this proof Carson said he didn't have it with him but "certain party would send it to him as soon as he got to Los Angeles."

Tight-Wire Walker Badly Hurt in Fall

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—When his balancing pole slipped from his grasp Delbert B. Wood, tight-wire walker, teetered back and forth on the wire and then seized it with his hands as he started to fall.

A large amusement park crowd here guffawed at what was apparently a new comedy stunt. Their amusement changed to horror when Wood was seen to lose his hold on the wire and lunge to the ground, thirty feet below.

Wood is fighting for his life today in a local hospital, with all of his left ribs caved in.

Cost of Living Gains 61.9 Pct. In Nine Years

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The cost of living in the United States on July 15, 1923, was 61.9 per cent. higher than in July, 1914, according to statistics compiled by the National Industrial Conference Board. Betwees June 15 and July 15 of this year there was an increase of 1.8 points or 1.1 per cent brought about by continued advances in the cost of food and clothing and further increases in rents, the board reports.

Fuel prices were a little lower, while average sundries and light charges remained unchanged. Between July, 1920, when the peak of the rise in the cost of living during 1914 was reached and July, 1923, the cost of living dropped 42.6 points, or 20.8 per cent. Within this three-year period a number of shifts in costs occurred. Food and clothing prices and the average cost of all sundries combined were lower in 1923 than in 1920. Rents, on the other hand, in 1923, were at the highest average yet reached for the country as a whole. Coal prices, after mounting much higher during the winter of 1922-1923, in July, 1923, were at the same level as in July, 1920.

Japan Will Begin Scrapping Warships

TOKYO, Aug. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Scrapping of warships under the Washington agreement will be begun by orders which were given when the ratification of the treaty was concluded. It is expected that the work will be completed within 18 months and that it will cost eleven million yen. ($5,500,000).

Japan soon is to begin work under her auxiliary construction plan, the details of which were announced last year. It is claimed the building under this plan will not bring Japan's naval strength to the limit under the 6-4 program but it will not be increased unless other powers undertake programs out of harmony with the spirit of the Washington agreement.

Alleged Phillips' Companion Lands

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—A man known to fellow members of the crew of the steamship Ulua, arriving here yesterday from Cristobol, Fort Limon and Havana as Jesse Carson, supposed to have aided in the escape of Mrs. Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess," from the Los Angeles county jail, left the ship last night, unhindered except by reporters and photographers.

He denied that his name is Carson nor would he reveal his real one but said he came from Rochester, Minn., and would wire there for funds.

He is six feet tall, weighs about 170 pounds, has reddish brown hair and has a scar on his right cheek and scratches on left cheek.

Boy After Hat Dies In Fall Into Canyon

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 20. —Philip W. Christiansen, 14-year old son of the Rev. I. P. Christiansen, pastor of the Bethlehem Danish Lutheran church in Denver, was instantly killed here yesterday in a 150-foot plunge to the bottom of Bear Creek canyon when his foot slipped as he was climbing down the canyon to recover his hat which had been blown away by the wind.

The boy first fell 50 feet before striking a ledge, from which he slipped and crashed his way to the bottom. Two companions, Rudolph, his brother, and Richard Olsen, saw him fall.

U. S. MEXICO PLANS GIVEN TO COOLIDGE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne, the American commissioners conducting the negotiations looking toward resumption of diplomatic relations with Mexico, presented their report today to Secretary Hughes and later on President Coolidge.

The report was in two large volumes, one in English and the other in Spanish. It is a transcript of the proceedings between the American and Mexican commissioners at Mexico City and proposes, among other things, two conventions, one to settle claims growing out of the revolution and another to settle mixed claims. The conventions are subject to ratification by the United States Senate and the Mexican Congress.

BASIS CREATED FOR FURTHER PARLEYS.

Warren, after presenting the report of the proceedings to Secretary Hughes, declined to discuss it in any way except to say that it presented a basis for consideration of whether the United States is to resume diplomatic relations with Mexico. He added that the decision of course would be made by Secretary Hughes and President Coolidge.

"We were in session on this matter three months and a day," said Warren, "and we have mutually agreed on a basis which has been found acceptable to the Mexican government. We hope, of course, that it will be acceptable to our own."

CONVERSATIONS SECRET PENDING CONSIDERATION.

The details of the proceedings probably will not become public until President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes have fully considered them and they have been presented to the Mexican Congress next month. Warren will remain in Washington with Payne for several days going over the report with Secretary Hughes.

The best informed judgment of those who have followed the negotiations is that if diplomatic relations are resumed, they will be followed by setting up the machinery of the two claims commissions provided in the report of the proceedings, which also are said to contain the reports of conversations between the Mexican and American commissioners, clarifying the points at issue between the two governments respecting the so-called confiscatory features of Mexican laws relating to private property rights.

The proceedings of the conference also will be available for the information of foreign governments which have delayed resumption of diplomatic relations with Mexico awaiting action by the United States.

French Ban "Birth Of a Nation" Film

PARIS, Aug. 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—Premier Poincare has written a letter to Georges Barthelmy, member of the chamber of deputies, who has notified the premier of his intention to interpellate the government on the recent incidents that have arisen over foreigners objecting to the presence of colored Frenchmen in places of amusement and restaurants. The premier points to the official warning issued to foreigners that they are guests of France and, as such, they should respect her customs and laws.

The premier says he will leave it in the hands of the minister of the interior, to see that the French laws of equality are strictly observed.

The American film "The Birth of a Nation" was to have been shown here but the police prohibited it.

Bond Issue Will Not Be Delayed by Controversy, Is View Held.

purchase of $3,000,000 worth of lands near San Leandro bay, at $1000 per acre."

Carter further asserts that his plan to buy property along the estuary is merely a part of tentative plans for the far future, which can be used or turned down at any time.

"I've submitted all sorts of plans for their approval," said Carter. "The maps and ideas we have drawn up for the estuary and the western waterfront, including the line of big piers as far north as Richmond, would cost $100,000,000 or more to complete. Of course it's not a rigid plan. They can take any part wanted, and leave the rest for the future.

"For the harbor bond issue I asked three things: A solid fill pier on the western waterfront, with dredging of channels; the development of piers along the inner quay wall, with dredging; and the possible purchase of the Merritt estate property at the foot of Clay street. Personally I believe the latter should be purchased, to clear the title and give theh city this waterfront."

Carter's other contemplated purchases included lands owned by the Southern Pacific Company, George Hatch and several others. He asserts that both Commissioners Colbourn and Moorehead visited him and saw his plans before Mayor Davie got the copy that caused the uproar.

"The only reason they turn on me is because I am not enthusiastic about the purchase of 3000 acres on San Leandro bay at $1000 per acre," says Carter.

"I do not think the land is worth it, and I will say that I have found that the Stones have been getting, or are trying to get, options on adjoining property at $500 per acre.

"I do not believe it good business to ask the citizens to support a proposition of that kind. I do not propose to support a project of that sort."

WILL DEFER TO WISHES OF EAST OAKLAND.

Commissioner Moorehead asserts that "the wishes of East Oakland concerning that purchase must be deferred to."

"They came into this council and asked it, six of them, led by L. B. Magoon," says Moorehead. "We are deferring to their dishes."

Mayor Davie asserts that the Carter harbor program has "still another bad item, in this plan to employ a lot of experts at $100 a day."

Carter says the experts are necessary, and without them he does not want to go on with the bond issue.

Goff Freed From Contempt Charges

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Superior Court Judge Harold Louderbach today dismissed the contempt proceedings against Captain of Police Charles Goff, who was accused of contempt of court for having ignored an injunction restraining him from raiding the Railroad Men's club at 693 Third street.

District Attorney Brady refused to act as attorney for Goff and Goff employed Sergeant Michael Reardon of the Police Department to defend him. Reardon cited authorities to such good effect that Judge Louderbach dismissed the action.

Missing Alamedan Is Found at Richmond

RICHMOND, Aug. 20.—James S. Hay, aged 70 years, of 1611 Bay street, Alameda, who was missing from home for two days, was found on the bay shore at the municipal docks. A search throughout the bay cities had been instituted for Hay at the instigation of members of his family.

DISGUISED GIRL MAKES WAY FROM TEXAS; ARRESTED

my plans when I started from Texas," Anna Henderson declares. "But not for a million dollars would I go through the past four months again," she pledges.

PLANS WORK IN INTERIOR VALLEY.

She has not the money to make the short trip to the Golden Gate when se is freed from the law. Her present aim is to go to Fresno, where she may find work in the grapes.

"When I came through on a box car, I saw just such a place as I have always wanted to work in. I want to go back there and see if the people will give me work. I guess I can hike by the highway and maybe get a life now and then Or I could go in a box car," she laughed lightly, referring to the circumstances which brought her to her present plight.

Mrs. Henderson easily passes for a slender youth of some seventeen. Khaki trousers, leather puttees, showing well polished brown shoes, a blue outing shirt and tie, all topped by a rakish gray cap is the comfortable disguise of the young woman. Her dark hair is boyishly bobbed. Her gray eyes do not hide the sorrow and "don't-careness" which prompted the girl to her travels.

In Texas she sometimes rode in the summer races. Sometimes she worked in a dye house. Of her father she says little except that she seldom hears from him. Somewhere is a sister—she does not know where. When the girl was 15, she married a lad four years her senior. He was a garage mechanic. Three years ago he died—and then the baby, nd Anna Henderson was left without any close ties in the world or any money. So she put away her petticoats and vanities. Put on her trousers and puttees and set about to see the world four months ago.

Where girls with family and bank accounts traveled by motor and Pullmans, she hiked or stole rides on the freight. Where other girls might order choice food and command service in hotels, she took another notch in her belt.

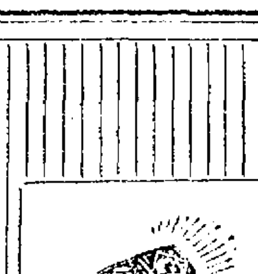

"I don't care of myself. I'm not afraid. I just wanted to see the world. Now I want work." To Anna Henderson the thing that she has done is quite a matter of fact. It was the only way to break away from the old memories and she took it.

"Only once was I thrown off a freight," she recalls. "That was not much fun, but I got the next one that came along, so it was all right. I never was arrested before."

Trouser pockets, which every woman envies a man, is the cherished possession of Anna Henderson. Her hands find their empty depths naturally as though she were in truth a lad.

Jaunty, fearless, gallant—the young woman in her masculine disguise awaits her fate tomorrow when she again appears before Judge Tyrrell in the police court.

And from her prison window even she catches a glimpse of the Golden Gate with the great ships passing through whic lured her on her venturesome journey across the continent.

MEREDITH WILL FIGHT BROOKHART WITH LIBEL SUIT

Charges of Iowa Senator Are Called Baseless by Ex-Cabinet Man.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 20 (By the Associated Press).—Charges by Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa that E. T. Meredith, while occupying the office of secretary of agriculture, "sat in the Wall-street game and helped produce the greatest panic in farm prices in the history of agriculture," prompted Meredith to instruct his attorneys to file suit against the Senator for libel and damages of 30 cents, Meredith declared in a statement to the Associated Press today.

Senator Brookhart's charges, made in an address at Radcliffe, Ia., last Wednesday, Meredith said, "involved my integrity and honor and was without basis in fact."

"But few people give any credence to Brookhart's statement," Meredith declared, "and while the damages of his statements might be more, I estimate his effectiveness at about thirty cents, so I have instructed my attorneys to sue Brookhart for libel and damages in this amount—the real compensation being in getting Brookhart on record under oath.

"The war finance corporation figures show that the farmers of Iowa, whom Brookhart has fancied were ruined long ago, borrowed approximately $24,000,000 two years ago, and that $17,000,000 of that principal sum, with interest, has already been repaid. In Nebraska, the farmers already have repaid eleven-twelfths of the money they borrowed and, in Illinois, they have repaid four-fifths of the money they borrowed.

"Can Brookhart convince any one, in the face of these facts, that the farmer is ruined, when he has recovered like this?

"While there is still plenty of room for improvement in farm prices, and this is said with a full understanding of many unfavorable farm conditions, these figures indicate that the farmers' condition is improving as I have claimed, instead of steadily growing worse.

"His charges are not only false, but libelous, and I believe it to be a real service to show the public that Brookhart Brookhart makes many wild and extravagant statements without any basis of facts."

Film Star's Age Baffles Viewers of American Film

MARY MILES MINTER, star of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," playing this week at the American theater.

Question for Years Was 'How Old Is Ann?' Now—'How Old Is Mary?'

"When the grown-up ladies look like babies—"

Such was the theme of a popular song of a few years ago, and today it is being recalled in connection with the controversy over the age of Mary Miles Minter.

Mary Miles Minter's mother maintains that her lovely daughter is "just 21." Mary's dad is equally positive she is "nearly 31." A vast picture public with which the dainty star has long been a favorite in school girl roles, does not know whom to believe.

Those who claim that she is not much beyond 20 point to Miss Minter's latest picture, "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," as positive proof of their assertions. In this production she has the role of 16-year-old June Tolliver, the quaint little girl of the Cumberland mountains, and critics generally maintain that it is the most suitable as well as dramatic characterization of her career. Miss Minter appears anything but 30 in this portrayal.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" is a splendid adaptation of the famous American novel by John Fox, Jr. The cast is brilliant throughout and while Miss Minter's acting absorbs most attention, splendid support is given by Antonio Moreno and other Paramount stars.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" heads a double bill at the American theater this week. The other feature of the program which is attracting capacity audiences is "Fog Bound," Dorothy Dalton's latest drama.—Advertisement.

Administration Plans to Check Mob Violence

Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill Will Be Reintroduced in Congress.

Congress, it was learned today. The Coolidge administration is expected to support this measure inasmuch as the executive was elected on a platform which pledged its enactment.

Federal authorities, however, hope to extend the Dyer bill to include all masked organizations attempting mob violence of any nature. The Dyer bill, in its original form, applied only to lynching mobs. It provided a penalty of $10,000 fine upon counties in which lynchings occurred and would have punished all state and county officers held responsible for the outrages.

MOVE LAUNCHED TO MAKE MOBS CRIMINALS.

A movement now under way would amend the bill to make any act of mob violence a federal crime. Under this inventory would come the whippings, deportations and "tar and feather" outrages. Penalties on a lesser scale than those applying to lynchings would be provided. Although the Dyer bill was bitterly fought in the last congress, Republican leaders are more hopeful of its enactment after next December. The Democratic south was lined up against the bill in a racial principle and the bill's opponents were victorious in their filibuster when Republican leaders stopped the fight in view of the fact that other pressing legislation was being delayed.

SHORTRIDGE WILD ACT IN U. S. SENATE.

The Dyer bill will be reintroduced in the house by its author, Representative Dyer, Republican of Missouri, and in the senate by Senator Shortridge, Republican of California.

Water for 100 square miles

"WHAT do you mean when you say that your territory covers over 100 square miles?" asked a consumer of the East Bay Water Company the other day.

In reply, we pointed out on a map the long, narrow strip of land bordered by the bay on one side and by hills and canyons on the other, running from Richmond to Alvarado, and said:

"100 square miles of territory includes 10 cities in a district 35 miles long—a good fast hour's ride in an automobile—and from 2½ to five miles wide.

"If you placed end to end the network of pipe lines used to carry water to each customer in this territory, the line would reach from here to San Diego and back again."

The consumer was thoughtful.

"By Jove, your job is certainly a big one," the consumer exclaimed as he picked up his hat. "I wouldn't care to undertake passing out water to 400,000 consumers standing along a pipe line reaching from Oakland to San Diego and back. "Why, that's a bigger task than the job of any industry we have."

COLOMA HERMIT ISSUES RELAY RACE CHALLENGE

"Sixteen-to-One" Idea Pops Up in New Form in Whiskerine Club.

By HARRY C. PETERSON.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 2.—Sacramento has been credited with resurecting many historical ideas, events and antiques and profited greatly thereby through an indulgent press.

But yesterday it resurrected a hornet's nest. Irwin Engler, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, threatens an injunction on the Whiskers' Club. He declares that this city cannot and must not be held responsible.

And it was all caused by a little idea of Jim Tuckers.

Said Engler, "Who would ever imagine that Sacramento, the heart of the gold diggings, would so demean herself as to start a presidential boom for William Jennings Bryan! It's preposterous. Why, all over town today, right after the arrival of The TRIBUNE, I heard the question being discussed by men and women everywhere. It has got to be stopped. To think that this fair city should exhume that fossilized question again, sixteen to one!"

QUESTION PUZZLES.

"Will he win?" That's the first question everybody is asking. The second is "Who is HE?" "HE" is the mysterious Coloma Hermit who challenges sixteen of Sacramento's best hikers to a sixteen-mile relay race, they to take a mile each, he the whole sixteen.

It looks ominous already for the hermit, and may possibly result in a dead heat. The first entry for a mile relay came at noon from W. F. Gormley, local undertaker and prominent Whiskerino. Said Gormley, 'Count me in on that. Give me the stiffest relay. I've been an undertaker and compelled to walk to slow music these many years, but all my life I have yearned for the one opportunity to show the world that I can play the part of a legitimate walker without the aid of inspirational music. This is my opportunity; allot me the most conspicuous portion of the race where I can show that I can head even this procession."

When Gormley undertakes anything he usually sees it through.

WILL ENTER CONTEST.

It is confidently expected that Joe Quire of Weinstock, Lubin's, will enter. He fully expects to go into active training as a walker very soon.

Charlie Frazier, of Dun & Frazier, threw his hat in the road with "I'll take up that Coloma guy's dare. I eat doughnuts, holes and all. I eat meat, white fresh bread, I've drank water with my meals for nearly three years past. Coffee, tea, French pastry and cake all agree with me. My stomach's tough. I'm tough and I can make that gold panner look like a melted jelly bean on a hot sidewalk. I'll tackle him on the first or sixteenth relay, in gee string or Prince Albert. Bring on your hermit!"

Captain Max Fisher, the finger print expert, absolutely refuses to run. "Why," said the captain, "that would be just like a regular working day for me. I have to associate with these mysterious, unidentified guys every day to make my living. I absolutely refuse to work on Sunday, absolutely!"

Al Goddard, star athlete of the Whisker Club, is out of town but is figured to take the most difficult relay.

Tucker and Diggles went to the mountains today. It is expected that they will announce full details of the race upon their return tomorrow.

In the meantime, a stranger in Sacramento the coming week will have to pinch himself to realize that time has not slipped a cog backward—"Sixteen to one."

Streets of Manila Inundated by Rains

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 20.—Torrential rains which have been falling for 24 hours and still continue, have inundated Manila. Official records indicate that the city was under eight inches of water. No damage has been reported.

Preacher Raps Men and Women Flappers of 40

ASILOMAR, Aug. 20.—The 40-year-old flappers of both sexes were discussed by Judge W. H. Thomas of Santa Ana, formerly associated justices of the second district court of appeals, in an address before the Presbyterian synod here.

"We hear a great deal these days about the malignant influence of the 16-year-old flapper," said Judge Thomas. "I hope I shall not shock any of you when I say to you that I do not worry so much about the 16-year-old flapper as I do about the 40-year-old flapper—the man or woman who is without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity so far as he or she is concerned, and who cares nothing for either the public weal or private woe."

TRIBESMEN KILL 500 SPANIARDS

Every Army Corps Ordered Ready For Service Against Moors.

MADRID, Aug. 20.—(By International News Service.) — Despatches from Melilla today estimated the losses in the latest attacks by rebellious Riff tribesmen on the Moroccan front at 500. Both sides have rushed up reinforcements.

The Spanish minister of war has ordered every army corps to be held in readiness for field service.

General Echague, Spanish commander-in-chief at Melilla, and Abdel K. Rim, leader of the rebels, are directing their armies in person.

The rebel offensive is said to have resulted from the action of the Spanish in sending out convoys insufficiently protected, thus invitig attack.

The navy department is sending battleships to Morocco to bombard rebel positions on the coast.

Several unattached tribes have joined the Spanish.

Kidnaped Infant, Ill, Faces Death

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—With the police force of the entire city and detectives seeking for the kidnaper of three-months-old Lillian McKenzie, from a baby carriage in front of a store Saturday, it was announced that the baby might die within two or three days for lack of a special diet which she was receiving because of illness. The diet had been prepared by hospital physicians who explained that should the special feeding cease, death would occur soon.

SAN JOSE DRYS RAID RESORTS, CAPTURE TRUCK

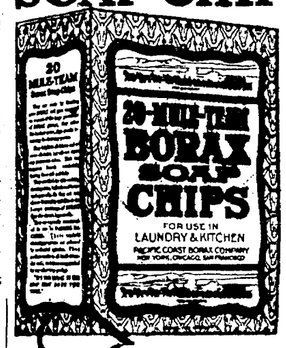

Jackass Brandy, Moonshine and Many Kinds of Wine Are Seized in South.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 20.—With successful liquor raids conducted against three local resorts and abatement suits threatened against two of them, and with a truck loaded with moonshine liquor nabbed en route here, the outlook for the thirsty is not quite so good today.

G. R. Willard, 35 Orchard street; Frank Schwab, 12 Powell street, and E. Portalupi, 435 Vine street, were arrested by County Detective W. J. Dreischmeyer and City Detectives Ray Starbird and A. M. Vaughter. At the residences of Schwab and Willard quantities of jackass brandy and wine were uncovered and confiscated, while at the Portalupi house, which is a French bakery, a quantity of the best grade port, claret, sherry and white wines was found. The places of Schwab and Portalupi are said to have been raided before, and officials state that abatement proceedings to close them will be commenced.

A truck driver with a load of illicit liquor consigned for this city was arrested in San Francisco by H. H. Dolley, head of the dry forces there. The truckman said a stranger had hired him to haul the rum here. The stuff was marked "export, for medical use only," and was wrapped in sacks over which salt water had been dashed, but was found to be the lowest grade bootleg variety.

"Travelogue" At Diablo Tomorrow

A travelogue tomorrow at the Mt. Diablo Country Club.

The cards don't say that. They say something about mah jongg and luncheon—the luncheon first.

But popular as is the Confucian game, what chance has it when everybody is dying to hear all about the exotic life in the court of Alphonso—likewise of the goings on in the Belgian court—from Mrs. Reginald B. Cocroft, who has treasured up in her analytical mind a lot of entertaining stuff from her life in the royal presences? And of bandit-ridden China from Mrs. Gustave Reis, who sailed into her home harbor a few weeks ago? And from Mrs. Charles Lovell, about her impressions of life beyond the Rockies?

The three are to be honor guests at the luncheon, with eighteen guests—most of them debs in the same or nearby years, and brides in the same ratio of time.

And the hostesses—Mrs. Thomas Hogan Jr. and Mrs. Henry E. Jackson—are driving over to the club with a flock of cars.

En passant, a lot of entertaining is ahead for the young women who have come home to the hills so often longed for in the years spent in strange lands.

Mrs. Andrew Thomford, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Loreen Thomford the bridesmaid. Jeanette Crosswhite and Doris Leathe were flower maidens.

Attending the bridegroom was his brother, Francis W. Evington.

An informal reception followed the ceremony.

7 GUNMEN RAID CROWDED INN; ROB 170 PERSONS

Four, Including Woman, Are Seriously Shot By Volleys Fired Among Dancers.

DETROIT, Aug. 20.—Seven gunmen early yesterday held up the Allendale Inn at Warren and Snyder streets, lined up about 170 persons at the Inn and obtained money and jewelry valued at several thousand dollars. Four persons, including one woman, were shot and seriously injured. One of the injured persons was said to be George D. Wilson, vice president of the Wilson Body company.

The gunmen escaped in an automobile. A short time later an automobile containing seven men, believed to be the same ones who held up the inn, was seen in Monroe, about forty miles southwest of here. The night policeman in Monroe approached the automobile, and one of the persons in the machine shot and killed him.

FIRE UPON DANCERS.

Two of the gunmen stayed outside the roadhouse while three entered from the front door and two from the back. As soon as the men were inside the door they began firing through the crowded dance hall. Women screamed and fainted. The bandits lined the waiters up first. One man guarded the waiters, and two went from table to table through the crowds. Another bandit guarded the front door while the fifth guarded the rear. They stripped jewelry from the women and money from the pockets of the men. In their haste the gunmen searching the guests tore diamonds from rings and stickpins with their teeth.

Two youthful bandits in a stolen automobile held up Arthur Hamm, collector of the General Ice Delivery company, here this morning and escaped with $5000 in cash.

This holdup climaxed a 24-hour series of holdups, shootings and marauderings, probably by the same band, according to police.

Natural Vision Film Perfected By Chicago Man

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Invention of a "natural vision" motion picture film, which adds depth to the width and height of the standard picture was announced today by the George K. Spoor Essanay Film company, which expressed its intention of opening up the old Chicago Essanay plant closed several years ago, to begin the production of the new pictures and the equipment for their production on a vast scale.

Seven years of effort and $1,500,000 was spent by Spoor and P. J. Berggren, the inventors, in perfecting the new films, cameras, projection machines and screens, the announcement declares.

The three dimension pictures, according to the company, have a field 40 feet long and 20½ feet high, an area from three to ten times as great as that of the pictures now shown. The camera with which the new pictures are made is four times as large as the ordinary motion picture camera, is equipped with two lenses, employs the principle of superimposing one picture on another and uses films twice as wide as those now used.

The projection machine is described as unlike any projection machine now in use and the screen, in addition to its size, is a combination of two, the forward one being a transparent curtain of "interfering lines."

The Spoor Essanay studios were once the largest in America.

CURTAIN CALLS By Wood Soanes

CHANGES in policy and management are going into effect at the Orpheum Theater.

M. A. Anderson, who relieved Lew Newcomb as manager of the theater some time back and was greatly responsible for the success of the theater under th Junior Orpheum policy, is to leave this week for Fresno.

Anderson will take charge of the Orpheum vaudeville at the White theater in that city, a position formerly held by George Allen, another Oakland product. Under the new system Allen will stay in Sacramento as resident manager instead of touring through the valley,

The Oakland house will be in charge of Allen Warshauer, who has been the press agent in San Francisco and who wil lunite the jobs of manager and press representative, thus relieving both Anderson and Joseph Whitnah, the press agent.

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

"Everyman" is to be presented at the Greek Theater on September 1.

So much for the new management. When Warshauer takes charge there will also be a change in policy. Instead of operating under the straight Junior Orpheum policy the theater wil ladopt a part Junior and part Senior system with a consequent raise in prices and a return to the reserved seats.

According to Anderson, the Orpheum promises to send to Oakland all of the headliners who appear at the San Francisco house nd plans a number of improvements in scenic equipment and investiture. Reserved seats will be sold from Monday to Saturday inclusive with continuous performance on Sunday as in the recent past. The first big attraction will be Ethel Barrymore in "The Twelve-Pound Look," opening on August 26, together with five acts of vaudeville and a feature picture.

Born in Glascow in 1876, she made her stage debut in 1892 at the Alhambra theater in Belfast singing a ballad called "Mollie Darling." Later in her career she appeared with E. H. Sothern in Shakespearean plays.

Her last appearance in America as a dramatic artist was with William Faversham. This was during the season of 1913-14.

Marcus Heiman, head of the Orpheum circuit, who secured Miss Loftus, also engaged Wilkie Bard, the character songster, for a season.

BODIES OF DEAD FLYERS SOUGHT IN BAY WATERS

Emmet Tanner, Pilot, and Bob Langdon, Student, Are Drowned in Fall.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Efforts to raise an airplane out of the Bay, with the bodies of two drowned aviators strapped to its seats, were under way today following a fatal accident of yesterday in which Emmet Tanner, pilot, and Bob Langdon, student aviator, lost their lives opposite the marina.

Tanner was 30 and lived at 333 Eighth avenue. Langdon, who was 20 years old, lived at 1240 McAllister street.

The airplane fell into the bay a few yards from a crowded excursion launch, whose passengers, crowding to the rail watched two aviators sinking to their death in the wrecked plane.

Attempts of Wallace Sutter, a deckhand on the launch, to extricate the two men from their fastenings by diving repeatedly down to the plane as it was sinking, were frustrated when he was struck on the head by part of the wreckage of the airplane as it shifted in the water.

A second accident was averted only by a narrow margin when the passengers on the pleasure launch, mostly women, crowded in such numbers to the rail nearest the wrecked plane that they almost capsized the boat.

Something evidently went wrong with the steering gear of the airplane, according to Captain Louis Cordano of Crowley launch No. 6, who watched the plane fall near his vessel. Tanner, he said, apparently was trying to land at the Marina but the plane refused to "straighten out," and plunged into the bay.

Following the unsuccessful attempt of Sutter to rescue the two aviators, the sinking plane was seized by grappling hooks and towed to shore by a power boat from the North Point Life Saving station. After the grappling hooks had broken loose several times, the work of raising the plane to the surface was postponed until today on account of darkness.

Air-Cooled Engine Found by British

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—The air of British airplane builders, for some time past, has been to produce a powerful multi-cylindered engine which would cool itself merely by reason of its own swift passage through the air. This would eliminate radiators, water-jackets and other impediments in water-cooled engines. Some of the best brains in the air world have been endeavoring to solve this problem.

The Duke of Sutherland, in presenting the prize to the winner of the recent English aerial Derby, remarked, "This day has seen the triumph of the air-cooled engine," and it is now believed that he was revealing the official significance which is attached to the result of the race.

English Working On Record Air Engine

LONDON, Aug. 20 (By The Associated Press).—The British air ministry experts are at work perfecting an airplane engine capable of developing 1500 horsepower, which will be the largest known. Two trial engines are nearing completion and will soon be tested.

The new giant of the air will have six cylinders, each developing 250 horsepower.

If the present experiments are successful the experts will begin work on a 12-cylinder engine to have more than 3000 horsepower. Airplanes fitted with three such engines will be capable of developing upwards of 9000 horsepower, and will carry 120 passengers at 100 miles an hour.

Ultimatum Handed Ally of Sun Yat Sen

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

AMOY, China, Aug. 20.—General Ong, commanding an army of Peking troops at Shihma, eight miles northwest of Amoy, delivered at 10:15, today, an ultimatum to Chang Tse-Ping, the eastern ally of Sun Yat-Sen, saying that Amoy must be evacuated within 48 hours.

General Ong renewed his offer to enlist Chang's Amoy troops in the Northern army, paying them arrears in wages. As an alternative Ong suggested that the soldiers be paid their back salaries, plus a bonus of $30 each, and be sent to their homes. Ong added that if Chang refused, Amoy would be attacked by land forces, aided by four gunboats now at Swatow, one the Haichi, the largest gunboat in the Chinese navy.

Wage Demand First At Hard Coal Parley

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 20.—Mine union leaders in conferences here today decided to make the demand for wage increase in the anthracite field the first order of business in their meetings with operators to agree on a new contract.

The union men, led by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, will endeavor to force a settlement of the wage question before taking up the check-off and other disputed points.

A 20 per cent increase for coal cutters and a straight $2 a day raise for laborers is demanded.

Beer Production Cut in Germany

MUNICH, Aug. 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—Germany's beer production is less than half what it was in pre-war days. Last year there were only 33,0000,000 hectoliters produced as against 70,000,000 hectoliters in the period immediately preceding the war.

The beer production for 1922 was roughly 871,000,000 gallons, or nearly 15 gallons for each inhabitant of the German republic. Experienced barkeepers managed to get eight glasses of beer out of every gallon, so at that rate every inhabitant of Germany might have had 120 glasses of beer last year, or, roughly, one glass every three days.

Australian Capital To Be Inaugurated

MELBOURNE, Aug. 20 (By The Associated Press).—The next session of the Australian parliament will be in Canberra, the new Federal capital which, like Washington, D. The parliament house and government buildings will face a central lake with streets laid out in octagonal form around them. On one side will be a fan-shaped residential quarter; on the other the university, municipal and industrial centers. Main thoroughfares will radiate from the parliament building.

FOUR PLACES AT U. C. FILLED IN REORGANIZATION

Prof. E. A. Lee Is Named Examiner and Prof. Raber Consulting Engineer.

BERKELEY, Aug. 20.—Four new appointments in line with the general reorganization plan of President W. W. Campbell at the University of California have been announced simultaneously with the opening of college for the fall semester.

Two important appointments to administrative duty of present members of the university staff are those of Prof. E. A. Lee of the school of education to the position of examiner of school, and of Professor R. F. Raber of the college of mechanics to be consulting engineer in the use of university buildings.

ASSISTANT DEAN CHOSEN.

The growth of the college of letters and sciences has made it necessary for Prof. Monroe E. Deutsch the dean, to have an assistant, according to university heads, and Dr. Wendell M. Latimer, assistant professor of chemistry, has been named to this post. The arrival at the university this week of Dr. Carl Ortwin Sauer of the University of Michigan brought a new department chairman to the campus, Dr. Sauer taking the place left vacant by the retirement of Rulif S. Holway, professor of geography, who retired as professor emeritus after twenty years of active service.

In the administrative positions Prof. Lee fills a position vacant since Dr. W. Scott Thomas was compelled by ill health to resign from it about five years ago.

CHAIRMAN TO REMAIN.

Prof. Clarence Paschell, who has for some years directed the work of examining schools for accrediting to the university, will continue to act as chairman of the schools committee.

Prof. Raber will be engaged in a survey of the present facilities of the university plant in relation to increasing demands.

As assistant dean of the college of letters and science Dr. Latimer's special function will be to make easier the student's path through the multitude of elective requirements. The college of letter and science now numbers about 6000 students and is the largest division of the university.

Prof. Holway's successor, Dr. Sauer, will bring with him to the university as associate in geography one of his most distinguished students, John B. Leighly, A. B., while holding over as an active member of the departmental staff is R. J. Russell, former teaching fellow and now associate in geography.

TEN PICNICKERS DROWNED WHEN LAUNCH FOUNDERS

Mysterious Disaster Brings Death to Outing Party On Mississippi.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 20.—Ten persons, including an entire family, were drowned last night when a 30-foot gasoline launch sank in the Mississippi river near South St. Paul. Not a passenger of the launch survived. The catastrophe occurred as a party of picnickers was returning to the Twin Cities from Pine Bend.

THE DEAD:

Nicholas Martinelli, 40, St. Paul.
Robert Gaultiers, St. Paul.
Vincent Martinelli, 45, St. Paul.
Frank Gaultiers, St. Paul.
Mrs. Eliza Martinelli, 65, Minneapolis.
Andrew Martinelli, 33, Minneapolis.
Mrs. Pauline Martinelli, Minneapolis.
Robert Martinelli, 6, Minneapolis.
Alfred Martinelli, 4, Minneapolis.
Margaret Mahn, 16, Minneapolis, sister of Mrs. Andrew Martinelli.

The launch filled with merrymakers was proceeding upstream and had reached a point near St. Paul when the accident occurred.

There was no explosion, but the men, women and children screamed as they went overboard. For a moment they floundered in the water and then boat and all but one of the struggling figures disappeared. A fisherman whose name was not learned, was some distance away in a small row boat. He was unable to go quickly to the spot because of the current and was unable to tell just what caused the boat to go down.

He saw the body of Mrs. Eliza Martinelli floating among the chairs, cushions and picnic baskets.

Andrew Martinelli was president of the Marine Service company of Minneapolis and was an excellent builder of boats. He had recently completed the ill fated craft and was making his third trip in it.

Coroner Meeker was of the opinion that the boat had run afoul of some obstruction just below the surface of the water. The river is extremely low where the accident occurred. Another opinion was that the engine may have in some manner fallen through the bottom, making a hole.

GOOD MILKER.

FRANKLIN

The beautiful heroine of Harold McGrath's "The Ragged Edge," now at the Franklin theater, was reared as the daughter of a missionary in the South Sea Islands. She knew nothing of the things of life. Fate brought her to the coast of China, where she met a young Yankee on the ragged edge of life and nursed him back to health. The adventures of these young lovers make up one of the best screen stories of the year. Alfred Lunt and Mimi Palmeri, with an all star Goldwyn cast, have the leading roles.

John Wharry Lewis and his soloists are assisted by Foo San (Mrs. John Wharry Lewis) in a beautiful Chinese musical novelty, "The Spirit of the Dragon."

Charlie Murray returns to the Franklin screen in his latest comedy "Helpful Hogan." Pictures of the funeral of our late President Harding at Marion are also shown.

Theaters

ORPHEUM

Richard Kean, the celebrated character actor, in bits from Shakespeare, is the chief attraction on the new bill at the Oakland Orpheum theater. Other headline attractions include Chief Caupolican, the Indian baritone, and Long Tack Sam and his company of Oriental magicians.

Kean has played the parts which he portrayed yesterday many times and his delineation of the various roles showed his intense study. In his act Kean demonstrates a unique method of quick change from one role to another.

Chief Caupolican, the Indian baritone, who is one of the few members of his race on the American stage has a clear, resonant voice. Caupolican is a full blooded Indian of the Aurocano tribe and was at one time a member of the Metropolitan Opera company.

Long Tack Sam and his company of Chinese magicians, contortionists and wonder workers give an elaborate act with colorful settings and Oriental atmosphere.

Other acts which scored include Lou Edwards and Jack Beardsley, in an act of travesty and humor; the Fifer brothers and sister, who offer charming examples of the dancing art; and Fern Redmond and H. Wells in "The Gyp," fast comedy skit with plenty of action.

The motion picture is "The Sucker and the Rose," which features Alice Lake, Gaston Glass, and Louise Fazenda in a story of love and adventure.

NEW PIEDMONT

Tonight the New Piedmont theater will show for the last time "The Glimpses of the Moon," starring Bebe Daniels, David Powell and Nita Naldi. This is a clever society drama which proved interesting entertainment. Snub Pollard in "A Tough Winter," and Kinogram News complete this program.

Starting tomorrow for a three-day run, Harold Lloyd will appear at the New Piedmont in "Safety Last," a production said to be the greatest thing yet to be offered by this well known comedy favorite. "Safety Last" is a comedy thriller. Its action is fast and its situations in many instances, simply hair-raising. Lloyd has never been seen to better advantage than in this production. "Safety Last" will be shown twice nightly, starting tomorrow evening and closing with Thursday night's performances. Mary Astor in "Hope," another of the Triart series of miniature artistic dramas, will also be shown on this program.

CHIMES

"Enemies of Women," the big Cosmopolitan Production which was presented at the Chimes theater yesterday, has gorgeous settings and costumes and a spectacular element running through it. The continuity was prepared by John Lynch from Vicente Blasco Ibanez's latest novel; it was directed in Monte Carlo, Nice and Paris.

Lionel Barrymore is featured as Prince Michael Lubimoff. Playing opposite him is Alma Rubens, beautiful and gifted actress who scored so decisively in "Humoresque." Others in the cast are Gladys Hulette, Pedro de Cordoba, Gareth Hughes, the late William H. Thompson, veteran stage actor, and William Collier, Jr.

"Enemies of Women" will be at the Chimes until Wednesday.

Neptune Beach

Big crowds flocked to Neptune Beach yesterday and frolicked as only the usual Sunday pleasure seekers know how to frolic at Alameda's beach resort.

A musical program, rendered by George Schultz's band of soloists under the direction of T. Valerga, was entertaining as were the performances of a clever vaudeville team.

Charley Fisher's Neptune mermaids desported themselves in the tank, which was filled to its capacity with swimmers. The surf, too, was enjoyed by the visitors, and the large ballroom saw big crowds in the afternoon and evening.

Friday, Adam's Black Jack Chewing Gum Day proved to be a regular Kiddies' Day. Thousands of youngsters came and received their free gum.

Saturday was American Legion Day, with Oakland Post No. 5 doing the entertaining in royal style. Princess Anita and her Hawaiian singers and musicians pleased the many Legionaires.

PANTAGES

South Sea beauties, Samoan bathing girls and barbaric head hunters of the Solomon Islands are numbered among the principal actors in the unusual Pathe picture, "Black Shadows," taken in the South Sea Islands by the explorer Edward G. Salisbury, which is being shown at Pantages theater the first four days of this week. A Snub Pollard comedy, "Jack Frost," a two-reel Western drama and a Pathe news reel complete the program which is supplemented by special orchestra music.

The first scenes of "Black Shadows" are laid in the Marquesas Islands. Then comes the island of Moto Uto, guarding the bay of Papeete, the Fiji Islands, the island of Taviuni, the island of the New Hebrides, and finally the Solomon Islands, the home of the barbaric head hunters.

Thursday afternoon of this week Jane Cowl in the Shakespearean love tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet," comes from the Curran theater in San Francisco to Pantages for an engagement of three days. Rollo Peters, the young San Francisco actor, plays Romeo. Five performances of the classic drama will be given during the engagement, three evening performances and two matinees. The matinees will be Thursday and Saturday.

FOX

The program at the new Fox Oakland theater, which is to open next Saturday evening, includes diversity of interest and originality.

In addition to feature photoplays there will be presented each week stage spectacles in which large casts, special stage settings and costumes and original themes are incorporated.

For the initial week the photoplay sensation "The Silent Command" will be the chief offering. The production combines international intrigue, adventure on the high seas, thrills and a charming love story. One of the notable features of the production is a shipwreck at sea.

Having for its theme a local allegorical story of interest to Eastbay residents the stage spectacle for the first week will have specially designed stage settings and costumes of the modernist school, created by Art Director Frank J. Zimmermer and Hugh Brackenridge, the spectacle having been planned by Managing Director S. Barret McCormick.

Musical Director Gerardo Carbonare promises an orchestral concert for the opening week that will be out of the ordinary.

AMERICAN

June Tollivor, that quaint, little girl of the Cumberlands; her brothers, "Devil" Jud and "Bad" Rufe, and all the other characters of one of the most famous of American novels are splendidly portrayed in the screen version of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," which is now being shown at the head of a double bill at the American theater.

Heading the cast are Mary Miles Minter as the attractive though ragged June, and Antonio Moreno as the "furriner," John Hale, who invades the mountains to develop coal lands, developing instead a love for June. The plot closely adheres to the story of the novel depicting how an innocent little quarrel between the families of two of the simple, illiterate mountaineers develops into a deadly feud.

On the same bill is "Fog Bound," the latest release to star Dorothy Dalton. The picture is filled with action, thrills and drama. David Powell has the leading male role. Owen Sweeten and his orchestra, in another original concert, round out the program.

NEW STRAND

"Safety Last," Harold Lloyd's seven reel comedy feature, opens a three-days engagement at the New Strand theater, Telegraph avenue at Thirty-third street tonight. Thrills with frills and chills are promised, with the spectacled comedian performing the difficult task of climbing the side of a twelve-story building and reaching the roof after overcoming the most fearful hazards.

"Safety Last," however, is not all thrills, since it also contains some of the most wholesome and amusing comedy situations that Lloyd has ever put on the screen, as well as a delightful love story. "Safety Last" can be truly said to be one of the greatest comedies ever produced.

"We won't ask for the usual $10,000 but any sum near that amount will do," they are alleged to have told him, threatening him with exposure of an attack on Mrs. Labie, which Levy denies having committed.

Round Table Knights To Entertain Boys

Fifteen hundred questionnaire cards and 3,000 tickets are being printed by the Oakland Knights of the Round Table for the free entertainment they are arranging for working boys of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda to be given in the auditorium of Aahmes Temple on the evening of September 21, it was announced today by Chairman R. C. Enriss. Vaudeville acts, music, athletic sports and refreshments are on the program.

The tickets, according to arrangements made with circulation managers of Oakland and San Francisco newspapers, will be distributed by paper carriers and newsboys. Tickets entitling boys of qualified age and vocation to free admission to the Round Table party, will also be distributed in stores and factories in the Eastbay cities.

The boys will be asked to fill out questionnaires giving their names and addresses. From the information obtained in this manner the Knights of the Round Table hope to find scores of youths whom they can assist on the road to success, according to Hugh S. O'Neill, Oakland attorney who has been appointed by the club to act as advisor to all boys who come to the knights seeking aid or avice.

Antidotes were administered and the children were taken back to their homes.

STATE

Rin-Tin-Tin, the famous dog hero of the screen, is the magnet at the State this first part of the week in the thrilling north woods drama "Shadows of the North." The human star of the film is William Desmond supported by Virginia Browne Faire. This is considered one of the best dog pictures ever filmed and the work of Rin-Tin-Tin is remarkable.

The Edna Mitchell Revue, in comedy hits and variety, have a clever act that pleases, and Burton and Ross present a riot of comedy entitled "Aboriginalities." The Tompletons in Dance Hits of 1922, Barr and La Marr in "Just Happyings," and the Ardell Brothers, the kings of the rings, complete a good vaudeville show.

Wednesday brings Lon Chaney to the State in "While Paris Sleeps."

BROADWAY

What will be written in screen history as a masterpiece of its kind is offered in Elmer Clifton's "Down to the Sea in Ships"—a romance of the golden days of whaling which is showing for the last times today at the New Broadway theater. This picture is set in the richest kind of atmosphere, local color, detail and romance. It is authentic because Clifton went up to the whaling city, New Bedford, and gained the cooperation of its people.

While the picture exploits the whaling industry of the fifties with its dramatic moments, there is also interwoven a romance, the background of which is colored with a rich glamour.

WORLD ZIONISTS ELECTS OFFICERS

CARLSBAD, Aug. 20.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—After a session which lasted from eight o'clock Saturday night to five o'clock yesterday morning, the thirteenth world Zionist congress closed with the election of the executive committee as proposed by Dr. Chaim Weizmann. The central point of the stormy session was the discussion regarding the retention of M. Ussuchkin as director of activities in Palestine.

Dr. Weizmann's adherents demanded the elimination of Ussochkin, asserting that his presence on the executive committee would hamper the functioning of that organization.

Among those elected to membership on the executive committee are Louis Lipsky, chairman of the American Federation of Zionists; Joseph Cowen, London, and Dr. M. Soloweichek, formerly of Lithuania.

The actions committee, next in importance to the executive committee, includes Herman Cohnheim, treasurer of the American Palestine Foundation Fund; Abe Goldberg, member of the American Zionist Administration; Jacob Fishman, managing editor of the Jewish Morning Journal, and Morris Rothenberg, all of New York.

Bernard H. Rosenblatt, of New York, formerly a member of the executive committee, was named on the economic council.

Resolutions adopted at the closing session included one expressing "heartiest thanks" to the congress of the United States for going on record in favor of the Jewish homeland.

CENTURY

Colorful settings, melodious song numbers, clever dances, and a wealth of comedy are the features of "R. Men, Modiste," the current musical farce comedy at the Oakland Century, in which Jack Russell's company of thirty entertainers with the assistance of Kemper and Young, offer some humorous sidelights on the life of Paris.

All the humorous action of the vehicle centers about one of those celebrated shops for women on the Rue de la Paix in Paris. Walter Spencer, the leading man of the company, gives a delightful characterization as M. Frou-Frou, the proprietor of R. Men, Modiste, the shop in which the vehicle is laid.

The story occurs on a night that a great masked ball is held in Paris when M. Frou-Frou takes one of his beautiful models to the affair for the purpose of advertising his wares to high society, and gets into thrilling and comedy adventures.

Among those who score with song numbers are Jackie Brunea in a ballad, "Her Gown;" Evelyn Du Frain in "It's a Cute Little Way of Her Own;" the Knight Sisters in a French novelty, "Parisiola," and comedy numbers by Walter Spencer, James G. Edwards, Ernest Young and Joseph Kemper. The Century Four gives a program of harmony.

T. and D.

Herb Wiedoeft's famous Cinderella Roof Orchestra, which has been the talk of Los Angeles for the past year and which scored such a big hit in San Francisco when they played at the Warfield theater, is the surprise feature of this week's bill at the Oakland T. and D. theater. This musical aggregation offers the very latest in syncopated melodies in a style never before heard, creating a near riot of applause after each concert.

The screen feature of this program, which runs until Friday evening, is "Three Wise Fools," a melodramatic thrill comedy which is proving highly popular. William H. Crane, for many years a leader among stars of the speaking stage; Claude Gillingwater, Alec Francis, Raymond Hatton and the charming Eleanor Boardman are the best known of the cast. A news reel, a two-reel comedy and one of the clever Lyman H. Howe's Hodge-Podge travelogue pictures, make up the rest of this entertainment.

Tennis Shoes To Be Defined By City Council

RICHMOND, Aug. 20.—In addition to a discourse upon the most efficient methods of eradicating poison oak from Grand Canyon park which is slated for discussion by the city council tonight, the matter of what legally and officially constitutes "tennis shoes" will also be a part of the evening's dissertations, according to the unfinished business upon the official desk of City Clerk A. C. Faris.

This question was laid over from the meeting of last Monday when it was introduced in a discussion upon the uses and abuses of the municipal free tennis courts, purchased by the city for the public. It was found, upon an intensive survey that certain varieties of shoes wreak havoc in the municipal courts and an ordinance was ordered forbidding their uses.

City Attorney Hall has prepared an ordinance which he believes will remedy the shortcomings of the ordinance now before the council by defining what is a "tennis shoe," and permitting such to be worn by players in the city courts. He defines a tennis shoe or slipper as being one made of canvas, with rubber soles and heels, containing no tacks or metal on the bottoms.

I. C. C. APPROVES NATRON CUT-OFF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The Central Pacific Railroad company was authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission today to proceed with construction of its "Natron cut-off" in Oregon.

Under the authorization the work must be begun by January 1, 1924, and must be completed within two years. The Central Pacific's request to retain excess earnings as a part of its program for financing the construction was denied.

A new line will start at Oakridge, Ore., and run 118 miles to a point near Kirk, Ore. The area to be served, the commission found, will cover a belt about 46 miles wide. Stations will be established at McCreedie Hot Springs, O'Dell and Crescent, described in the commission's decision as having a population of about twenty each.

The cost of construction was estimated by the commission at about $16,000,000. No plan of financing was contained in the application or the commission's order other than the reference to retention of excess earnings.

According to figures submitted by the road, the annual gross revenues from the property will average about $2,464,848 during the first five years and will approximate $3,000,000 annually thereafter.

28-HOUR MAIL SERVICE FLIGHT STARTS TUESDAY

P. O. Night Flying Experiment Opens From Two Ends; Success Expected.

Mail from the entire bay region will leave San Francisco by airplane tomorrow in the first of a series of transcontinental flights, which, if successful, will mean the establishment of a 28-hour mail service between here and New York.

The tests will involve the first long-distance night-flying ever attempted in the United States or, it is said, in any other country.

The departure of planes from both the New York and San Francisco ends of the route will be timed so that the portion of the route to be covered at night will lie between Chicago and Cheyenne.

EMERGENCY PROVISIONS.

Throughout this distance an elaborate system of beacon lights has been provided to guide the airmen. These lights have been placed 50 miles apart. Service stations for the planes have been established every 200 miles along the route, and emergency landing fields have been placed at frequent intervals.

Six stops of twenty minutes each will be made on each trip for refueling. These will be at Cleveland, Chicago, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City and Reno.

TESTS TO CONTINUE.

The tests will continue over a period of five days, beginning tomorrow. At 6 o'clock tomorrow morning one of the eight De Havland planes to be used in the tests will leave Crissey Field, San Francisco, piloted by B. H. Winslow. At 11 o'clock, eastern time, a similar plane will leave New York. The two are scheduled to pass each other in the night between Chicago and Omaha. The San Francisco plane is due in New York at 3:15 p. m., Wednesday, and the New York plane is due here at 4:15 p. m. the same day.

MOTHERS HOLIDAY BEGINS WITH SCHOOL OPENING

"When are you coming over, Mrs. Newman? I have been looking for you every afternoon."

"Now that school has started again, I will be over very soon. I've been busy getting everything ready for the children to start to school. Now, that they are away every day I can draw a breath of relief and get out more."

"We got that new player-piano I was telling you about, and since you like music I want you to bring your sewing soon and spend the afternoon."

"Oh, I surely will. We haven't any music in our home but the children, and some times the noise that they make is anything but beautiful. I'd love to come."

"Come to think about it, I believe I'll invite about ten women in for tea some afternoon soon. But don't wait for that. Come often. There are several of our friends who would enjoy the new piano. We'll sew and I'll serve refreshments later."

"Oh, a real party! That will be lovely. I can have a chance to wear my new dress then."

"Oh, my goodness! It won't be a dressy affair."

"No, I know. But my dress is no formal ball gown, either. Just a pretty, simple dress for afternoons. Goodness knows I needed it. A dress not too good and just good enough to wear afternoons is something I've been wanting for a long time. And I found just what I wanted the other day at Cherry's at 515 13th street. Reasonably priced, too. Cherry's are always satisfactory and they allow one to buy on credit with six months to pay. My husband is always pleased with his suits that he buys at Cherry's store for men at 512 12th street.—Advertisement.

Fifteen Persons Hurt In Five Auto Crashes

Five automobile accidents which occurred in the Bay district during the week-end resulted in the injury of 15 persons. Two of the accidents happened in Oakland, one in Berkeley and two in San Francisco.

Both were taken to St. Anthony's hospital after receiving emergency treatment at the Emergency hospital.

At the Emergency hospital McEvoy was said to have a possible fracture of the skull, a fractured right arm, possible internal injuries and cuts and bruises. Mrs. McEvoy, who is 66, suffered injuries to the chest, a possible fractured skull, contusions and lacerations.

According to the police reports, the couple stepped from the sidewalk directly in front of the automobile of A. Sagons, 1332 Eighty-fifth avenue, when they attempted to cross the street at Eleventh avenue and East Twelfth street. They were taken to the hospital by Peter Gannon, 4264 Watts street.

PLEA ISSUED BY CLUBWOMAN FOR IMPROVED HOMES

Northern District President Says Movie and Auto Seem to Hold Monopoly.

WOODLAND, Aug. 20.—"Better Homes" in Northern California and throughout the State, not those made by money, but better homes because of a better spirit among the members of the family, is emphasized in the message directed today to the club presidents of the northern district, Federation of Women's Clubs, by Mrs. Lydia D. Lawhead of Woodland, recently elected president of the northern district at the district convention of club women held in Grass Valley.

"The movie and the flivver seems to have monopolized the time so that the intimate conversations which were once conducive to the home atmosphere have vanished from our lives," says Mrs. Lawhead in her message.

"The home is the unit of the Nation," she says in another place. "It is the place where the mightiest influence of the world is exercised for weal or for woe. If we desire our civilization to be preserved in these days of restlessness and discontent we must look to the home. For the past years it has become a habit to place the responsibilities of the care of children more and more upon the schools. We have come to look to the school for the physical well-being of our children as well as the mental and moral development. The burden is too heavy; teachers are becoming discouraged. Then, too, this shifting of responsibility from home to school has had a deleterious effect upon the home. There has come, as it were, an estrangement between parents and children.

Piers Ordered for Straits Bridge

Tiles Will Be 40x150 Feet

Giant Tubes Will Be Up-Ended

Shipbuilding Corporation At Benicia Will Construct Concrete Cylinders.

Monoliths Will Be Sunk to Bedrock Underneath Sandy Floor of the Bay.

VALLEJO, Aug. 20.—The Benicia Shipbuilding Corporation yards near here are being prepared for use for the first time since the armistice was signed. Here there will be onstructed the largest concrete tiles ever made on this coast.

The great tubes are to be 40 feet in diameter, 150 feet long and with 3 fot walls. They will contain thirty tons of reinforcing steel each and will weigh 3700 tons. They will be floated to the site of the great $4,000,000 cantilever bridge which is to span Carquinez strait between Vallejo and Crockett, and sunk in the center of the stream to provide the underwater construction of the great piers. Four of the tiles will be required for the central pier and two for the Solano shore pier.

TUBES WILL BE SUNK IN 85 FEET OF WATER.

Once at the scene of the long job of holding up the bridge, the tiles will be sunk in eighty-five feet of water to the bed of the stream and then workmen will be given the task of removing fifty feet of mud and soft rock and gravel and forcing the cylinders down to the solid sandstone, which is the real foundation of the bridge.

The poorest sandstone found at the bride site, according to Daniel McFarland, resident engineer, shows by test a sustaining strength in excess of 200 tons to the square foot and the heaviest load it will be possible to put on it will be less than sixteen tons to the square foot.

When placed in position to support the steel work on the central pier the 150-foot concrete tiles will be filled with rock and cement. They will be 75 feet from center to center one way and 150 feet from center to center the other, each cylinder supporting a corner of the steel structure that will rise 270 feet from the concrete structure, which will become a solid pillar as big as the 40-foot front building thirteen stories high.

SECOND GEOLOGICAL SURVEY COMPLETED.

Before giving the order to go ahead with the construction of the pier cylinders, C. Derleth Jr., chief engineer on the bridge, had a second and exhaustive survey of the geological formation made by Prof. Andrew G. Lawson of the University of California, who reported no faults of any character near the bridge site.

Work on the pier cylinders will begin this week, according to McFarland.

Show horses this year are coming, not only from the California breeders, but from breeders in other States. Colorado, Utah, Oregon, Washington and other States will be represented with show stables.

NEWS FROM THE HEART of the GOLDEN STATE

AIRMEN UNHURT WHEN PLANE AT SAN JOSE FALLS

Army Fliers Crash As Trees Upset Ship Settling to Landing Field.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 20.—Preparations are going forward today for the removal of the twisted steel and tattered fabric which is all that remains of an army airplane, piloted by Lieut. J. H. Berner and with Private C. M. Hunt as mechanic, which crashed at the local glying field late yesterday. The men themselves were taken to San Francisco yesterday, painfully cut about head and limbs but not seriously injured.

The crash took place as the plane was returning, with six others, from a practice flight to Monterey. The squadron came to San Jose Saturday, took on members of the 440th Aero Squadron, the local air service unit, and flew to Monterey Saturday afternoon. While returning yesterday about 4 o'clock the flyers proceeded perfectly until, in landing, the heavy plane just brushed the tops of a row of 100 fot eucalyptus trees which borders the aviation field at Capitol avenue and Alum Rock road. The contact with the trees was sufficient to throw the plane out of equilibrium and it fell on one wing, burying its engine in the dirt and hurling the flyers clear of the wreckage.

Witnesses who were passing along Alum Rock avenue declare that the escape of the flyers was miraculous. They were rushed to the San Jose hospital, where their injuries were dressed. They were then taken to San Francisco.

Nearly 20,000 people were gathered within a few blocks at the Santa Clara county fair, which closed yesterday with an exhibition of auto races, and at the golden jubilee of the Austrian-American Benevolent society. Excitement was intense as it became known that an airplane crash had taken place and a crowd of immense proportions gathered.

Army trucks will haul the smashed plane to Crissey field, from which it was sent out.

Wright, father of the Wright act and prominent legislator, is one of those to give the plan his approval. He said, "I am in favor of a combined city and county government. I believe everyone concerned would be the gainer."

Mrs. Fred Curtiss, president of the County Federation of Women's Clubs, says, "A city-county government would work out well here. I should like to see it adopted."

L. D. Bohnett, former assemblyman from this district, stated: "I think the proposal should receive consideration and investigation. cost of government would be cut considerably and public employees and public work would also be reduced. A better community spirit throughout the valley would be another probable advantage."

Another woman who is in favor of the city-county plan is Mrs. Theo Heple, president of the League of Women Voters.

Church Service Unites San Jose Young Couple

SAN JOSE, Aug. 20.—One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at St. Joseph's church when Miss Marguerite Joseph and William F. Sullivan were married. Father Grisez, of the church, conducted the ceremony. The large edifice was well filled for the impressive rite but at the wedding breakfast which followed at the home of the bride's parents in West San Carlos street, only about thirty relatives and intimate friends were in attendance.

The church was beautifully decorated with tall ferns, mingled with a profusion of pink and white blossoms. The bride was very lovely in a wedding robe of white georgette, made in simple straight lines with embroidered panels. Lilies of the valley and bride's roses made up her bouquet. She was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss O'Brien attended the bridegroom. The pair have gone to Los Angeles and the southland for their honeymoon. They were will make their home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Clary are in town for a few days after a summer spent at the mountain ranch of Mr. and Mrs. William Stalker.

Mrs. I. T. Kay, of Texas, is visiting Mrs. Stanley Hiller and was the motif of a theater party and luncheon in San Francisco recently. The group witnessed the acting of Miss Ethel Barrymore.

Mrs. E. T. Sterling is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. Martin, in Los Angeles.

More than 650 were present at the whist party given recently by the local parlors of Native Daughters of the Golden West. The event took place in the lanai of the Hotel St. James, which lent itself admirably to the entertainment of even this large a crowd. A number of San Francisco members of the order motored to San Jose to be present. Among them were C. A. Koenig, who heads the committee in charge of Admission Day plans; H. W. Gaetjen, chief of staff and grand marshal of the parade committee; Miss L. Herzog, Grand Trustee Charles Thompson acted as announcer and introduced the out-of-town speakers.

Congratulations are being sent Dr. and Mrs. Ebos Paul Cook, nee Ruth Cornell, on the birth of a baby son at the San Jose hospital last Thursday.

Mrs. A. E. Holmes in Hanchett park, recently bade goodbye to her daughter, Mrs. W. Jackson Hunt, who has taken her departure for her Los Angeles home. While here Mrs. Hunt announced that she and her husband are to sell their home in the south and will move to New York shortly.

Favoritism Charged In Chemical Strike

WATSONVILLE, Aug. 20.—No approaches by either side of the controversy have yet been made looking to a settlement of the strike which on Friday last tied up the plant of the California Spray Chemical Company of this city and affects twenty men.

The walkout followed the refusal of E. E. Luther, general manager, to discharge E. H. Zimmerman, an employee, for whom Luther is said to have shown favoritism to the detriment of the other members of the force. Zimmerman was discharged for alleged incompetency by A. S. Pierce, superintendent of the plant, while Luther was in the East on business, but was immediately reinstated upon the return of the manager.

The men claim that Zimmerman was paid 60 cents an hour for the same work for which all the others received only 47 cents an hour. Luther states that Zimmerman is an old friend and that he is within his rights in keeping him on the payroll at any wage he sees fit to pay.

Pierce, the superintendent, quit when the members of his force laid down their tools.

Sonoma Sheriff Recovering From Parade Injuries

SANTA ROSA, Aug. 20.—Sheriff John M. Boyes is recovering from injuries received Saturday, when he was thrown from his horse while riding in the Egg Day parade at Petaluma. The horse stepped on Boye's leg after bucking him off, but the leg was not broken. The sheriff is expected to be all right again in a few days.

SARATOGA FOLK TO THRESH OUT FESTIVAL PLANS

SARATOGA, Aug. 20.—A hot discussion is expected at the meeting of the Saratoga Improvement club at the Foothill clubhouse tonight, when two subjects of controversy will be brought up. The first is the matter of the policy of the village toward the Saratoga Blossom Festival in the future, and Saratoga is divided into two sternly opposed camps over this matter, particularly since next year's celebration of the fete will be the silver jubilee—the 25th anniversary of its inception by Rev. Edwin Sidney ("Sunshine") Williams.

The first camp, headed by President George Wadey of the Improvement club, is strongly disposed to invite all of Santa Clara valley to participate in a week's blossom festival—as all the valley is decked in bloom—culminating in two great days at Saratoga, the seat of the original blossom festival. This camp insists that the assistance and co-operation of other towns of the valley in this festival will mean much greater advertising value for the county, as well as for Saratoga, and will help to fulfil the avowed ideal of Saratogans—to make the prune blossoms of Saratoga far more famous than the highly-touted cherry blossoms of Japan. This group feels that Saratoga does not number enough workers to put the festival over on the magnificent scale it deserves.

The rival camp is composed of some of the older and more conservative residents, headed by Luther Cunningham. Cunningham's party is firm in the conviction that the festival, matured carefully for a quarter of a century by Saratoga, should under no circumstances be commercialized, but should retain its essential semi-religious character. The group further declares that it belongs exclusively to Saratoga by tradition of 25 years' standing, and that it should not fall into hands of outsiders, who might celebrate by throwing imitation blossoms made of paper through the streets of San Jose.

The other matter is the boosting of the annual dues from $1 and $2 to $5 or $10 per person. This, too, will evoke considerable argument, it being desired to increase the revenues of the club to work more effectively without cutting the membership by prohibitive rates of dues.

Hayward to Demand Repair on Street

HAYWARD, Aug. 20.—Prompted by many complaints of both local residents and outside visitors, automobile owners principally, officials of Hayward are conferring with the Oakland Traction company to have repaired the street pavements bordering the car tracks. From the entrance to the city to the end of the carline on Castro street, it is pointed out, the pavement beside the tracks is in such condition that it is not only uncomfortable to the motorist, but extremely detrimental to the automobile. Chamber of Commerce Sponsors Move to Capitalize Attractions.

SANTA CRUZ, Aug. 20.—An enthusiastic meeting of the civic leaders who are pledged to help put over the Chamber of Commerce campaign for a $10,000 "all the year" advertising and convention fund met Friday night at the chamber headquarters and completed plans for the work which has been set for next week.

The campaign will open with the big banquet-smoker at the Casino Grill tonight at 7 o'clock. For this comunity dinner a program of music and entertainment is being planned, with J. D. Allen of San Francisco as the speaker of the evening. Postmaster Fred R. Howe, a member of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, will preside as toastmaster.

This is the first big community gathering which has been held this season, and from the interest being shown in advance reservations, not less than 150 citizens, and perhaps 200, will be seated at the banquet tables. The ladies have been invited and urged to attend.

A big thermometer, which will register the "temperature of Santa Cruz" in the interest displayed in the campaign, will be set up at the court house on Pacific avenue, and tomorrow, when the first report of the committee workers is made, the mercury will be run up to the point indicated in dollars subscribed.

The team workers will meet at the chamber of commerce rooms early tomorrow morning and secure their prospect cards, and for three busy mornings they will canvass the business and residential sections of the city enlisting the financial aid of loyal Santa Cruzans in this new effort to make their city an "all year round" place, rather than only a "summer resort."

LOCAL KENNEL SHOW ONE OF MOST SUCCESSFUL IN HISTORY

RECORD ENTRY LIST FOR HORSE RACES TO BE HELD AT STOCKTON, STARTING THURSDAY

CHAMPION BRAE BROOK BARONESS SETS RECORD IN COLLIE DIVISION

Police Dogs Give Clever Exhibition of Tracking Criminals At Idora Dog Show; Judging Proves Satisfactory to Spectators and the Fancy.

The second day of the Oakland and Alameda County Kennel Club dog show at Idora Park yesterday, brought forth the most interesting judging. Bostons with a rather small entry proved of a special attraction on account of the outstanding quality of the specimens benched. The biggest entry were the German shepherds of which twenty-four were exhibited. The field trials of this breed which were held in the grounds aroused the admiration of the onlookers. Most astounding was the test when blank cartridges were fired almost in the faces of the dogs. Not one of the contestants flinched, but kept right on after the supposed criminal trying to get hold of the gun.

A wonderful exhibition of the much praised courage of the German shepherd dog, Lewanno Kennels Tankried von der Flurwache, fully trained for police duty in Germany, and handled ably by his owner, Mrs. Maie Wanner won handily. There was a lovely exhibit of Wirehaired Fox terriers, Ackerman's Humblestone Kennels fighting it out once more for supreme honors. Irish terriers also provided good competition. In Collies, Champion Brae Brook Baroness went again best of breed for the seventh time in succession, a record seldom if ever equaled in the world. The results of the closing day follow:

Frankly, it isn't the tobacco alone—other cigarettes might have 8 varieties—it's the triple blending that gives exclusive superiority to Blue Boars—it produces the unique bouquet—a welcome surprise to men who seek a superfine, non-common-place smoke.

To create Blue Boars we depart from ordinary practice—it costs more in time and money, but it's worth much to attain a new cigarette which has met with such a hearty reception from critical smokers the nation over.

Giants Lose Four of Five To Red Birds

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The New York Nationals' loss of four games of the five-game series with Cincinnati at the polo grounds during the week enabled the Reds to gain slightly on the league leaders. Pittsburgh, which had been running nose and nose with the Cincinnati club in second place, slipped back a bit, losing five of nine games, including the defeat by New York today.

Cleveland met reserves in the American League race and fell further behind the New York club, whose long lead increases with each series. Detroit and Washington played the best ball in the league, the Senators moving closer to the final division and threatening to displace the Browns, who are resting in fourth place by a slim margin.

The week's record in each major league of games won and lost, with runs, hits and errors and opponents run, including games of August 18, follows:

Billy Wells, English welterweight, arrived today and by tomorrow is expected to be in action as Dempsey's sparring partner.

Jack Britton, ex-welterweight champion, also is expected to assist the champion in his workouts.

Rain curtailed the usual Sunday crowds that watch the champion but more than 600, among them Tex Rickard, promoter, saw Dempsey work in the ring.

Rich Purses For Trotters At Sacramento

California Harness Horses Vie With Each Other for Money Prizes.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20.—In addition to the four $6000 futurity classics of the race meeting of the California State Fair, September 1-9, some good races are carded.

The meet starts Saturday, September 1, Opennig Day, with the Stanford-Occident stake event for $1500. The 2.07 pace for a $500 purse follows with a field of fourteen fast ones. Peter Kylo, a San Jose horse owner by Angevine, will likely be among the favorites, since her performance (2.07¼) at the San Jose meet last week set a new record for half mile tracks in this state.

Other entries are: Potreress (2.07¼), owned by G. J. Giannini of San Francisco; Easter Bond (2.06), owned by Chas Silva of Sacramento; Mike M. who belongs to R. Kehoe, San Francisco; and Petrea (2.09¼), one of Charley Chick's horses of Los Angeles. Two other horses that are expected to show class in this event are Bobby O. (2.08½), of the S. H. Cowell stable, recently brought from Indiana, and Warren Direct, owned by Henry Rhoner of Eureka.

The 2.9 trot on Monday, also for a $500 purse has likewise brought forth a field of fast ones. Among them are: Surety (2.09¼), Schwartz of Pleasanton; La Panza (2.08¼), a brown gelding owned by S. H. Cowell; Angeleno (2.10), formerly of the Los Angeles stable of Charley Chick and recently bought by Cowell at San Jose; Elleretta D. (2.10), a Stockton horse owned by T. J. Watson; and Princess Tia Juana, another 2.10 horse belonging to E. Lavin of Stockton.

PACER 18 YEARS OLD.

There are other good ones to go in the race. Among them is San Felipe with a record of 2.09¼. This horse is 18 years old and is the greatest old campaigner on the California circuit today. He is still winning races for his owner W. A. Barry of San Francisco.

The Governor's Stake Race, set for Thursday, September 6, has drawn a field of six. It will be a 2:12 trot. Janet McKlyo (2:12¼), a bay gelding belonging to L. H. Todhunter of Sacramento, will contend for first honors against Surety (2:09¼), Angeleno (2:10), Princess Tia Juana (2:10), Raisin Express (2:11¼), and Merry Miles a 2:11¼ horse owned by Leslie C. More of Riverside.

FREE-FOR-ALL PACE.

The Free-for-All Pace for $500 on Thursday, September 6, is practically a duplicate of the 2:07 pace of the first day with the difference in the number of entries only. Peter Klyo, Porteress and Easter Band seem to be the favorites. The result of the first race on opening day will determine more definitely the favorite in this event.

The Free-for-All Trot with a $500 purse on September 8, comprises the same entries as the 2:12 trot on Governor's and Lions' day.

Another feature of the final day will be two running events, one of which will be known as the State Rotary Race for the Perfection Bread Cup for a $200 purse and the Rotary Club purse running race of a mile for $250.

Drysdale Wins in Senior Bike Race

Alvin Drysdale took both Senior races at Shellmound Park yesterday, leading the field in both races by a wide margin, Steve O'Connor former State Champion did not do as well as was expected of him, but he took the second place in both races, with M. O'Donnell third and Joe Batcabe fourth, this quartette is one of the fastest about the Bay and generally figure in most of the races. In the Juvenile race J. d'Aoutenery took first with W. Schuster second, J. O'Donnell third and F. Brawdy fourth. In the heavy wheel race R. Rudd took first, L. Hutson second, C. Fraizer third and J. Dennis fourth.

Sylvanus Murphy Wins Marathon Race

In the Marathon race from Shellmound park to City hall and return on Saturday under the auspices of the Nnia Negro Improvement Association Sylvanus Murphy won the $15 cash prize for finishing first. Cecil Thompson was second and Leonard Edwards was third.

Edward was the first man to deliver the message to Mayor John L. Davie in city hall but he lost the lead on the return run home.

"Bud" Fisher, the cartoonist, will race a stable of horses at Tanforan this winter. His three-year-old "Cartoonist" is out of commission but he has other winners in his string.

'Mac' Smith May Help 'Open' the Oakland Links

MACDONALD SMITH, one of California's favorite champion golfers, is now bruising the ball on bay district links.

At Treon last June, "Mac" Smith finished a stroke behind Havers and Hagen. He also shares with Joe Kirkwood the honor of breaking the Troon course record with a wonderful 69.

Macdonald Smith will probably be one of the invited golfers to play an exhibition round at the opening of the Oakland municipal links next month.

He also announces that he will try to win both the American and the British open championships next year.

No Red Tape Attached to Marathon Race

Entries for The TRIBUNE once around Lake Merritt race on Monday, September 10, received Saturday, include one from a member of the Oakland Fire Department, one from a Technical high school student, one from a member of the Myradales club, one from Company C, 159th Infantry, C. N. G., one from a Marin county runner and one from an unattached athlete.

Another entry was received from a young Marathoner, who is representing St. Anne's Sodality.

When the starter sends off the runners there will be distance men from clubs, schools, societies, military organizations and municipal departments going away from the mark. Boy Scouts, K. of C.'s, American Legion, Y. M. C. A., Y. M. H. A. and many other bodies of young men will have representatives in The TRIBUNE race.

The race is open to all amateurs. No registration card is required. There is no red tape attached to registering for the race. Simply make out an entry blank and mail it to the Marathon editor.

Although it will be a big field it will be a fair field and no favor.

High school boys will be leading the procession as soon as the school year begins.

Many of them have been holding off until after they take up school athletics for the fall term.

Soccer Footballers In Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the California Football Association will be held in the Sharon Building, San Francisco on August 25th.

A new rule about the playing of cup ties will be adopted. Northern and Southern California teams will meet in the finals.

Soccer is no longer an exclusively "Scotch" or even British game. All Nationalities — American, Italian, Filipino, Norwegian, Swedish, Austrian, German, Spanish, Hebrew, Canadian, British and Scotch and Irish play it in California.

NEWBAUERS WIN GAME.

"The J. H. Newbauer & Co. Ball Team of San Francisco traveled to Monterey and defeated the home team, 2 to 1. The run that gave the J. H. N.'s the majority was when McMillan got hold of one of Bartowick's slow ones and hoisted it over the left field wall for a circuit. Schmitt, pitching for the J. H. N.'s, worked well all the way with Bartowick's of the Monterey Team.

"The J. H. N. Team is now ready to take on any of the fast country teams. Communicate with J. H. Newbauer & Co.

Score—	R.	H.	E.

GOLF

By W. D. McNICOLL

Miss Alice Knowles, captain of the Claremont club, who has just returned from a long vacation, immediately sent in hr entry for the Women's City championship, the qualifying of which is being played at Lincoln park today. Mrs. J. C. Cushing is her qualifying partner, and Mrs. Cushing and Miss Knowles will find the new Municipal links more suited to their style of play. Accurate approaching is now rewarded with a better all around scope for play. Mrs. H. A. Prole and Mrs. C. F. Ford are also entered from Claremont and as a team should make a good showing in this important women's event.

At Sequoyah yesterday most of the regular club members were in action and several brilliant scores were recorded. One foursome, which included W. L. Webber, F. L. Dettman, Dr. J. H. Stineman and C. F. Jarvis, starting from the tenth tee, had pars and birdies at every hole, and finished the 18 holes with a combined total of 303 strokes, or an average of 75¾ each. Dettman performed brilliantly on the out holes, which he negotiated in 37 and completed the half in 40 for a total of 77. Dr. C. F. Jarvis and Dr. J. H. Stineman, who failed to do better than 84 and 83 in the Dental tournament last Thursday, had scores of 74 and 72 yesterday. Dr. Jarvis, who was greatly pleased to be back on his best form once more, had to acknowledge defeat, and hand over two balls to Dr. Stineman, who had par or better at every hole except the dog leg 6th, where he finally holed out in 8, the result of an overplayed approach third shot to this trick green. Webber in the meantime was helping himself to a very satisfactory score of 80. In another match Clarence Graham was busily engaged initiating two more of his friends into the game of games. Graham has inveigled thirty or more into the game by this process of presenting them with a set of clubs and taking them out for a round of golf over his pet course. [illegible]

Big Leaguers Lack Color in The Ball Field

Showman Instinct Is Not Noticeable in Actions of Athletes.

B. DAVIS J. WALSH,
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Color, that clearly defined something distinguishing a box office go-getter from the bromide, is hardly a disease common to ball players. Ruth and Cobb, of course, fairly bristle with it, and there are a few additional exceptions, more or less notable, but the opposite side of the page is overrun with the names of men who might have achieved undying fame and did not.

Take Ruth as an example. Sixty per cent of his prominence is due to the fact that he could hit more home runs than any living mortal. The rest is mere personality, showmanship. Frank Baker was the home run king before him; he was colorless, a "dead-pan," and couldn't have attained Ruth's position had he smitten a round hundred home runs each season.

STUDY IN CONTRASTS.

Cobb and Sisler are another study in contracts. The former—fiery, impetuous, belligerent and altogether unmanageable — made himself the greatest individual figure in baseball for more than twelve years because he topped off great natural talent with the spice of a multi-colored personality. Sisler, of almost equal ability, draws less attention because he lacks either the gift or desire for making himself conspicuous. Hornsby and Speaker are ball players of the same type.

There are plenty of good shortstops in the land, but until he began to fade a bit during recent years, Rabbit Maranville was the only one who got much attention. His peculiarities in the field, plus his cocky, self-assured attitude, made the "Rabbit" a drawing card, although it was always a moot point whether he was of greater value to his team than Bancroft. The latter is a pale-blue ball player, and never drew an extra nickel at the box office. The same applies to Scott, Hollocher and other leading shortstops.

The fact of the matter is that 99 members of the profession play baseball to one who throws in a dash of showmanship with his natural ability, either by design or otherwise.

You have to go back over twenty years to get a fair representation of the latter. Waddell and "Bugs" Raymond were great pitchers, but eccentricity added to their appeal. Walter Johnson, Alexander, Matty and others never had the drawing power of the other two.

Incidentally, Hal Chase is generally mentioned as the greatest of first basemen, yet we woner if he can be compared with Sisler in all around value. In electing Chase, however, most people remember only his grace, his speed and his appeal to the man in the stands. He excelled Sisler in defensive ability, but otherwise the comparison is like an oblong viewpoint—all one-sided.

Willie Spencer Is New Bike Champ

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 20.—Willie Spencer of this city won the bicycle championship of America here yesterday, scoring the winning points when he finished second to Alfred Grenda of Tasmania in the five-mile championship, the last of a series of 18 races to decide the title. Orlando Piani of Italy was third and Ray Eaton, East Orange, N. J., finished fourth.

Willie Ritchie Calls Off Eastern Trip

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Willie Ritchie, former lightweight champion of the world, who several weeks ago announced that he would attempt to "come back" in the ring and perhaps to a championship, has temporarily abandoned his invasion of the East.

Ritchie planned to go back this fall and take on some of the boys.

Harold Sampson Is "Feather" Champ

FEATHER RIVER INN, Aug. 20.—Harold Sampson, Lincoln park professional of San Francisco, won the Feather River pro. championship for the second year running with a score of 151-145—296.

Bert Wilde, Burlingame club, 298, and Earl Nagel, California club, 308, were the runners up.

Alameda Elks Trim Park St. Tossers

Stan Davies' timely single in the eighth inning won for the Alameda Elks, independent champions of Northern California, yesterday afternoon in their game with the Park Street Merchants. The final score: 5 to 4.

Wright, a recent acquisition of the Merchants, made a good impression in holding the Elks to five hits. The Elks were minus the services of three players.

Grist from the Sport Mill

BY BOB SHAND

Jimmy O'Hagan, the Albany, N. Y. middleweight is a regular fighter. Jimmy got away to a nice start here when he defeated Ray Pelkey and he was leading Henry Melcar by a mile when the bout was stopped because O'Hagan had received a bad wound on the head. The other night Jimmy was introduced and given a big hand and the fans started a clamor for another look at the eastern boy. Being so popular O'Hagan could probably have at least suggested that he be given something easy in his next appearance and a lot of promoters would have looked at the matter in the same light. O'Hagan against anybody would draw a big house but Simpson has matched Jimmy with Young Fisher, a real contender for the championship and the O'Hagan boy is tickled to death. The promoter may lose one of his best drawing cards should O'Hagan be beaten but Tommy believes in matching the scrappers for the benefit of his customers and not to help the record of any certain fighter. And O'Hagan, who admits that Fisher is one of the toughest boys of his weight in the game seemed quite pleased when informed that he had been paired off with the "Cave-Man."

Trying Hard to Boost Stock of Luis Firpo

Tex Rickard's press agents are flooding country with yarns about Luis Firpo's prowess but the boys behind the typewriters are having a terrible time trying to boost the Argentine boy's stock. That terrible affair with Homer Smith is still sticking in the craws of the fans and they are not going to forget it soon. Here was a man who had been stopped by Dempsey in a punch and who had been licked by other heavies of less renown goes the limit with Firpo after having been knocked down 17 times. The Weinert, Downey and other ban-storming bouts are not being taken seriously by the fans out this way. Some of the boys think Smith forgot his cue either accidentally or on purpose. Incidentaly it is a question if Firpo will be able to get away with the rabbit punch in New York where it is barred. He beat down the suckers in the hick towns with this unfair punch but perhaps the New York State Boxing Commission will enforce the rules at the Polo grounds. One of these days a rabbit punch will break somebody's neck and then there will be no more boxing.

Rabbit and Kidney Punches Are Unfair

The rabbit and kidney punches are barred in most states as they are not only unfair but might have fatal results. The rabbit punch is administered to the back of the neck and is a terrific method of assault for a big fellow like Firpo to use. Against a smaller opponent he could club his punches in the clinches and there are not many necks that could stand the strain. And it is certainly not boxing to club a little play-mate on the back of the neck. The kidney punch is effective in a long battle but most state commissions have barred it. The idea of the punch is to wear out the recipient and it was quite popular when twenty round and finish battles were the order of the day.

Leslie Mann to Play Bush Ball

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 20.—Leslie Mann, former National league baseball player, has joined the Corning (Iowa) semi-professional team, playing in the outfield for the balance of the season, according to advices received by friends at his home here when Mann returned to Lincoln recently, after quitting the Cincinnati club, he announced he was through with professional baseball, and it was his intention to resume his contract with Indiana State University as basketball coach.

Hawaii Wants to Steal 'Bear' Coach

Coach Carl Zamloch of the U. of C. baseball team had hard work getting away from Hawaii with the University ball team recently. Honolulu fans want to kidnap Zamloch and keep him on the islands to coach Hawaii baseball teams.

Honolulu papers praise the playing of the California collegians. They are hailed as a "most gentlemanly lot of players" and otherwise lauded for their playing and their deportment on and off the field.

Stanford Boxers May Let Fists Fly in Sydney

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Aug. 20.—Coach Harry W. Maloney says that the Stanford boxing team may make a trip to Australia to meet the amateurs of Melbourne, Sydney and Adelaide in intercollegiate glove contests.

H. Heyden, secretary of the Australian universities sports, that the colleges "down under" will welcome the invasion.

Stanford boxers will also challenge University of California boxers.

Glove contests in all weights from 122 pounds to 200 will be arranged with the "Bears" of Berkeley if they are willing to engage the ring warriors at Cardinals.

Crack Horses To Compete at Stockton Fair

Trotters, Pacers, Runners and Circus Nags to Do Their Stuff.

STOCKTON, Aug. 20.—Between 400 and 500 harness, running, relay and chariot race, show and cavalry horses will be stabled at the half-million-dollar fair park here during the Fifth Annual San Joaquin County Fair, which opens next Thursday and continues through Wednesday, August 29. This was announced today by W. L. Douglas, general manager of the fair, after entries and arrivals during the last few days had been checked. Horsemen claim more valuable horses will be assembled here for the fair than ever before brought together at one time in California. Several horses already here are valued at from $7500 to $15,000 each.

The horses will participate in a harness and running race meeting, the Second Annual San Joaquin County Night Horse Show, and feature drills.

$12,000 IN PURSES.

For the harness races 127 entries have been received from twenty cities and towns, and it is said the meeting will be the largest held on the California circuit this year. More than $12,000 has been provided for the purses and unprecedented thrills are promised when chariot races are presented with two four-horse teams on the mile track and two on the half-mile oval. Both of the tracks are in excellent condition, horsemen say.

Over $11,000 has been provided for the Night Horse Show, which has attracted entries from all parts of the Pacific coast and as far east as Colorado. Claude L. Pemberton, one of the leading horse authorities in the country, is being brought from Elizabethtown, Ky., to judge the show.

GIVE "MONKEY" DRILL.

During the fair members of Troop E of the Eleventh Cavalry, United States Army, will afford sensational features. The troop includes a bareback or "monkey drill" squad and platoons proficient in Cossack stunts, jumping, silent drills and various contests. Captain Harry E. Pendelton is commander of the troop, and other officers are Captain Gersum Cronander and Lieutenants George Stussman and H. E. Sands. The troop which will appear in various formations consists of 71 men, 81 horses and 13 mules, a commissary wagon and a hospital wagon. The entire unit will be quartered on the fair grounds, spacious dormitories with showers being a feature of the stables.

Additional barns have been erected to house running horses, despite the fact that the local fair park is admitted to have the most modern and spacious stables on the coast. The number of entries is unprecedented for a meeting in California.

Fly Casters End Tourney at Denver

DENVER, Aug. 20.—With six world's records broken and two tied, the national fly and bait casting tournament held under the auspices of the Rocky Mountain Fly-casting club, came to an end.

Mrs. L. G. Hurst of Indianapolis won the ⅝ ounce accuracy bait throw, distance unknown, with a score of 98.3, winning the Brown Palace Hotel trophy. Mrs. W. W. McCandless of Chicago was second with a score of 98.9.

William Stanley of Chicago won the all-around national championship for the third time in the history of the association.

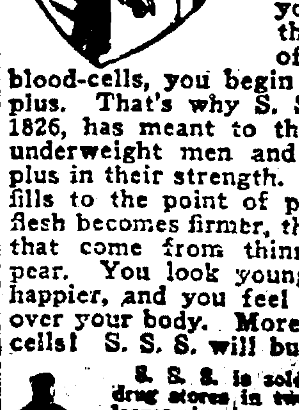

Many on Hand For Trapshoot Tourney

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—About 500 of the country's greatest trapshooters congregated here for the opening events today of the annual Grand American shoot.

The entries have come from all parts of the country, several former champions being here, and the 1923 classic promises to go down as one of the greatest since the cup was first competed for at New York in 1900.

J. S. Frink, of Worthington, Minn., winner of the Grand American Handicap at Atlantic City a year ago, is here to defend his title.

How to build up your Weight

To be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

OAKS PUT BIG DENT IN PENNANT HOPES OF SENATORS

HELEN WILLS CERTAIN TO BECOME CHAMPION OF THE WORLD, DECLARE TENNIS EXPERTS

Oakland Takes Pair of Games From Senators

Locals Put Dent in Pennant Chances of Sacramento Team.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20.—The Oaks put a terrible crimp in the Senators' pennant hopes here yesterday when they took both games of a double-header while the Seals were giving the Seattle Indians a pair of trimmings.

George Murchio, former U. C. heaver, showed a flash of form in the first game and annexed a 6 to 3 victory over Shea at Stockton. In the afternoon big Buz Arlett forgot about his fielding proclivities and again became a pitcher. He made good by winning 10 to 5.

The Stockton fans were out in force to root for Specs Shea in the morning game but they found little to cheer about as the Oaks hopped all over the valley hurler.

The Oaks garnered two tallies in the second inning when Guisto singled and Brown dropped Cather's fly. Rohwer forgot to touch third on a force play and with one out in the same inning tried for a double play when he could have killed off a runner at the pay-off station. The Oaks tallied twice in this frame.

The Oaks scored four more tallies in the sixth on three hits and an error of omission on the part of Mister Shea, who clung to the cushions. Shea was lifter in the sixth and Thompson finished. Murchio allowed seven blows.

Bill Prough started in the afternoon game but was walloped out of the box in exactly one-third of the first inning. Before Bill was yanked in favor of Yellowhorse the Oaks had scored four runs off four hits. The visitors made four more off Yellowhorse and finished up with Mr. Canfield.

Arlett was lifted in the sixth to let Jack Knight hit for him and Ray Kremer pitched the rest of the game. The home guard got five hits off Arlett and only two off Kremer. Arlett hit a home run and Cooper and Cather got three [bl]ops apiece.

Kriegs Defeat Zenith Millers In Final Game

Pitching perfect ball "Babe" Danzig shut out the Zenith Millers 5 to 0 yesterday afternoon and the J. J. Kriegs took the deciding game of the Alameda Inter-City League post-season series and were acclaimed the champions by a crowd of over 2000.

The Millers got only three hits and Danzig, given errorless support, was never in trouble. The Clothiers nicked "Shorty" Coyne in two innings, the third and sixth, gathering enough runs to win.

Martin's error in the third started trouble for the Millers when Schimpff, safe at first on the bobble, went around to second on an overthrow. Andrade popped up to R. Dreisbach, but Lee Ryan rifled one along the third base line for a triple and Schimpff scored. Ryan scored on Chase's single through second.

The sixth inning was doubly disastrous for the challengers. Chase singled through third, but was forced at second by Markovitz. Bennett singled to center, Markovitz going to third. Markovitz was out at the place when R. Ryan hit to R. Dreisbach, Dreisbach to Smith, Danzig doubled into left center, scoring Bennett. DuJardin singled to left, both Ryan and Danzig scoring.

The fielding of Schimpff for the Kriegs featured the game.

The Kriegs were challenged by the Alameda Elks, holders of the independent title of Northern California, following the game. Arrangements have been made for a game between the two clubs next Sunday afternoon at Lincoln park, Alameda.

Betting on boxing bouts is a crime in Pennsylvania. Sporting men who are found guilty of backing their opinions with cash are subject to a fine of $1000. The wagering can't be done within the boundaries of the state without the principals running counter of the law. A two years' prison term can be given to offenders in place of the fine.

"Midget" Smith, celebrated New York bantam weight, will soon be boxing in Southern California. Smith is managed and seconded by his sister. He has boxed Jack Sharkey, Joe Lynch, Pete Herman, Johnny Buff and others.

Helen Wills May Yet Win World Title

Experts Declare Berkeley Girl Will Defeat Suzanne and Win Title.

By MYRON TOWNSEND.

One day Helen Wills will be world's champion! This is the consensus of opinion of the American, British, French and Australian tennis experts who saw the Berkeley, Calif., "wonder girl" defeat Molla Mallory so decisively Saturday.

A. Wallace Meyers of the London Daily Telegraph, who has seen and appraised the value of the tennis champions for the past forty years on both sides of the sea, says that Helen Wills is more than a match for Suzanne Lenglen, the charming Frenchwoman who is now champion of the world.

Kathleen McKane, the English woman champion, was playing her best game both times she was beaten by the golden girl from the golden west.

PLAYED "MAN'S TENNIS."

Helen Wills simply played "man's tennis" because for years she has been trained and coached by "Little Bill" Johnston and all the coast stars. The advantage of playing with men instead of women showed in her "cannon ball" service and in her all-around ability as a court coverer.

Helen's smashing, crashing attack with the tennis racquet in combination with her court craft and strategy and her general agility astonished the men of all nations.

Then her poise and self-control was astonishing, too. She has the ideal temperament for a champion.

Quite the most astonishing thing about her was her remarkable poker faced expression, which never gives an inkling of what is going on in her brain, winning or losing.

WONDER OF EXPERTS.

The mechanical perfection of Helen Wills' game was amazing. Her judgment for a girl of 17 was also the wonder of the experts. She didn't make a single mental mistake.

Experts have long ago found out that championship tennis is at least 40 per cent mental to 60 per cent physical.

Molla Mallory was a foxy old player with a world of experience on two continents. All of her experience counted for naught when she combatted the science, class and general all-around uncanny playing ability of the Berkeley phenom.

No wonder that Dr. C. A. Wills exclaims from his Oakland office: "I am proud of my little girl."

Everybody in the bay district is delighted!

Furthermore, Helen Wills is today the best advertised young woman of her years in the world.

She is literally the talk of two worlds.

Suzanne Lenglen's name is on everybody's lips in England and the continent. Helen Wills is now known to every man, woman and child who follows athletic sports. When she meets Suzanne for the world's championship she will be the universal favorite.

HELEN IS A "GENIUS."

Helen Wills has natural born "genius" combined with the skill, stamina, vigor and spiritual qualities to make her the champion of champions.

Withal she is quiet and modest and bears her honors without any sign of outward elation no matter how inwardly elated her admirers may be.

Her title, in other words, will not turn her head. This makes the biggest hit of all with the American people.

Sportsmen and sportswomen quickly sour on a champion who cannot stand prosperity.

Helen Wills will be the same sweet, simple agreeable girl she was before she won her itle. Her popularity with all classes is unquestioned. She will remain unspoiled by the adulation of the followers of the most strenuous of games.

Her reign as tennis queen should not terminate for at least ten years.

McGraw's Club Looks to Have A Safe Lead

They Have Been Highly Erratic, But So Have the Other Contenders.

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—After another mild scare thrown into them by the unrelenting Cincinnati Reds, the New York Giants are still out in front with the slimmer but still comfortable lead of six games.

Six games would not serve to survive much of a slump if the champions should fall into a bad one, but as long as they continue to rise to the occasion as they have in the past, a half dozen games at this last stage of the race ought to be enough to carry them to another pennant.

So far this season the Giants have been highly erratic and they demonstrated their ability to play all kinds of ball in the last two weeks. When they were put up against a do or die proposition on their western trip they took five straight games from the Reds, who had pennant visions, but when they returned home the urge was not so great and they dropped four out of five to Pat MoFran's club.

For the hardest part of the drive, which is yet to come, the Giants are in improved condition. Jack Scott, Rosy Ryan and Jack Watson are in winning form and it is something unusual for McGraw to have one pitcher who is sure to be there at the end of the game when he is started.

Bancroft is back in the game but the continued disablement of Heinie Groh has forced McGraw to experiment with a new infield combination Frisch at third, Jackson at short and Bancroft at second have worked so well together that the Giant leader may decide upon it as a permanent combination.

The Giants have a great attack and in this respect they have it over the Cincinnati Reds, who are dependent almost entirely upon pinch hitting to get there. The Pittsburgh Pirates have a good offense and pitching is good as McGraw's, but they are not getting there.

In the American League the only thing the Yanks have to do is win about one half of their games and they are managing to do that very well. With the Yanks almost a cinch for the pennant interest among the American Leaguers is centered in the drive of Babe Ruth for the league batting championship.

The Babe has gained the lead in home runs and he is ahead of Harry Heilman by nine points in the race for the batting crown. There seems to be little doubt now that Ruth will be able to win the batting title and when he acquires that he has done everything in baseball but pitch a no-hit game. If he decides to do that he may do it, because the Babe is the most perfect "tryer."

Helen Wills Is On Her Way Home

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Miss Helen Wills, newly crowned national women's lawn tennis champion, started today on her return trip to San Francisco, where next month she will take up her studies as a freshman at the University of California.

Seals Tangle With Oaks in Coming Series

BY winning both games of yesterday's double-header, the Oaks broke even with the Sacramento Senators in the series and at the same time put an awful dent in their pennant chances. While the Senators were getting an even break in the series with the Oaks, the San Francisco Seals, leaders in the race, made a nice gain by winning five out of seven from the Seattle Indians. The Seals now have a lead of six and a half games. It is possible that the Oaks can cut down the lead of the Seals when they meet them in a series on the Oakland diamond starting tomorrow, as the locals have been playing great ball. While the Oaks will be trying to take a fall out of the Seals, the Beavers and Senators will be playing a series at Sacramento.

Fresno Fans in Near-Riot as Tigers Lose

FRESNO, Cal., Aug. 20.—A near riot enlivened the matinee here yesterday, which the Stockton club copped from the Fresno Tigers by a 14 to 8 score.

In the sixth frame Frank Schulte swiped second and the Stockton players protested strenuously. Captain Carl Zamloch was banished from the tussle by Umpire Babe Asher, but before departing he lingered a bit to tell the arbiter what he thought of his decision. Asher and Zamloch stood toe to toe in front of the grandstand when suddenly the umpire swung on the player, claiming Zamloch had used extremely abusive language. Players from both sides horned in on the fray and separated the belligerents after the one punch had been landed.

During the melee which followed when the police interfered Speed Martin was tapped on the head a few times. Martin claims one of the officers struck him.

After a long delay the game was finally resumed, Stockton picking up 10 runs following the wrangle. Pete McHenry and Hasty Bidwell toiled on the hill for Fresno and both were hit hard.

As Hanford nosed out Dinuba yesterday, 5 to 4, they are tied for first place, each having won five and dropped two games. Stockton and Fresno are tied with three won and four games lost.

250 MILLION TO BE SPENT BY N. Y. TELEPHONE CO.

Corporation. Plans to Be Serving 2,000,000 Clients By End of 1929.

BY CONSOLIDATED PRESS SPECIAL TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The New York Telephone Company expects to be serving 2,000,000 telephones in this city by 1930 and is now prepared to spend $50,000,000 a year for the next five years in preparation to do so.

These figures are the result of a careful survey made by engineers and statisticians of the company and plans for the next ten years have been based on them. With about 1,130,000 telephones now in service in the greater city, the indicated growth for the next several years is unprecedented in the telephone business and these figures are indicative of the increase in corresponding degree in other American cities.

The telephone company's $250,000,000 investment, according to Vice President J. S. McCulloh, will spread generally over the five buroughs of the city to care for a demand for service which the company's engineers forecast will reach its peak in Manhattan and the Bronx.

MILLIONS FOR EQUIPMENT.

Much of the sum will be spent for additions to the vast underground system of wires and for intricate central office apparatus which is rarely seen and the existence of which is seldom realized by the public.

The principal surface evidences of activity will be found in the erection of new central office buildings and in additions to existing structures. These activities now embrace eighteen major building projects requiring expenditure of $10,600,000 exclusive of sites.

Sixteen new central offices will be put in service between now and the end of 1924. Ten will employ machine switching methods of operation.

"Central office buildings may be termed the foundation for expansion of the telephone system," Mr. McCulloh said, as they house the switchboard apparatus, the heart of the system. Generally speaking, it takes two years to erect a telephone building, as it is of extreme heavy construction and as near fire and moisture proof as science can make it. It must be absolutely seasoned and perfectly dry before the delicate central office apparatus can be installed.

The current $10,000,000 building program does not include the new 29-story building in downtown New York which, when completed, will be used both for central offices and for administrative purposes. There will be four sub-basements carrying it 52 feet below street level. Excavation and foundation work has already begun but beyond this point further progress will depend on building conditions in this city.

Seven floors will be devoted to central office space. Present plans call for installation of six local switchboard units and one toll switchboard, or one central office to each floor which is an acre in extent. All of these centrals will employ the machine type of switching and each of the six local centrals will serve approximately 20,000 telephones. The ultimate central office in this building alone, therefore, will accommodate 120,000 telephones or more than there are at present in many cities of 500,000 population.

Illustrating the expansion in other sections, the Southern Bell Telephone Company has leased before construction, the 19-story Hurt Building Annex in Atlanta, which will be the largest office building in the Southern States.

Electrical equipment companies are working at capacity in executing telephone equipment orders and present bookings will assure equal activity throughout the year. At the Hawthorne Works of the Western Electric Company, where much of the telephone equipment of the company is made, 33,700 men and women or 5 per cent of the total workers of Chicago are employed. About 700 additional workers have been put on the Hawthorne payroll in the last fortnight.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Los Angeles, Gas and Electric Corporation has been authorized by the Railroad Commission to issue and sell at not less than 95 per cent of their face value, plus accrued interest, $4,000,000 of its series "G" 6 per cent general and refunding mortgage gold bonds due March 1, 1942, for the purpose of financing the cost of additions and improvements to its plants and property. These additions and improvements are estimated to cost $10,462,339, of which the sum of approximately $4,500,000 remains unexpended.

United States Farm Land Company has been authorized to sell to S. W. and M. R. Dodds for the sum of $15,000 a public utility water system supplying residents in the City of Chowchilla, Madera county.

Huntington Beach Telephone Company has been authorized to execute a trust deed and mortgage in the sum of $50,000 and to issue and sell $50,000 of its first mortgage 6 per cent serial bonds and to use the proceeds therefrom in acquiring real estate and other property, and in making additions, extensions and improvements to its properties.

Railways Carry Peak Traffic

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. — Railroads of the United States during the first six months of this year carried a greater amount of freight than during any corresponding period in their history, according to tabulations made by the bureau of railway economics based on reports filed by the carriers.

The traffic amounted to 225,435,608,000 net tons miles, an increase of seven per cent over the corresponding period of 1920, which had marked the previous record. The average movement of freight cars during June was 28.3 miles per day, the highest average for any June since 1917. Every increase of one mile in the average car movement, it was explained, is equivalent to the addition of 100,000 freight cars.

Bank Changes From U. S. to State Charter

American of San Francisco Drops Word "National" From Its Title.

Without interruption in its customary routine and involving merely—as the casual patron would observe it—the dropping of its "middle name," the American National Bank of San Francisco ceased to exist today, and the institution opened for business under California state charter as the American Bank. No formalities marked the change. No change is to be made in the directorate or officer personnel.

Founded in December, 1887, as the American Bank and Trust Company, with offices at the northeast corner of Montgomery and Commercial streets, the bank has been a factor in the financial affairs of San Francisco and the Pacific Coast for thirty-six years. In 1902, following the purchase of control by P. E. Bowles and associates, it became the American National Bank and moved to the Mills building. Later it was located in the Merchants Exchange building, from which it moved into its own ten-story building in 1917. Since then it has extended its frontages on both Montgomery and California streets, and the two thoroughfares, rich in the traditions of the financial achievements of San Francisco, with one or the other of which its several locations have been identified.

The national bank would have celebrated its twenty-first anniversary on September 17. Decision to transfer to state charter was reached after deliberate study, and in the conviction that the bank would enjoy a broader field of usefulness. It will have six principal departments: commercial, savings, trust, securities (the American Securities Company), safe deposit, and foreign exchange.

Directors of the bank are: P. E. Bowles, chairman; C. H. Crocker, George U. Hind, O. D. Jacoby, John A. McGregor, Louis F. Monteagle, George N. O'Brien, F. A. Somers and William Thomas. In addition to Chairman Bowles, the officers are George N. O'Brien, president; Russell Lowry, Irving H. Sanborn, H. R. Gaither, C. H. Crocker, vice-presidents; George M. Bowles, cashier; M. C. Gibson, assistant vice-president; L. E. Alt, H. A. Estabrook, J. M. Knudsen, assistant cashiers; A. E. Simons, manager foreign exchange department.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Higher quotations at Liverpool and a generally firm stock market gave strength to the wheat market here at the outset today. Commission houses soon became active and general buying carried values up grade. This advance, however, was met with increased offerings especially from houses with eastern connections, and a reaction took place. After opening at unchanged figures to ¼c higher, with December $1.03¾ to $1.03⅞, and May 1.09⅛ to $1.09¼, the market took an upward swing and then underwent a slight general setback.

Corn and oats followed the action of wheat. After starting unchanged to 1⅜c up, with December 63⅜ to 63⅞c, the corn market scored slight general gains.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛@¼c advance, with December 39⅛ to 39¼c, and maintained the advance despite the reaction of other grains.

Provisions were firm in line with hogs values.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

By H. S. SCOTT.

Profit taking by professional traders and some short selling based on further cuts in sugar and crude oil prices and the collapse of German marks to 12 cents a million, brought about a moderate reaction in today's stock market after nearly one week of rising prices. Offerings generally were well absorbed. Sales approximated 600,000 shares.

Heavy Mexican crude oil was quoted at 45 cents a barrel. It recently sold at 90 cents.

Opening buying embraced a wide variety of shares, initial gains of 1 to 2½ points being recorded by Northern Pacific, New Orleans, Texas & Mexico, Pacific Gas & Electric and Stewart Warner Speedometer. Baldwin and Studebaker were slightly heavy.

A brisk demand for the tobacco shares featured the early dealings, Tobacco Products rising 2 points, and American Sumatra, Lorillard and Reynolds one each. Automotive shares also were in good demand, Maxwell A rising 1½. Other strong spots were Producers & Refiners, Pullman, Texas & Pacific, and People's Gas, all up to a point or more. Allied Chemical dropped 1½. Foreign exchanges opened irregular, French francs rallying six points to 5.58 cents, while demand sterling dropped ¼ of a cent to $4.55⅝.

Professional traders who had bought stocks for the turn began to take their profits this morning, apparently on the theory that the technical reaction was due after five days of advancing prices. The selling was most effective in the so-called pivotal stocks, heaviness of these shares resulting in sympathetic declines throughout the list. Losses of one to two points were established by Baldwin and American Locomotives, United Steel, Studebaker, American Woolen, Corn Products and a number of others. Call money opened at 4¾ per cent.

Selling orders predominated in the afternoon with the general weakness of the customary leaders suggesting a renewal of bear pressure.

Dupont was hammered down 3¾ and General Asphalt and Allied Chemical lost 2¼ each.

The closing was steady. Prices stiffened in the late dealings despite the marking up of the call money rate to 5½ per cent.

STEADYING OF STEEL MARKET HAS GOOD EFFECT ON STOCKS.

Industrially, considerable emphasis was given the past week to a steadying in the pig iron market. For the first time in weeks the Iron Age index of pig iron prices failed to show a recession. The steadying followed more active buying of this commodity, and a number of trade observers pointed out that the circumstances are similar to those which usually attend a turn in this market. As furnishing additional basis for this point of view, a firming up in the prices of coal, coke and scrap iron was noted.

Steel production meanwhile shows signs of a slight further slackening, but is still within 15 or 20 per cent of the peak reached in the spring. Much attention is being given to the effects of the introduction of the eight-hour day. The change in working hours is still too partial to admit of precise judgments, but the general effect will be to adjust output to the lessened demand to support the existing level of prices. Little actual change is shown in the forward buying situation but the feeling is, as in other industries, more hopeful.

A further recovery in wheat prices was an additional source of gratification. The leading futures at Chicago advanced to prices about 6 cents above their recent lows. These gains were principally in response to further reports of crop damage in Canada, which followed the Canadian government's estimate of a crop of $82,000,000 bushels as compared with recent talk of 500,000,000 bushels. The United States Department of Agriculture also revealed the fact that statisics on farmers' intentions to plant, indicate a reduction of acreage this year to a figure 15½ per cent below that of last year.

Firmness in cotton prices was due principally to continuation of the severe hot and dry weather in Texas and Oklahoma. This was generally admitted to be having a distinctly unfavorable effect on the crop, and a yield in excess of the government's last estimate of 11,516,000 bales was considered improbable. Coincident with firmness in the raw material, a better tone was reported in the cotton cloth market.

Denver Gas to Be Main Unit In New Merger

Henry Doherty to Weld Boulder Utility With Its Near Big Neighbor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Formation of the Public Service company of Colorado to take over the Denver Gas and Electric Light company, the Western Light and Power company of Boulder, and the new power plant development at Valmont, Colo., was announced today by Henry L. Doherty, president of the Cities Service company, of which the new concern will be a subsidiary.

Plans provide for forcing the completion of a steam turbine electric generating plant at Valmont, just outside of Bounder, which has been designed for an ultimate capacity of 200,000 k. w.

The company also will sell electricity at wholesale to Greeley, Longmont, Englewood and other cities.

The new subsidiary will have an issued capitalization of $3,500,000 7 per cent preferred and $15,000,000 common stock.

Irish Treasury Reported to Be Full of Gold

Bankers Say Rumors of Appeal for Loan to U. S. Are Not Reliable.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Discussing a report that the Irish Free State soon would be in the market for a large-sized bond flotation, Wall Street bankers declared the story premature and without foundation.

The Free State, according to well informed financiers, is likely to float £2,000,000 merely as a means of established credit. Irish banks are filled with some £250,000,000 of gold. Ireland's exports constantly being on the increase, and efforts to induce the Free State to contemplate an external bond issue have been rebuffed as a result.

Ireland made money throughout the war and despite the De Valera trouble.

Business is reported the best in the island's history. This is particularly true of dairy products, including manufacture of cheese and butter, while the linen industry is becoming as never before.

50 Million in Telephone Bonds Will Be Issued

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 20.—Authority has been given by the Arkansas Railroad Commission to the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for the issuance of $50,000,000 in first mortgage and refunding bonds at 5 per cent. It is understood the issue will be sectional and that approval of the issue also has been asked of state commissions in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20.—The $50,000,000 of bonds are to be used in plant extensions in Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma and Southern Illinois, and in retiring $17,974,000 of notes held by the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, it was explained at general offices of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company here.

The company has 745,240 telephones in use in its territory, it was added, and additions are being made at the rate of 60,000 a year.

Airplane Express Service Planned

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 20.—Freight and express service by airplane from Detroit to Cleveland will be started soon by a new company organized here, using planes of German types with pontoon attachments. There already is an airplane passenger service between the two cities. The new service will specialize in rush transportation of securities and currency between banks.

FISH.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 20.—The salmon packing season in Alaska is ended and the full rigged ships carrying the pack now are on their way to this port. The largest single shipment of 62,000 cases is on the Benjamin F. Packard, of the Northwest Fisheries Company.

TRADE GENERALLY EXCELLENT WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS

Retail Business 20 Per Cent Ahead of Last Year; Record Traffic

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—(Consolidated Press Association).—At their high points at the close of the past week, stock exchange prices have got back the greater part of their loss since the first of July. This, in itself, is proof of the disappearance of the intense pessimism which governed Wall Street transactions a month ago. It also bears out the contention that the propaganda, either directly or indirectly designed to undermine confidence in the business outlook, to induce cancellation of orders along with curtailment of new buying, and thereby, bring about a serious recession, was unwarranted and must fail because it ought to fail.

OVER-PRODUCTION PAINFUL.

It is difficult to discuss the trade movement as if it were subject to certain broad and general influences. Rather the matter has to be taken up in detail. There are well defined instances of over-production, like oil, leather and automobile tires, which have had their sequel in costly price cutting. In oil, particularly, only the very strongest companies can operate at a profit on present quotations. In leather the situation has been brought forth in the deficits reported by the leading companies for the second quarter of the year. There are other cases, like the boot and shoe trade and some branches of the metal trade, notably zinc, where the margin of profit has been eaten up by the increase in wages. Finally, there is the much agitated position in wheat and in certain kinds of livestock, where miscalculation of foreign requirements has led to a domestic over-supply, with consequent unprofitable levels.

BUSINESS EXCELLENT.

If these various industries were fairly well representative of business as a whole, the situation would be distinctly unfavorable. But the cases considered are plainly exceptions. They denote no widespread tendency such as was present three years ago—no wild speculation and price inflation, no overstocking with high priced raw materials and high cost finished goods; no excessive advances of credit. The clearest picture of the business position in general is furnished by the record of the retail trade, which is running 20 per cent or more ahead of a year ago, and by the railway tonnage statistics which are showing the largest freight haul in the history of the country.

OIL THE WEAK SPOT.

A summary of the facts as they stand at present would seem to be that no general causes of depression are at work, that for special reasons conditions in a dozen or perhaps a score of lines are not good, but that in the main body of industry matters are moving along satisfactorily. In several directions where there was doubt up to a fortnight ago there is now much more assurance. The sharp upward turn in the cotton staple awoke the goods trade to comparative activity again. The increased expense which the steel companies will be under as they shift from the twelve to the eight-hour day, will probably lead to higheer prices for steel. At least they insure against any reduction, and the strengthening of the price outlook has had its effect in making steel consumers more anxious about their future supplies.

Even with oil, which has been the particular weak spot, the drastic price cuts of the week are bound to speed up the necessity of readjustment. As the Standard Oil president pointed out, the present situation has resulted from a comparatively small amount of selling companies which were unable to hold on; therefore, it should not last after this forced liquidation is over.

Belgian to Borrow 400 Million Francs

PARIS, Aug. 18.—Finance Minister de Lasteyrie and M. le Preux, vice-governor of the Bank of Belgium, at a conference today reached an agreement concerning the loan of 400,000,000 French francs which the Belgian government intends floating in the Paris market soon.

It is understood the loan will bear 6 per cent interest and will mature in ten years. The proceeds will be used exclusively to finance Belgian commercial operations in France.

Bankers Optimistic Over Cotton

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 20.—Atlanta bankers today attributed the general business optimism throughout the southeast to confidence in the impregnability of the cotton market. They believe the 1923 crop will not supply the demand with the carry-over the smallest in history. Southern merchants returning from northern markets report they have bought more heavily than last year in anticipation of a large fall business.

Business men throughout the state express anxiety over the effect of the state laws just passed placing a tax of 3 cents a gallon on gasoline and one of 10 per cent on cigars and cigarette sales.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 20.—Eighty-three Illinois mines in the coal field nearest St. Louis were active 27.08 per cent of the possible working time last month against 20.69 per cent in June and yielded 20,000 tons more coal than in that month.

Berkeley, Farquhar, Join Housman Staff

A. A. Houseman & Company announce that they have retained R. F. Berkeley to install and supervise a statistical department for them and have also engaged S. T. Farquhar as manager. Berkeley is known in the financial community through his connection with the Stock and Bond Exchange and his financial writings and Farquhar gives up his old financial advertising agency to take up this new work.

Retail Trade On Sound Is Brisk

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 20.—Warmer weather here has apparently furnished efficient support to retail business in this section. Sales of men's clothing for the first two weeks of August show decided gains over last year. Merchants expected a drop this month but labor is fully employed at high wages and sales to tourists have been exceptionally large. Plasterers have notified contractors they will demand an increase of $2, to 12 a day within the next three months. California contractors are scouring this region for plasterers, offering $15 a day. Many large construction projects now are under way here and plasterers are in keen demand.

STEEL.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Few pig iron sales have been made here for a week, although the market is active elsewhere. Prices are generally unchanged at $27 to $27.50 a ton, Chicago.

THE FARM BOYS AND GIRLS.

Certain city persons who feel it a duty to be condescending or pitying to their country neighbors have expressed their sorrow and alarm at the condition of the children on the farms. What is to be expected of the young of rural America, they intimate, when the distances from the front steps to the movie palaces are so great? What can be done to keep the boy and the girl contented to stay so many miles away from the garage and the gas stations?

An answer can be found in Circular 235 of the Department of Agriculture, which reports on the work of the boys' and girls' clubs in the rural districts of the Northern and Western states. There are more than 200,000 young Americans in these organizations.

For twenty years there have been rural clubs for boys and girls and for ten years they have had the guidance of the Department of Agriculture, universities, and other agencies. More than a million dollars has been spent annually for their assistance in the states of the districts mentioned, the Government paying one-tenth and the states the nine-tenths. And the investment has paid large returns.

At first these clubs were formed to stimulate production. Contests were held in hog-raising, corn-growing, and in the economical production of eggs, grain, meat, and milk. Professor O. J. Kern of the University of California, then a county superintendent of schools in Illinois, was one of the pioneers in the movement, in which he is now a recognized authority.

The boys and girls proved they could astonish their parents and the world with agricultural achievement. One reads of a girl who canned 289 quarts of vegetables and small fruits which she had raised herself, of a boy who made $854 in a single season raising truck, and of corn club members who grew 365,204 bushels of choice corn on 7270 acres. A book is filled with accounts of what they have done. Of late years the program has been broadened to include domestic science and community welfare and the Department indicates some of the results. One need not be told that the old-fashioned farmer knew little of food values when he remembers the salt pork and potato diet which used to be the custom. The boys and girls made use of the surplus in fruits and vegetables, changed the motonous winter fare of the isolated farm, made rugs and took up interior decorating. They became positive factors in rural development.

There is a club of farmer girls in the State of Washington which has for its object the giving of a two weeks' vacation to mothers while the girls run the household. There are boys' clubs which have as members young lads who are called upon to speak before the adult farmers of their counties.

There is nothing the matter with Young America on the farm.

BERKELEY'S CHAMPION.

When Helen Wills, school girl of Berkeley, returns from the East she will bring back with her the American woman's championship in tennis. And it will be two years before she is twenty years old!

Helen Wills went East last year and electrified the tennis world with her playing. She had no hopes for the companionship then and her advisers told her that she would be lucky if she won a high ranking. It was experience in championship matches which she needed and some day, perhaps in eight or ten years, she could hope to win the title. Despite her youth, the large crowds, and the strain of playing against the country's best, Miss Wills was a contender for the highest honors and came back rated as one of the greatest women players in America.

This year those who knew how faithfully the Berkeley girl has been practicing and who had discerned the improvement in her game, made some quiet predictions. Not so, the greatest of the experts who said that second place was the best she could hope to attain. And second place would be high honor for a player who is in her teens. Miss Wills met Molla Mallory several weeks ago and was defeated. Then she entered the matches against the British players and with every game improved her playing. Saturday when she stood looking over the net at the redoubtable Mallory the crowds were with the Berkeley girl, but the odds, it was agreed, were against her.

The story of that game has been told around the world. How Helen Wills surprised her warmest admirers by displaying a quality of tennis which swept the champion off of her feet, how a new title-holder was born, and how the thousands cheered is the story of a big day in the life of a modest girl. The gracious way the defeated champion acknowledged the victory will not be forgotten. There was applause for both when they left the field, the arm of Molla over the shoulders of Helen Wills.

Miss Wills will bring back new fame to California and to Berkeley and the Berkeley Tennis Club. She is a champion of whom the whole country is proud.

THE STONE WOMAN.

Science has maintained with some persistence that it is impossible for the human remains to petrify. When an Oakland expedition reported the discovery near the Grand Canyon of the bodies of giants, turned to stone, science tilted its doubting nose. Then Agua Caliente came to the rescue of the discoverers.

There was "discovered" there what was said to be the petrified torso of a woman. If the story holds out a number of scientific conclusions will have to be altered and there will be a large number of persons who will consider the California find of the utmost importance.

Several things are to be remembered before the old theories are discarded for the new. One is that Agua Caliente is noted for its hot springs and its attractive resort features. Not long ago another resort reported a dinosaur and it is a poor bathing beach which does not own a pet sea-serpent.

It so happens that one Pat McDonald is the superintendent of the Rudolph Spreckels ranch near Agua Caliente. Pat has discovered a stone body not far from the celebrated torso, only his is that of a child. Formerly it was one of a number of statues on the Spreckels ranch. In composition it resembles to a remarkable degree the discovery at the nearby Agua Caliente.

There are other things to be considered. The disputed torso is set in the ground and protected with a wire netting. Ostensibly this is to prevent anyone from removing it or chipping off a souvenir, but one effect is to make a close inspection impossible. This body, if it turned to stone, turned into a different kind of stone than is native to the region, and, moreover, turned to the same kind of stone as that from which the Spreckels statues were formed.

Perhaps it is not the courteous thing to be hesitant about accepting the stone lady on the face of her present recommendations, but it would not seem that, as yet, she has succeeded in altering any scientific theories.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

The West knows of the establishment of a great steel plant in Contra Costa county and of the plans for its expansion. Contra Costa county itself, on a slope near Nortonville, has contributed valuable material for the development of the industry.

A short time ago officials of the steel company started an investigation to see if the hills near the plant contained sand which could be used in moulding. Without any reason to hope for success, beyond that which came from confidence in a district which is already contributing cement, gravel and coal to the state, the survey was made.

Near Nortonville a large deposit was found and so encouraging are the reports as to its qualities that an aerial carrier has been constructed. Several truckloads of the material have been dumped at the mills and the sand is now in use. If it meets all requirements Contra Costa county will have been given another industry and the steel company will have discovered one more reason to justify its location in this section.

The new German chancellor is an orator. Now that Germany has tried every other system it might be as well that she submit herself to a few months of government by oratory. Other countries have tried it and prospered.

One need not turn back the pages of history so very far to read sarcastic comments from France and England concerning the American habit of writing notes.

DONS AND STOCKTON.

The people of Central California can't say San Joaquin didn't tell them about its county fair. When the young men with "Unafon" car, which makes sweet music wherever it goes, get through their tour of the two great valleys, it may be expected that there will be an exodus from the towns visited to Stockton of "all the little boys and girls" equal to that which followed the "Pied Piper." The grown-ups will have to follow to get their kiddies back. Any way, there's something friendly and sociable about "telling the world" in person.

Sacramento started it by sending out her "Whiskerinos" and pretty girls to bid all the cities and towns come to the "Days of '49" celebration. Oakland is sending a delegation of the "Dons of Peralta" to visit our fair. That of itself will incline San Joaquin to return the visit when the Dons have their party. Orange shows, olive shows, peach fiestas, egg days, and the like all send out alluring personal invitations from town to town. It all makes for a friendly, united California, each section interested in what the people in other sections are doing.—Stockton Record.

Why Not?

We ought to have amusements on the street car—
The E car and the Six to the College Park—
In all these miles of traffic
Few faces seem seraphic,
And one can't read with comfort in the dark.
Let the swarthy Folding Bedouins
Toss each other in the aisles;
Let the Dawns Delirious Dancers
Try to vamp us with their smiles.
Hire an iron-throated basso,
Have some clowns indulge in larks
While Will Rogers whirls his lasso
With tartaric side remarks.
And at all the corner stations,
As an offset to the fun,
Have Shakespearian recitations
Voiced by actors who can run!
To add to the excitement, give a chance to lay a bet;
Have the Kansas King of knocked outs meet the Patagonian Pet!
The citizens of Oakland want everything in haste,
From jazz to jurisprudence, they have no time to waste.
The train ride is so deadly, no drinks and no cigars.
Please walk up, Mr. Alberger,
With your Street Car Circuit Stars!

HOW TO TORTURE YOUR WIFE. —By Webster

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Chicago News: "In a letter to the Daily News the other day a correspondent protested against the persistent 'hammering of the motorists,' and demanded fair play for them. If, asked the correspondent, a person walks in front of a car carefully operated and is hit is the driver of the car to blame? Certainly not. 'Jay walking' has not a little to answer for, and the question of preventing it should receive more attention than it has received. In some cities the traffic policemen regulates the pedestrians as well as the motorists and street cars."

Kansas City Star: "In the light of the discussion of the case of President Harding by physicians it seems altogether probable that untimely death is to be included in the long list of deaths that might have been prevented by proper care. Not only proper care at the last. Then it was too late. But by proper care in the last few years of his life, and particularly in the last few weeks. If he had not been allowed to undergo the strain of the grueling trip to Alaska, with its interminable entertaining and speechmaking, his life might have been saved."

New Orleans Item: "Oscar Belall, 22 years, will be deported from Ellis Island, failing on his sixteenth attempt to enter the United States as a stowaway. We do not know anything else about Oscar, nor why he cannot enter the country. But we should think from his story that he has the makings of a good citizen. Perseverance and determination are assets in any walk of life. And anyone who so desires to become an American that he makes sixteen attempts to enter the country would probably obey as many of the laws as most of us do."

Seattle Times: "Since redoubtable Firpo battered his way into prominence and one Enrique Tirabocchi swam the English Channel in record-breaking time, the world has become more than ordinarily interested in Argentina. It was not by chance that the South American republic produced such capable athletes, and there is a strong possibility that others like them may make a bid for public attention. Word now comes that Argentina is going in for outdoor sports with whole-hearted enthusiasm."

New York World: "From the sad rites of his succession to office the President turns to a political situation which is certain to be crowded with difficulty and party peril. Calvin Coolidge is a cautious man and a man of few words, but he is likely to find few imitators in public life during the ten months which will precede the nominating convention. For the death of Warren G. Harding has undoubtedly produced the most numerous crop of Presidential candidates ever known."

Chicago Tribune: "Arthur Evans' illuminating reports of conditions and sentiment among the farmers of ten middle western agricultural states, reveals among other things a growing belief among farmers that some of the legislation passed with great promise in their behalf by the farm bloc is working to their disadvantage. Perhaps the most generally denounced of this legislation is the tariff on cattle, which many farmers now recognize as directly limiting their opportunities and prosperity."

That the name of the late President Harding is to be honored and memorialized in more ways than one is evident in Woodland as elsewhere in the nation. It's a great old month, is August, to begin putting stitches into Christmas work if that is one of your diversions. I wouldn't wonder if it made one a bit more cool and peppy to be thinking about Christmas and frost and—But that suggests putting coal in the cellar and who wants to think about coal in August? Still, it gives one a comfortable feeling of fore-handedness to be tucking away some finished bit of Christmas work before most folk begin to think of starting any. — Clare Davis in Stockton Record.

OUR COUNTRY.

Our country has it for you, whatever joy you love—
The great wide sea before you, the great blue sky above,
And would you choose the mountains, the rugged peaks and tall,
Where race the streaming fountains, our country has them all.
Our country holds your pleasure, whate'er that pleasure be,
Within her bounteous measure the world's rich charms you'll see;
Southward the palms are swaying, inland her white lakes shine;
What ground choose you for playing? 'Tis here, by God's design.
Would you hear forests singing the anthems of the trees,
Or see the wild ducks winging across the lake in V's?
Or would the partridge whirring, or would a moose's call
Set drowsy pulses stirring? Our country has them all.
With all she gives of splendor, 'tis little that she asks;
From tyranny defend her, be faithful to your tasks.
Whatever joy you cherish, 'tis here where men are free—
Then let not freedom perish, but live for liberty.

A BRAND NEW ANIMAL.

Not all the animals in the world have found their way into the zoological parks, or even into the museums as stuffed specimens, according to Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood, chief curator of the Field Museum of Natural History of Chicago. To prove his contention Dr. Osgood brings eight live animals from South America, representing varieties which no museum has hitherto obtained on the hoof. Seven of them are known to science sufficiently well to have names which may be found in the latest texts. The other has never been seen before by a scientist with a knowledge of Latin, and therefore will be nameless until somebody thinks of a fitting cognomen.

It is strange, since the other seven curiosities have Spanish handles, that this particular beast, in many ways resembling a kangaroo, has never been called anything at all by the inhabitants of the continent to which it is native. Perhaps they never got near enough to it to discover that it was different from all the other quadrupeds with which the Island of Chiloe is so well supplied. Perhaps the hundred thousand natives of the island, whose "chief occupation," in the words of Dr. Osgood, is "getting drunk," have seen so many queer quadrupeds on mornings after that they now forbear mentioning them to the neighbors lest they give themselves away.—New York World.

WHY WORRY?

RECENT STUDIES OF EPILEPSY

Epileptic fits have been accurately described since the earliest times, and yet have remained one of the greatest mysteries of medicine. To explain them, all sorts of causes have been suggested, many of them extremely fanciful. The remedies that have been advocated are equally numerous and often even more fanciful. None of them does more than treat the symptom, the liability to fits; they do not strike at the underlying cause. Epileptic fits may be caused by many different disease conditions, most of them characterized by the circulation of some poison in the blood. These poisons may be produced from materials taken into the body through the stomach, alcohol for instance, or generated inside the body, either by the growth of disease germs, such as influenza or typhoid fever, or by faulty action of various organs, such as the kidneys, liver or ductless glands. In all these conditions, if the poisoning can be stopped the fit will usually cease. What is usually meant by epilepsy, however, is the continual recurrence of fits without any discoverable cause. This form is therefore often called essential, or idiopathic, epilepsy.

For a long time it has been generally accepted that the fits were due to irritation; that is, overaction of the highest part of the brain, the cortex. Recent stdules tend to prove that this is not correct, but that the fits is due to overaction of lower levels of the brain. This overaction very possibly takes place, in part, because the brain cortex for some reason becomes inactive, for example is poisbned, and ceases to control the midbrain. It has been suggested that normal persons when suddenly startled show, in the "jump" they give, an action of the temporarily uncontrolled midbrain that has certain close resemblances to epileptic fits. Such loss of control is, of course, momentary and quite normal, but it offers a possible explanation for the relation that undoubtedly exists between the occurrence of fits in epileptic persons and excitement, fright or other emotion.

But probably the most promising experiments are those of the Italian, Gerolamo Cuneo. He has been working on this problem since 1915, and believes that he has discovered a poison in the blood of persons after a fit, and that this poison is due to a fault in the digestion of certain foods. He is now endeavoring to find a means of neutralizing the poison. His work needs to be confirmed, but there are at least hopes of securing some real achievement. — Extract from Hygeia, August 1923, A Journal of Individual and Community Health, published by the American Medical Association.

THINKING BY ELECTRICITY.

Just as power machinery has been developed to perform the physical labor of man so electricity is gradually being trained to do his thinking for him. Railroads have long been experimentinf with electrical train control devices in the hope of minimizing and ultimately eliminating that fallible human element to which so many accidents trace back. After a year o ftrial on a 50-mile stretch of track Pennsylvania officials announce "extremely encouraging results" with a new device in the breadth at the entrence of its operations. Rails are charged with electricity and the apparatus on the engine picks up the current not by direct contact which is difficult if not impossible to maintain, but by induction. The result aimed at is to force the engineer to do what his block signals tell him to do, and to do it for him if he refuses or fails. When there are two clear blocks ahead the engineer is permitted by a light signal in the cab o attain the maximum speed allowed under clear track conditions. If he exceeds it the brakes are automatically set to reduce speed. As he approaches a block closed to him by the presence of another train or an open switch he gets the "slow" or "stop" signal as the case may be, and if he fails to heed it the air brakes are automatically set to enforce the order.—Waterbury American.

CARRIED 50,000 SLAVES.

Privateers and slave traders from Liverpool helped make that one of the important ports of England in the eighteenth century, and in one year it was boasted that vessels from Liverpool carried to the new world fifty thousand slaves from Africa, and when that trade was gone Liverpool went after the cotton trade and has been a big factor in that trade to the present day.—Ohio State Journal.

DONS TO PUT 1500 NAMES UPON ROLL

One-Day Campaign Called To Fill Membership Lists For Wednesday Expected in Advance of Fiesta

Fifteen hundred business men of Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley, Piedmont, Emeryville, San Leandro and Albany are expected to be signed on the membership roll of the Dons of Peralta at the one-day campaign to be held Wednesday.

The Dons are sponsors for the festival week to be held in the Eastbay cities September 24 to 29. The honorary leader of the Dons is Dr. George C. Pardee, an Oaklander by birth, a former mayor of Oakland and a former governor of California. For the benefit of the residents of the Eastbay cities, Dr. Pardee has outlined the following statement of the purposes of the organization.

"Our metropolitan community sprang from the pastoral domain of the Peraltas, Castros, Pachecos, Higueras, Amadors and Moragas, scions of Spanish nobility who carried the standard of civilization to these shores. Each of these families occupied a position similar to those of the barons of old. They had princely estates. Their cattle roved over the green hills, and the fertile valleys were tilled by their Indian servants.

SETTING IS HISTORIC.

"Now in the larger sense, that is the setting for the great celebration by the Dons of Peralta in the Eastbay during the last week in September. The romance of the past comes back to us of today as we prepare to celebrate La Fiesta de la Laguna. There is something appealing in the prospect. No heart is so hardened to the workaday world of today that it cannot rejoice in the memories of the long ago. The Dons of Peralta are reviving that friendly life of the days before the Gringo came.

"But nearer yet is found a motif for La Fiesta de la Laguna. I recall the days when Oakland was only a dot on the landscape. I remember when Lake Merritt was a splendid place to hunt wild ducks and when deer and smaller game abounded in the hills stretching back from the lake to the crest of the Contra Costa hills.

"Today, Oakland and her sister cities stand on the threshold of destiny, facing a western world where are located two-thirds of the population of the globe. Oakland is the fastest growing industrial city in America; Berkeley the seat of learning of a Western World, the largest university on all the globe; Alameda, the home port of the largest fleet of fishing vessels in the world; San Leandro, famous for its fruits; Piedmont, city of magnificent homes; Emeryville, home of industries, with the lowest tax rate of any city in the West; Albany, bordering on Berkeley and touching the Contra Costa line, growing fast. And all these cities of promise forming the land of Obapesla.

"Obapesla the domain of the Dons of Peralta, Obapesla, land of unity. That's it—unit. That is one of the cardinal principles laid down by the Dons of Peralta. The Eastbay men working together as a unit, working in harmony, pulling together for a common purpose, to develop the resources and industry of this splendid land.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP ASSURED.

"Men who work together and play together are good citizens. The Dons of Peralta work together, play together, stand for good citizenship.

"And these good citizens are preparing a celebration in honor of an achievement—the growth and prosperity of Seven sister cities, living in harmony as friendly, cheerful neighbors.

"It is indeed a privilege to be a Don of Peralta. It is a stamp of approval that your work as a citizen is well done. It is a tribute to your home city.

"Don of Peralta! Of course every man aspires to be a Don. The larger the organization, the greater will be the achievements of Obapesla, land of promise, land of destiny.

"What surprises me most is that there are not 5000 members of the organization today instead of 2400.

"The very purpose of the Dons to sponsor a festival that will bring thousands of outsiders to Oakland and the Eastbay ought to be of itself sufficient reason why every merchant, every professional man, every business man, every manufacturer should be a member of the Dons."

Archbishop Hanna Dedicates Parochial School

Scenes snapped during the dedication of the new parochial school of St. Francis De Sales yesterday afternoon. Upper: Procession entering the church where Archbishop Hanna preached the dedication sermon. Lower: ARCHBISHOP HANNA blessing the new school building. At his right is FR. WM. BROCKHAGE.

PARISH SCHOOL HERE DEDICATED BY ARCHBISHOP

In the presence of several thousand parishioners and friends of the church, Archbishop Hanna dedicated the new parochial school of St. Francis de Sales, at Twenty-first and Grove streets, yesterday afternoon, at 4 o'clock. Assisting the Archbishop were Fathers Morrison, Bray and Brockhange, Mrs. Connolly, Mgr. Cantwell and Fathers Millett, Praught and Sullivan. At the close of the regillous ceremonies, a brief civic program was carried out, including a flag-raising and speeches by W. J. Hynes and Postmaster J. J. Rosborough.

The procession leading tno the church just before the service opened included the various societies of the parish, a group of the Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus and the League of the Cross Cadets.

ARCHBISHOP IS SPEAKER.

Special music preceded the brief sermon by Archbishop Hanna, which was followed by the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. In his sermon, Archbishop Hanna spoke on "Education and Better Citizenship." He emphasized the necessity of being educated in order to be a good citizen in the truest sense of the world and to be useful to his country, and referred with pride to the educational work which he said is a part of the Catholic church. Education, he said, is provided for by the schools we build and through the self-sacrificing efforts of the sisters, who give up the pleasures of the world in order that they may serve God.

After the blessing of the new building, in which Archbishop Hanna was accompanied by Fathers William Brockhage and Thomas Millet, a flag-raising was held. The League of the Cross Cadets formed a guard of honor to the Archbishop, and the Fourth Degree, K. of C., accompanied the clergy to the front of the school building on Grove street. The band of the Fourth Degree, K. of C., played the "Star Spangled Banner" during the flag-raising.

William J. Haynes, who has been one of the chief workers among the laymen in bringing the new school plans to consummation, made an address in the courtyard, in which he paid tribute to Father F. X. Morrison and to the sisters who will have charge of the education of the 650 pupils of the new school. Hynes declared that Dr. Morrison's work in carrying to completion the new school is the three months between the closing of the spring semester and the opening of the fall semester was nothing short of remarkable.

EDUCATION BLOCKS CRIME.

J. J. Rosborough, a Fourth Degree Knight of Columbus, spoke briefly on the problem of youth in relation to crime. He pointed out that education of a spiritual as well as mental and physical nature is essential if the growth of juvenile crime is to be effectually combatted.

At the close of the program, there was an inspection of the new building. The new school contains sixteen classrooms, assembly rooms and safeteria. The old school building recently demolished was erected by Rev. Father Thomas McSweeney thirty years ago.

The school term opened at the new school building this morning.

LITTLEFIELD DENIES BALL STATEMENTS

School Contractor Calls On District Attorney; Charges Will Be Investigated by Grand Jury Next Friday

Emphatic denial that there have been any substitutions of materials on any contracts he held on Oakland schools, was made today by Roscoe Littlefield, contractor involved in charges made by Wilfred A. Ball, former chief of building construction for the Oakland board of education, which charges are to be investigated by the Armstrong grand jury next Friday.

Littlefield, together with members of the Building Program Committee of the board, called on District Attorney Ezra Decoto today and the fact of the contractor's denial of the Ball charges was made public following this meeting. The members of the committee include Fred Hunter, John J. Allen, Jr., and George Hatch.

Following the meeting District Attorney Decoto announced that the members had presented him with a communication in which it was stated:

"We would like to be of any assistance possible and will cooperate with you in the use of any records which we may have."

At its meeting last Friday the Armstrong grand jury decided to investigate the charges and this will be taken up at a meeting next Friday.

Street Mashers in S. F. Gathered Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Twenty-five San Francisco youths ranging from 17 to 22 years are in the City Prison today as the result of a roundup in the Mission district last night.

The wholesale arrests were due to an order issued by Chief Of Police O'Brien to all members of the department to pick up hoodlums and mashers in all parts of the city. For several weeks, complaints have been registered daily with the police by girls and young women who said they had been insulted at dance halls and on street corners. Last night the Mision police rounded up 25 young men who were loitering on the street and who are said to have made insulting remarks to women passing them.

Musical Program Arranged by Girls

A musical program and a military drill will be offered by the Empire Girls of California under the auspices of the Parks Chapel, A. M. E. Church, in Arcadia hall, Fourteenth and Franklin streets, next Monday evening. Headlights of the program will be several numbers by the smallest drummer and xylophone player in the world, and selections by the Brown family. The program will be directed by Mrs. J. Estella Brown. Arrangements for the program are under the direction of Rev. C. N. Elliott, pastor of the church.

SCHOOLS OF CITY OPEN WITH GAIN

Enrollment Is Estimated At 39,000 to 42,000; Two New Highs. Two Junior Highs Used for First Time

School opened today.

With a total school enrollment of from 39,000 to 42,000, the 51 old educational institutions of Oakland, with a few brand new ones in addition, threw open their doors today and welcomed the incoming hosts. The day was mostly used in distributing the students in their proper places. It is not thought that the actual routine work can start before Wednesday.

Two new high schools came into existence today as part of the city's educational plant. They are University high, at Fifty-eighth and Grove, and the J. W. McClymonds high school.

Mosswood junior high school also came into existence, occupying the site of the old University high school at Forty-eighth and Webster streets.

Alexander Hamilton junior high school is operating in its new building, with all the grades of a junior high school. W. H. Mc-Masters, formerly of Oregon, is the new principal.

Many estimates of the school enrollment have been made, and it is expected that nearly 2500 more pupils than last year will be found in place by the end of the week.

Pound Full of Dogs in Spite Of Brisk Sales

THERE are no more reservations at the city pound. The pound is full to overwhelming. Oakland dogs are advised to avoid being picked up by the dog-catcher until the poundman finds what to do with the enormous stock on hand.

Sales during the week have been brisk, but the shelves are overstocked with poodles, kyoodles and plain mutts, and there is a large consignment still unbought, leading Poundmaster John Peters to believe that he must "give 'em the gas," which is different from the usual usage of the term, but even more fatal.

But the kind-hearted poundmaster says he does not like to kill them, so he has kept the animals overtime, hoping against hope that the whole assortment might be sold. This has not happened.

"We'll give 'em a few days more," says Peters.

The pound accommodated nearly 100 four-footed guests during the week and can hardly hold another one. But meantime, the dog-catcher has had a run of "luck" and has picked 'em up by the dozen.

MONTEREY BAY CITIES NEW MECCA

Chamber of Commerce Party Will Carry Best Wishes of Oakland to Neighbors On 2-Day Trip Next Week

Chambers of Commerce of all the Eastbay cities have been invited by the Oakland Chamber to participate in the Get Acquainted trip to the Monterey Bay cities.

The Dons of Peralta also will be represented on the special train, thus making this latest trip a movement of the entire community.

San Leandro is the first of the several cities to arrange for a sizable delegation. Its chamber has passed a resolution commending the Oakland chamber and pointing out that this and other similar trips aid in the development of a better co-operation and a better acquaintance among the cities of Northern and Central California.

The party leaves by special train Wednesday, August 29, and returns the evening of the following day. During the two-day period the party will visit Salinas, Santa Cruz, Watsonville, Hollister and Gilroy. It also will make a short stop at Capitola.

OAKLAND BOAT IS TO LOAD GRAIN ON ORIENT CHARTER

Bearport, Which Has Been Laid Up in Estuary, Has Been Allocated.

SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—E. P. Erkenbrack, district manager here for the Shipping Board, yesterday announced the allocation of the big freighter Bearport, now idle at Oakland, to the Admiral Oriental line to load a full cargo of freight for the Orient. The vessel is expected to proceed here for loading about September 1. The steamship West Jester, which recently arrived here in the service of the North Atlantic and Western Steamship Company, has been allocated to the Columbia Pacific Shipping Company, for operation between Portland and the Orient.

The Norwegian steamship Remus, in the west coast of South America service of the Latin-American line, will shift to Seattle tomorrow from Tacoma to load flour, canned salmon, lumber and general cargo for Central American ports and Ecuador, Peru and Chile.

The steamship Memnon, which operates to South America west coast ports in the service of the General Steamship Company, will commence loading here tomorrow for her return voyage to Chile and Peru. The vessel has been undergoing repairs here.

The steamship Lurline of the Matson-Navigation Company, will have a full passenger list when she sails from Seattle for Honolulu August 28. She will also have a full cargo of freight, including lumber, flour and general merchandise. Owing to the heavy travel expected during the next few months an additional steamer may be placed on the Seattle-Honolulu run by the Matson company.

Danish Steamer to Load Wheat Cargo

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 19.—The Danish steamer Parana has been taken by the Yamashita Company for September October loading for the Orient and she will take 10,000 tons of wheat according to W. D. Wells of the Portland office. The company has listed the Japanese steamer Belfast Maru also but she loads wheat and lumber on Puget Sound. The Japanese steamer Saikoho Maru, due tomorrow, loads about 2,000,000 feet of lumber here in the service of the Jamashita Line.

The Japanese steamer Kobe Maru due Tuesday will load 12,000 tons of wheat for the Far East according to Chalmers and Cartwright, who dispatch the Mitsui carriers. Of the cargo 7,000 tons is on account of Mitsui and Company and the remainder for Suzuki and Company.

The Dutch steamer Tenbergen of 2,702 tons was reported taken by S. L. Jones and Company yesterday, for a coral cargo to the Orient, $6.25 being named as the rate. It was understood that the fixture was for October loading. The Japanese steamers India Maru and Spain Maru which have been on the en route list at the Merchants Exchange for Portland loading were said to have been shifted for Puget Sound cargoes.

The Norwegian steamer Remus of the Latin-America line is due Wednesday to load for West Coast points.

"DIP" GETS $1,500 WINNING.

NEW YORK.—Three hours after he landed from a liner on which he won $1,500 playing cards, Bernard Feltus was robbed by a pickpocket of his entire "roll."

TWO FREIGHTERS REACH HERE FROM ORIENTAL PORTS

Struthers and Barry Ships Arrive With General Cargoes.

With the arrival today of the United States Shipping Board steamer West Ivan and the freighter Jacox, Struthers & Barry welcomed two of the line's ships in from the East Indies section of the globe. Both brought in large general cargoes. The West Ivan specialized in sugar and copra. The sugar will be unloaded at the Crockett refinery, while the copra will be put ashore at the Howard Terminal for direct shipment east to the Proctor & Gamble reduction plant in Iowa.

The West Ivan is one of a large fleet of government vessels under allocation to Struthers & Barry, which plies between Oakland, San Francisco and Oriental ports. Regular visits are made at Yokohama, Shanghai, Hongkong, Saigon and as far west as Singapore. Returns are made by way of Borneo and Philippine Island ports for sugar and copra. Widely mixed general cargoes go out from here, canned goods from Central California predominating. The fleet includes also the Mursa, next vessel out, which sails Thursday, West Cactus, West Sequana and West Prospect.

News was received from Seattle today that the Oakland freighter Bearport, also belonging to the U. S. shipping board, had been allocated to the Admiral Oriental line to load grain from the Columbia river to the Orient. This steamer, with the Dewey, was also operated until recently by Struthers & Barry in the Far East service. Both have been lying idle in the Oakland estuary for more than a month awaiting allocation.

Argentine Has Forty Per Cent Customs Growth

Argentine customhouse receipts for the month of July were 40 per cent higher than for the same month of last year, Trade Commissioner G. S. Brady cables to the Department of Commerce. Compilation of most important imports from manifests of vessels arriving during July shows that the United States supplied 73,000 rolls of wire during the month, as compared with 1700 from Germany and 1300 from all other countries. Packages of cotton yarn were received from the United States numbered 1428, 573 from Italy, 241 from Great Britain and 601 from all other countries.

Approximately 40,000 barrels of cement were shipped from Belgian and Dutch ports, 20,000 from Norwegian and Swedish ports, 18,000 from the United States, and 9000 from other countries. On imports of sugar the United States divided honors with Brazil, the respective amounts being 11,000 sacks and 3000 sacks. Six thousand cases of sewing machine were received from the United States, 639 from Germany and 22 cases from other. The United States supplied 562 cases of typewriters, Germany 109 cases and other 47 cases.

According to latest estimates the sugar crop this year will be in excess of 250,000 tons, which, together with the increased acreage planted to cotton and the estimated 15 per cent increase in the wheat and linseed acreage, cannot fail to have a favorable effect on the general trade situation.

Railway receipts continue high, and banks report deposits during the month showed an increase. Stock exchange transactions were lower during July than during the preceding month. The activity noted in previous months in the erection of building throughout the cities of Argentina continues at about the same rate as reported in earlier cables.

BERLIN TITLES ARE SOCIAL ASSET

MUNICH, Aug. 20.—(By Associated Press). — American tourists get many a smile out of the strings of titles shouted through German lobbies and cafes by pages in search of guests who are wanted on the telephone.

"Frau Doctor Professor Director Schmidt, bitte," isn't an unusual mouthful for the pages. The "bitte" is "please," and all the rest of the titles are the property of Mrs. Schmidt's husband, and must be used by servants who want to keep in favor with the lady.

Democracy has not discouraged the German love for titles. And women love them just as much as men, and insist upon having everything attached to their names which belongs to their husband.

"Frau Advokat Braun" is not a woman lawyer. She is Mrs. Lawyer Brown, the wife of Lawyer Brown. And "Frau Doktor Weiss" is the wife of Doctor White. If she happens to be a doctor herself she will probably be called "Frau Doktor Marie Weiss," or Mrs. Doctor Marie White.

Doctors are so numerous in Germany that telephone directories have the appearance of faculty lists for a medical school in America. But the doctors are not all medical. Everyone who has been awarded a doctorate of philosophy, or a doctorate of science, or a doctorate of law or theology, uses the "doctor." It is part of his or her stock in trade. It is a trade mark of gentility, a social asset which goes on hotel registers and calling cards and establishes the position of the family in any neighborhood.

Rainbow Colored Fishes of Hawaii Ship Passengers

Matsonia Bringing the First Shipment for Aquarium Has Special Tanks.

When the Matson Navigation company's liner Matsonia arrives in San Francisco bay on a week from Tuesday, she will bring the first shipment of Hawaiian fish for the magnificent new Steinhart aquarium in Golden Gate park. The fish now being caught and made ready at Honolulu by F. A. Potter, director of the Honolulu aquarium, comprise the hardiest varieties of the most brilliantly colored and queerly shaped of the Hawaiian species. There are the brown and yellow striped Moorish idol fish, trigger fish, buttrfly fish of rainbow hues, pink and white fish, canary yellow fish, specimens of deep blue, rich reds and other color combinations which put to shame the loudest "King Tut" dress materials designed this year.

Twelve tanks of island fish are coming up in the initial shipment, and during October the shipments for the small aquarium in the Matson Navigation company's new building, at Market and Main sereets will arrive on other Matson steamers.

SPECIAL APPARATUS.

The Matsonia was specially equipped a few weeks ago while in San Francisco to carry the gayly colored fish. The tanks are on deck and apparatus has been installed so the water may be kept at the same temperature as in the islands, every day of the voyage. It will be necessary to warm the water when the ship is three or four days out from Honolulu, owing to the colder climate near the coast.

The water in the tanks must be kept in circulation, and water will be pumped constantly from the sea, except when the steamer enters San Francisco bay where the water is too brackish for the fish. The shipment will be fed shrimp and other foods two or three times during the six days aboard ship. The Matson building aquarium will have four tanks, lined with coral rock, and possessing a large storage tank and therwater the same as in the fish' native islands. The Steinhart aquarium exhibit will consist of 300 Hawaiian fish. New ones will be shipped to San Francisco to replace those that die.

French Foreign Trade Holds Even

French exports for the first six months of 1923 amounted to 11,400,000 metric tons, valued at 14,160,000,000 francs based on the values for 1922, says Commercial Attache C. L. Jones in a cable to the Department of Commerce. Food stuffs were valued at 1,487,000,000 francs; raw materials, 400,000,000; manufactured goods, 7,470,000,00; packages by parcels post, 790,000,000. These figures, as compared with those of 1922, show an increase on the total, both in metric tons and valuation. Exports for the first six months of 1922 amounted to 9,770,000 metric tons, valued at 9,369,000,000 francs; food stuffs for these six months amounted to 846,635,000; raw materials amounted to 1,967,000,000; manufactured goods, 5,913,400,000; parcels post packages, 641,800,000.

Imports for the first six months of 1923 amounted to 25,690,000 metric tons, of which coal constituted 14,400,000 metric tons. The total value of imports was 14,690,000,000 francs based on the importers declarations. Foodstuffs were valued at 3,870,000,000 francs. Imports for the first six months of 1922 amounted to 24,445,000 metric tons, valued at 10,672,000,000 francs. Foodstuffs for these months of 1922 were valued at 2,624,000,000 francs; raw materials 6,092,000,000 francs; and manufactured objects 1,956,000,000 francs.

Kosmos Line Ship Makes First Call

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Aug. 19.—The Kosmos line motorship Isis which arrived today was the first German motorship to reach this port since before the world war. She brought a consignment of general freight from Antwerp.

The Dutch steamer Moerdyk arrived from Rotterdam today with a large cargo.

Twelve tankers with a combined cargo of 790,575 barrels of oil, sailed out of the harbor today.

ENGLAND BARS DIVORCE DETAILS

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(By Associated Press).—British newspapers soon will cease to carry detailed reports of evidence given in divorce cases.

The House of Commons committee, which has been considering this question some time, recommends that newspapers be permitted to publish only the statement of the petitioner, the defence, the judge's summing up, any points of law which may arise during trial and the jury's findings and judgment. The names of witnesses may be given, but not their evidence.

The committee also recommends that the scope of a bill carrying these suggestions should be widened to exclude the prohibition of reports of matter that is indecent in all proceedings before a judicial bench.

CONDITIONS IN CZECHO-SLOVAKIA SHOW BRIGHTER

Exports of Iron and Steel and Foreign Orders Are Gaining Steadily.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Favorable factors in Czecho-Slovakia during July reported to the Department of Commerce, were the increase of exports of iron and steel, the receipt of considerable foreign orders for industrial equipment, and the satisfactory settlement of the trade difficulties with France and Belgium. The note circulation on July 23 was 3,589,000,000 crowns below the legal limit, amounting to 8,810,000,000 crowns. Reserves securing this amount consist of 1,054,000,000 crowns metallic reserve and 2,645,000,000 crowns in foreign credits held by the government, in all 5,397,000,000 crowns. Bank clearings from June 24 to July 23 were 5,819,000,000 crowns.

INDUSTRIAL SITUATION.

The government cost of living wholesale index covering foodstuffs and industrial products dropped to 967 from 1000 in May, but the retail index compared with 928 in May advanced to 953 for the first group of commodities, and (23 prime necessities) from 1,015 to 1,017 for the second (textiles, shoes, and men's hats). Unemployment is decreasing only slowly, the official figures for June 1 being 268,000, while for July 31, the estimated number is 250,000. An attempted reduction of wages of 30 per cent in the coal mines in the Ostrava district has stirred up violent opposition on the part of the miners, and a serious strike is threatened.

POLISH EXCHANGE.

As previously announced by the Department of Commerce, the Polish government in the latter part of June, introduced very rigid restrictions on exchange transactions, designed to check the fall in the exchange value of the Polish mark. A commission was established with power to control rigidly the use of foreign exchange to pay for imports and even to pay for goods already received in Poland. These restrictions caused no little embarrassment to American and other exporters.

According to a cablegram from Acting Trade Commissioner Baldwin, Warsaw, these restrictions were greatly modified in the direction of liberality by a decree of July 28. Banks are now authorized to effect foreign payments against authentic import transactions. Control of the central government is retained only in special cases. Payments for future imports are still limited, according to the character of the imports, with a view to restricting the importation of unnecessary products. The decree continues the requirement that foreign exchange derived from export of Polish products must be surrendered to the State Bank, but with modifications in the case of special industries. This new decree marks a great improvement in the situation and should make it easier for American concerns to do business with Poland.

TEN ARE BURNED AS FLAMES RAZE BIG RESORT HOTEL

Twenty-five Are Injured by Jumping From Windows When Trapped.

TORONTO, Aug. 20. — Ten persons are missing and at least 25 were injured in a fire which wiped out the Wawa hotel at Lake of Bays, Muskoka, yesterday.

The reported death of Miss K. Roger of Cleveland, Ohio, could not be confirmed, hotel officials said last night.

Miss Bowker, of Toronto, 15-year-old daughter of the general manager, central division Canadian National Railways, was among those burned to death.

The loss of all records made checking up dead and missing uncertain.

Police have reported finding the charred bodies of six persons. Other bodies may be in the ruins.

The flames were discovered in an elevator shaft and were attributed to friction. Guests were notified instantly and three hundred escaped in an orderly fashion, not waiting to collect valuables.

When the servants were notified of the fire they tried to escape by a lower door, which, it is believed, they found locked. Upon going back upstairs they were trapped, it is thought, and jumped from windows.

The fire burned itself out. This morning nothing was left of the once beautiful hotel but the gaunt, toppling remnants of the huge fireplaces for which the place was noted.

All of the missing were employees of the hotel except Miss Bowker.

Mrs. James Alexander of Thorold, Ont., jumped from a second-story veranda and died from her injuries.

Seven other employees are believed by the proprietors to have died in the flames.

WAGNER TO PLAY CONCERT SERIES

BAYREUTH, Bavaria, July 20.—(By Associated Press). — Grand father, father and son will be represented on the programs which Siegfried Wagner will direct in his American tour beginning in New York next January. His concerts will consist of compositions by Liszt, who was Siegfried Wagner's maternal grandfather, of the works of his father, Richard Wagner, and of his own contributions to the wealth of classic music which has been created by the group of which he is the last living representative.

Siegfried Wagner has signed agreements to conduct concerts in New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, San Francisco and several other cities for the purpose of raising funds for the restoration of the Bayreuth Wagnerian Festivals next year. He will conduct the local symphony orchestra in the cities named, and, in addition, engagements will be made for him to direct these orchestras in neighboring cities.

Wagner also will conduct the first performance of his own opera, "Die Baerenhaeuter," to be given at the Manhattan Opera house in New York January 29 by the Wagnerian Opera company, which visited America last season. This company will return to America from Germany in the early autumn and open its season in Washington October 15.

Herman Weil, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera; Maria Ivegun, of the Chicago and Munich Operas; Rudolph Ritter, of the Stuttgart Opera, and a number of other new singers have been engaged by Melvin Dalberg to supplement the company which appeared last season in America. Josef Stransky will serve as guest conductor for a number of the company's performances. Pittsburgh, Chicago, Cincinnati, Baltimore, Cleveland, Washington, Milwaukee and Buffalo will be visited.

RADIO WINS DEATH RACE.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—A radio message received in a village having no telephone or telegraph enabled Mrs. Florence Patterson to reach here before her father died.

MONMOUTHSHIRE, Eng., Aug. 18.—The Baptist Association has appealed to the police to stop street betting, and also to stop betting in churches on the numbers of hymns.

U.S. Needs Sense Of Obligation, Says Coolidge

LONGVIEW, Wash., Aug. 20.—(By The Associated Press.)—A hitherto unpublished letter written by President Coolidge was brought to light by Peter Clarke MacFarlane, author, at the convention of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association here. The letter written to MacFarlane on September 16, 1921, came in answer to his query to the then Vice-President, "what is America's need?"

MacFarlane read the letter at the conclusion of an address. President Coolidge's letter follows:

"What Americans need is a continuing sense of obligation; a realization that a thing will not be right simply because it pays, but that a thing will pay simply because it is right. Justice will not be mocked. Contracts must be met when it costs something to obey them. The supreme choice of the nation must not be the material forces which are temporal, but more forces which are eternal."

Tire Saves Life In Water; Costs Life Upon Land

SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—(By United Press Leased Wire.)—Harold Wyatt, aged 19, and Harold Taylor, aged 15, pumped up the inner tube from an auto tire, put it around them and went swimming. It worked fine.

Coming home along the railroad track they remained within the ring.

An electric train came up behind them and whistled.

Each started in a different direction. The tube stretched and then its elasticity pulled them back onto the tracks.

Wyatt was run over and instantly killed. Taylor is in a hospital with a broken leg and a broken arm.

INDUSTRIAL BOARD OPPOSED TO BONUS AS UNFAIR BURDEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(By Associated Press). — Opposition to the proposed bonus for World War veterans, on the grounds that it is economically unsound and would impose an unfair burden on taxpayers, is expressed in a report just made public by the National Industrial Conference Board.

The report is the outcome of researches conducted in anticipation of reintroduction of the bonus bills in Congress in December.

"The principle of granting special compensation to special social groups for losses or sacrifices incurred in a common emergency," says the report, "is unwise and anti-social, and fraught with dangerous possibilities."

The findings were reached after consideration of data obtained from the American Legion, the United States Treasury, and other authoritative sources.

FINANCIAL BURDEN.

"The proposal," the report continues, "cannot be justified on grounds of equity and fairness to the veterans or to the general population, while it would lay upon the country a financial burden which would adversely affect the interests of the nation as well as of the veterans, and might tend to hamper the nation's necessary efforts in behalf of incapacitated veterans at present and the needy and aged veterans of the future."

The rport estimates the probable cost of the bonus at $4,000,000,000, and adds that the proposal "wholly ignores" the $350,000,000 already received by some veterans in state bonuses.

CONSEQUENCE OF WAR.

"Direct comparison between service men and civilians is false," it asserts, "because the factors on which such a comparison must be made cannot be evaluated in economic terms. They were an inevitable consequence of war and were the result of the chance of selection for service. Those at home were equally subject to this chance by virtue of the selective draft."

Reviewing the argument that the bonus is an economic need, the investigators hold that on this grounds other classes whose earnings did not equal war-time living costs would be equally justified in asking adjusted compensation.

PLAYGROUNDS FOR BETTER CHILDREN

SIOUX CITY, Aug. 20.—(By Associated Press). — Juvenile delinquency in Sioux City is showing a decided decrease over the records of previous years, C. H. Orpin, juvenile officer, declares. He estimated that misdemeanors among children have been cut down 20 per cent in the last two years.

Municipal bathing places, parks and playground activities are responsible for the better moral fibre of children, Mr. Opin says.

"Taxpayers seldom realize the good investment that is being made by providing facilities for recreational activities which furnish an outlet for the energy of the young,' said Orpin. "Good, healthy exercise and amusement leave the minds of the children clear, and there is very little energy left for crime, plots, or inclinations toward misdemeanors."

Modern English Prison Adopts Many Reforms

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(By Associated Press).—Prison reform is popular just now in England, where it used to be regarded as purely an American notion. The latest thing in prison reform has been adopted in Wakefield Gaol, with excellent results, it is said. The prison, which was closed in 1916, has been reopened as a training center for adult prisoners.

The underlying idea of the training is to teach the prisoners to "play the game." Scarcely a warder is to be seen. To maintain order the prefect system of the English public schools has been adopted. Solitary confinement has been abolished, and there is no restraint on conversation at meal times.

The men all have allotments. They work in pairs—a man who knows something of gardening being coupled with a man who knows nothing about it. Every prisoner who does well is allowed to grow a border of flowers to decorate his "room" as the cells are called. There is plenty of work done—nine hours manual, two hours mental. Work is arranged under expert instructors in the weaving shed, foundry, builders yard and other workshops. One hour a week is devoted to discussion of happenings in the outside world on all

RUHR INVASION HELPED ENGLAND, POINCARE AVERS

French Premier Declares British Exports and Imports Have Increased.

CHARLEVILLE, France, Aug. 20 (By the Associated Press).—Premier Poincare, speaking yesterday within the shadow of the building which was the seat of the German military headquarters during the war, delivered an address virtually devoted to refuting the arguments advanced in the August 11 note of Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary. The premier made little reference to the declarations of Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the new German chancellor, in the Reichstag last week.

M. Poincare quoted the Versailles treaty as authority for the legality of the occupation of the Ruhr, cited figures to show that unemployment in England had decreased, and that railroad traffic and shipping had increased since the French entered Essen, and reiterated the French government's earnest desire to come to an agreement with the British government on questions in dispute.

After recalling the hardships suffered by the population of Charleville during German occupation, M. Poincare related the various phases of the military operations for the relief of the city, and eulogized the part played in them by the American soldiers under General Pershing and the close cooperation of all the allies toward winning the war.

VALUE OF ALLIANCES.

"The allies having survived the war," said Poincare, "the allies might have hoped then that the monument which they had erected and cemented with their blood, would remain standing upright, indestructible and unshakeable. But nations, like men, understand better the necessity to unite during great cataclysms and great crisises than during the discomforts of convalescence. Friendships which remain sacred through hurricanes become neglected when the tempest has abated.

"Public opinion must react against these attempts of egotism, because they are blind and disastrous to the real and permanent interests of the nations concerned. If union has saved the existence not only of France, but of all the allies in general, and each of them in particular, it is not possible that once our lives are safe it should become useless.

"As far as we are concerned, we should consider as criminal any act or word which would tend to disturb or weaken such union. We have made and will continue to make all efforts to draw our policy closer to that of our allies and will always be prepared to seek with them such alleviations as concerted action may bring to their sufferings.

ENGLISH UNEMPLOYMENT.

"England, for instance, complains of long and painful unemployment. Why should not we have a most earnest desire to see England resume its entire economic activity? However, we merely allow ourselves to think that its government is mistaken in imagining that this unemployment is either a direct or indirect effect of the Ruhr occupation. While I was in London last year at this time our soldiers were not in the Ruhr. Yet there were in England and Scotland many more unemployed than today.

"Just refer to the last commercial statistics published by the British government. They show that since our entry into the Ruhr, between January and the end of July, exports and imports from and to Great Britain have increased in tonnage value over those of the corresponding months of 1922. Moreover, the transit service on imported goods for re-exportation, which is particularly interesting to British shipping, has increased 13.5 per cent, as compared with 1922.

"I do not conclude that England has profited by the Ruhr occupation, as I should have wished and as she might have profited if she had been by our side in the Ruhr, but I have the right to say that if there are too many unemployed in England, General de Goutte has nothing to do with it."

LEGALITY UNQUESTIONED.

Concerning the reference in Lord Curzon's note to the occupation of the Ruhr being illegal, Poincare said this really was an unhappy argument, especially when the text of the Treaty of Versailles and the declarations made collectively by the allies, including Great Britain, prior to January 11, 1923, recognized the right of the allies to occupy additional territory as security for payment of reparations.

"Instead of engaging in controversy of this kind," the premier continued, "we should better be advised to seek practical solutions of problems toward which no one may show lack of interest. Europe will recover its economic and moral equilibrium only on such a day as peace shall be established upon a solid basis and where justice, which placed its weapons in our arms during the war, will have its reign assured. Peace entails the loyal execution of treaties signed and justice exacts complete reparation for damages caused. France demands nothing else and England cannot desire anything different. Surely, a way of agreeing together must be found."

Poincare ridiculed charges of imperialism against France. According to innumerable statements which he personally had been receiving from friendly countries, especially from Great Britain, he said, foreign public opinion now understood better the sincerity of France's intention.

BABIES DO WELL IN SOME CITIES

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(By Associated Press).—Some urban communities, in spite of the crowds, are healthier places for babies than many rural districts, according to the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago. A study of the mortality charts for cities and for the country shows that babies born in crowded cities have a better start in life than children in the country, the society reports. "This of course is not because of the crowds, but in spite of them," says the report, "and is a condition made possible through the education of the mothers even before the babies are born.

"It is owing to the fact that we find organizations such as the Infant Welfare Society fighting a battle against ignorance, which has cost a heavy toll in infant lives in cities such as Chicago, and that we find health departments carrying on the work of instruction, that in spite of tenements, crowds and hot waves, through education, lives are being saved each year.

APPENDICITIS AND KIDNEY TROUBLE RELIEVED

San Francisco, Cal., July 28, 1923.

My daughter Margaret, had suffered from pain in her side (appendicitis) for years, off and on. We consulted many physicians. Some said her liver was enlarged and another said her appendix was inflamed. These physicians, however, could give her no relief. Finally we took her to the Fong Wan Herb Specialist, who had cured my husband of kidney trouble and lumbago two years ago. I am happy to say that she was entirely relieved within four weeks. This was six months ago, and she has had no recurrence of her former complaints. Our former address was 1067 59th St., Oakland, but we are now living at 1136 Florida St., San Francisco.
MRS. H J. CHARBONNEAU, 1136 Florida St., San Francisco.

FIRST-HAND KNOWLEDGE AVAILABLE

The Fong Wan Herbalist is a member of the Sui Jee Teong Herb Co., the largest exporters of herbs in Hongkong. Only those herb companies in foreign lands that import large quantities of herbs are permitted to own shares in the Sui Jee Teong Co. Fong Wan is the only herbalist in America who has a personal membership in said company. He therefore receives without delay first-hand information regarding all discoveries of new herbs and new methods of healing that are made in China. Because of this advantge he is able to keep strictly up-to-date.

FONG WAN does not depend upon methods that have been employed by and handed down by other herbalists. He does not take it for granted that what has been good for one will prove beneficial in all similar cases, but he studies each separately and compounds herbs to suit the individual need. This is the reason why Fong Wan is so capable a herbalist and why the Fong Wan Herbs are the most effective.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with various maladies.

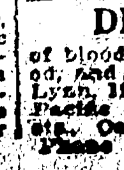

I also desire to be the means of guiding anyone who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable health specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurrence experienced by a member of my family I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation, unless Dr. Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete cure, he will under no circumstances accept the case.

Very truly yours,

My Marriage Problems

Adele Garrison's New Phase Of

Revelations of a Wife

THE WAY CLAIRE FOSTER ACCEPTED MADGE'S INVITATION.

There was no vestige of merriment left in Harry Underwood's voice or facial expression when he said that he meant to tell me a thing or two for my own good in a part of the five minutes left before the train pulled out of Nantucket.

"I'm not going to travel with you people once we get on the train," he began. "I'm going in another coach, so you won't see me again. And I want you to remember this: You and your father are the only people in the world who know that I'm double-crossing those unspeakable swine I'm tied up with. So don't let a hint of it escape your lips to Bonny Alan A Dale or Lil, or even to the Dicky-bird. And when you run across me again, don't even look as if you knew me. I don't mind telling you that there's nitro-glycerine in this stunt of mine."

I shivered at something in his tone deeper, more meaningful, than his usual melodramatic hints.

"I'll be very careful," I promised, looking up at him with genuine concern for his safety in my eyes.

"If you look at me like that I shall kiss you right here before the Dicky-bird," he said softly, then with a resumption of his stern manner—before I could say a startled word: "I couldn't warn the Dicky-bird about you as effectually as I ought to have done, because I couldn't spill just what I'm doing. But he's got an earful, so for the love of Pete, pay attention to what he says, don't go about alone, and—mind your step wherever you are. Still got that scarab?"

HARRY UNDERWOOD SAYS GOOD-BY.

I nodded an assent.

"See that you always keep it about you. And oh, girl, keep out of danger! Good-by."

He had so maneuvered our progress down the platform as he talked that we were just opposite to the step of the car in which Claire Foster was already seated, and in which Brother Bill piled our luggage.

Dickey himself was on the platform of the car, and I guessed that Harry Underwood had asked him to keep away for the few minutes' interview with me which the older man had wished.

As he said good-bye he put his hand under my arm and assisted me up the steps and then I felt his hand beneath mine in a quick, furtive clasp. The next instant he was speaking to Dicky in the phraseology of his assumed character, and I—not waiting for either man's escort—slipped quietly into the car and walked rapidly down the aisle to the double seat where Claire Foster sat.

She was gazing anxiously out of the window, and I guessed that she was fearfully searching the horizon for the dust of a furiously driven motor car. She would not feel safe from the possible appearance of Dr. Pettit until we had lost ourselves in New York, and while I was reasonably certain that his catching up to us was now an impossibility, I knew that I, too, would breathe naturally only when I should feel myself swallowed up in the rush which is New York.

"OF COURSE, I WILL GO."

The train began to move away from the station, and Claire Foster turned a troubled face to me.

"Do you suppose Herbert will try to see me in New York?" she asked.

"He'll have to find you first, won't he?" I returned.

Her eyes widened in surprise.

"Why, he knows where my apartment is!"

"But you are not going to your apartment, you are coming with us."

"But I can't do that!" she protested. "I've caused you enough trouble already without inflicting myself on you farther."

"There is only one excuse you can give me which I will accept," I returned smiling. "If you can tell me that you do not wish for my companionship for the next few days I shall not insist upon your accompanying us, except to find you some quiet hotel where you will be safe from the possibility of Dr. Pettit's finding you."

She looked at me with eyes no longer youthful and reckless, no longer with the metallic touch which seems inseperable from many an ultra-modern girl like Claire. It was an unsmiling gaze, but one which held a tribute that touched me.

"And you really mean it," she said wonderingly, hurriedly, for Dicky was making his way down the car toward us. "Of course, I will go with you. And"—she put her hand on mine shyly, withdrew it quickly—"perhaps sometime I can prove my gratitude."

"BLACK GOLD"

A Mystery Detective Story of Alameda County

by GEO. C. HENDERSON

CHAPTER 9.

Senorita Wins.

SYNOPSIS.

Napoleon Knott becomes involved in a treasure hunt for lost gold when Captain Soto Mayor and Felipe Ramon both are attacked and their feet burned to torture them into revealing the secret. Soto Mayor dies and old Felipe crazily rejoices because the secret is now safe. "They'll never make me tell," he declares.

Knott, by a ruse, gets to see Felipe's feet, finds red marks on them, tells Old Felipe Soto Mayor has sent him and induces the recluse to go with him to the Nuevo Mundo. When Old Felipe finds Captain Soto Mayor dead he lauchs wildly and declares that his "secret is safe."

Knott tells Inspector Scott, who arrives on the scene, something of what he has discovered. They decide the same thug did murder Soto Mayor and attacked Felipe.

Soto Mayor had attacked the ship unearthing five officers searching the ship unearthing shovels, picks, rivets, other treasure hunting tools. They decide the Captain was hunting a gold mine. One of the crew tells that before death, Captain Soto Mayor kept motioning toward a statuette until his daughter took it in her hands, and kept saying "oro negro," meaning "black gold." Inspector Scott threatens to arrest Racquel and the crew.

Night comes, revealing Knott, Scott and the officers still on the Nuevo Mundo, awaiting doctor's permission to see Racquel, who is greatly perturbed. Stone considers with Boogerty to prevent Knott from falling in love with Racquel. The "armored cruiser" Invincible, manned by youngsters from the Dump, playing at naval warfare, is chased away by Inspector Scott as it hovers around the Nuevo Mundo.

A scream coming from Racquel's room startles the men.

(Copyright, 1923. All Rights Reserved).

Four men moved as one, converging at the girl's stateroom door.

Inspector Scott tore it open and leaped inside. Knott was immediately behind him.

The sight that met their eyes brought them to an abrupt halt.

Boogerty Washington Smith, bleeding but triumphant, sat astride the prostrate Felipe, holding the aged man's hands firmly behind him. Gripped between Boogerty's lips was the police whistle which Stone had given him only a few minutes before.

The pretty Spanish girl, cowering against the bed, trembling with fear, her dress torn at the throat, blood oozing from scratches on her face, remained with her eyes fixed on the writhing form of the white whiskered old recluse.

Napoleon Knott reached her side, caught her hand in his and patted it reassuringly. He had forgotten his injuries.

"You're safe now," he declared. "Nothing can hurt you. Sit down until you recover from your fright."

"Oh what a horribly crazy man," she shuddered, clinging to him. "I am lay down on the bed, when he enter. Before I can make noise, he have me y the throat." She shivered again and buried her head in Knott's bandages. "My father he is dead," she sobbed. "I have no one. I am alone. What can I do?"

Boogerty, who reluctantly had released his captive, was strutting about, proclaiming his victory. Only vaguely Knott heard him describing his exploit—how he had been trailing the crazy man because of his suspicions of him, how he had seen him enter Racquel's room and then how he had rushed in just as old Felipe was tearing at her clothes. His story of the fast battle, told in picturesque narrative form, was flowery and ornate with detail. Even the dazed and conquered old Felipe, with his hands locked behind him, heard with considerable amazement the colored man's version of the fight, illustrated as it was by passes and feints.

"This fellow is cuckoo," said Inspector Scott. "I'll have to take him up to the station. Maybe he is responsible for a lot of this mischief. Are you much hurt, Miss?"

"She'll be jake," replied Tootles, not giving the girl a chance to reply. "This loony bimbo gave her a shock."

The fat man's arms slipped around the girl's shoulders and he held her tightly.

"I'm battin' for you now," he assured her. "The buster that gets to you will crawl over my corpus delecti."

Stone punched Boogerty in the ribs and pointed frantically toward the pair with his thumb. The negro grinned vacuously, nodded as if it were a good joke and then remembered his instructions. He put the whistle to his lips and blew a vigorous blast.

Knott looked up, startled. Scott, who was departing with his captive, turned in alarm. But the maneuver did not have the effect of separating the pretty girl and the detective.

Boogerty went into a series of terpsichorean contortions, waved his hands, grinned and made ridiculous, enigmatic motions.

If his intentions were to divert Napoleon Knott and hold his attentions, they were successful to a high degree. Knott, Racquel and Inspector Scott looked on open mouthed.

"What's the bright idea?" demanded Tootles. "Are you crazy?"

Boogerty did the Nance walk up to corpulent Mr. Knott and then executed a shimmy that was intended to banish all erotic thoughts from Tootles' mind.

"What are you doing?" reiterated Knott.

"Ahm breakin' de spell of Venus," asserted the negro, as he dashed toward the door and floated airially out of the stateroom.

"That smoke of yours has caught the disease from the old airedale," declared Scott. "I think he has gone off his nut. Breaking the spell of Venus. That is a good one."

But Napoleon Knott was absorbed in other matters. Racquel was drying her eyes and quaking after the manner of a woman, trying to stifle her sobs. Each little quake, following each little sob, shook her body so that Mr. Knott felt impelled to hold her tigher and tighter.

His tone became softly low and confidential. He vowed that he would protect her from all harm.

"Knott," challenged Guy Stone, sharply.

The fat man dragged his eyes away from Racquel to find the sorrowful gaze of his assistant was upon him.

"Go away," he commanded petulantly. "I'm occupied."

"Knott," persisted the leathery faced man with the buck teeth. "I wish to speak with you. It is very important."

"Go away, I tell you," Tootles ordered. "I am busy and Miss Soto Mayor can't spiel until she recovers."

Stone and Inspector Scott exchanged glances.

"I fear for the worst," moaned Stone.

"Come on out," advised the Inspector. "Knott seems able to take care of the situation. What do you think, Doctor?"

Dr. Ring grinned.

"I'm afraid Mr. Knott is only too competent," he said.

As the others left the room, Tootles looked yearningly into the black, black eyes of Senorita Soto Mayor.

"Let me be your big daddy," he begged. "You are a marvelous girl, but you need a protector and I'm the Johnny that can turn the trick."

For the second time the girl inspected her protector curiously. Apparently she was not entirely satisfied with the appearance of the linen swathed fellow because she frowned in puzzlement. The dumpy man appeared better fitted to fill the role of patient than hero.

Knott saw the critical light come into her eyes and he dropped his arm, stepping back, abashed. Hardened though he was to the tragedies of life, Napoleon Knott never had been able to callous that particular portion of his aura devoted to erotic impulses. It was a tender spot in his toughened physique.

His feet grated against something on the floor. Looking down he made a discovery. At the same instant the girl drew in her breath sharply.

There under his heels were the broken pieces of the plaster of paris statuette. Only the head and neck of Padre Hidalgo had survived. Protruding from an orifice in this portion of the anatomy was a tightly wound roll of onion skin paper.

He picked it up and came erect to find her gaze fixed on the paper in his hand. Her widening eyes and the color that slowly tinged her cheeks told him that a full realization of the value of this document had come to her.

The finger of her dying father had pointed to the statuette, indicating it held a secret that was first in his thoughts. The contents of the paper might solve the mystery of the killing of Soto Mayor, the attack on Felipe Ramon and of the treasure-hunting expedition that had resulted so disastrously. "Oro negro," the captain, had muttered as his waving digit pointed to it.

Black gold!

Napoleon Knott wrinkled the onion skin paper in his fingers and met the earnest stare of Racquel's dark eyes gravely.

Suddenly she extended her hand.

"It is mine," she said calmly. "Please give it to me."

Tootles looked from the girl to the document. Through its thin texture he could see a design on the under side. The words inscribed there might hold the key to the strange state of affairs. He had but to unfold it and read.

"You held out on me," he said slowly. "Perhaps this will wise us to your father's murderer. It's an important document to the case."

She threw back her head defiantly.

"It is mine," she reiterated. "My father gave it to me. You have no right."

"Of course it's yours," assented Knott, looking at the twisted paper. "But the Inspector will have to see it. You can't stall the bulls on a plea of personal rights. This is a murder case and it's got to be investigated."

Racquel came close to him and looked up into his face. Her eyelids dropped demurely, then raised slowly, revealing her dark irises with an irresistible effect. It was as if she had suddenly unmasked her naked soul to his view.

"That was my father's secret," she said, in a low, confidential tone, pronouncing each vowel roundly with a pretty accent. "I do not wish to tell the world about. If you please, give me the paper."

Napoleon Knott squirmed, but he did not give up the document.

"I'm afraid th' bulls will have to lamp this," he apologized. "Inspector Scott is a friend. I can't double cross him. I won his confidence by playing square and that's my game."

She half turned away from him, clenching her hands, revealing a profile of shapely neck, delicately molded chin and classic features that caused his head to swim. She took several steps, raised her head proudly and whirled, her eyes dark, sparkling with anger.

"You steal that from me," she charged. "Somebody told you it was the secret of gold. Now my father is dead. I have no one. You want to steal from me?"

Tootles shuffled uneasily, swallowed and puffed out his cheeks. He was not getting on very well with Racquel Soto Mayor. Yet the angrier she became the more charming he found her.

"I get you," he admitted. "You think we want to get hep to your dad's secret for the gold there is in it. Now leave this to me. I'm a great little fixer. I'll make you a proposition.

"You and I will look this paper over together. If it don't tip us off to the croak artist that operated on your dad, then it's nothing to the bulls, and mum's the word with me. I won't be obligated to sling any lingo about it. But if it's evidence, then the cops get it."

She listened intently to get the drift of his slangily framed proposition, frowning so that the lines in her forehead met, her red lips pursed piquantly. Then her face was illuminated with a smile, indicative of comprehension.

"Yes, I am trust you very moch," she agreed. "Spread it out on this table."

Napoleon Knott bent over the table. A whistle shrilled behind him, there was the sound of the door opening and an exclamation of alarm escaped Racquel. Her long fingers caught up the document and thrust it into her bodice.

Tootles whirled around.

Boogerty Washington Smith was doing a dance in the doorway, gesticulating, making faces, motioning for Knott to follow him through the exit.

"You crazy thimblerigger," cried the detective. "Get out of here."

"Ah's breakin' de spell of Venus," caroled Boogerty.

Tootles dashed toward Boogerty, followed him out on deck and then gave up the pursuit as the negro fled precipitately.

When he tugged at the knob of Racquel's stateroom door to re-enter it refused to yield. He called to her, but received no answer. The girl had locked him out. And she now possessed the mystery paper.

Inspector Scott came up a few minutes later to find the crestfallen Mr. Knott standing on one leg, looking vacantly at a blank cabin door, holding converse with himself.

BILL SAW HIS MISTAKE.

Slim Bill Kimball saw Belle Gumbel
Dancing on the stage in Stamboul;
Kimball was a Yank Marine,
And he fell in love with the Stamboul queen.
She was a slim belle, nimble Gumbel,
Every muscle would leap and tremble,
While the rumble of drum and cymbal
Worked up the blood of Slim Bill Kimball.

Kimball had won, at rolling dice,
Nine hundred dollars. Ah, very nice!
To trim Bill Kimball slim Belle Gumbel
Said: "Let's amble over and gamble at Stamboul baccarat."
Bill fell, and of course she trimmed him right;
He said to his mates on board that night;
"The Stamboul bull she threw some bull;
If I'd had brains to fill a thimble,
I'd took a tumble, I'd been humble.
Slim Bill Kimball, you're some dumbell."

What Sort of Girl Should Your Son Marry?

Dorothy Dix

Gives One Mother's Answer

(Copyright, 1923)

"A Girl With High Ideals, Neither Rich Nor Poor, Who Is Healthy and Good-Natured and Has Hard Common Sense" — One Mother's Choice

IF you picked out your son's wife, what sort of a girl would you choose?

OF COURSE, you won't have any say-so in the matter. The first thing you will know about it is that some day your boy will blurt out to you that he is going to marry some girl of whom you probably never heard before, or some girl you have been afraid that he would marry, and all that you can say is that you hope he will be happy, and all that you can do is to pray God to have mercy on his soul.

BUT what sort of a girl would you pick out if your son turned over the job of selecting his wife to you? Some women were discussing this subject the other day and one of them said:

"TO BEGIN with, I'd pick out a girl of good family.

"I DON'T mean that she would necessarily have to be blue-blooded, though I've never been able to see why blood doesn't count in human beings as much as it does in the lower animals, nor why it isn't as desirable to have a daughter-in-law with a pedigree as it is to have a bulldog with one. Other things being equal, I should certainly prefer a girl who had a few of her great-grandmother's silver spoons, and family portraits, and traditions, to one who had none.

"WHEN I say I'd pick a girl who comes of a good family, I mean good literally. I mean a girl who comes of honest, decent, upright people who are respected in their community, a family that has no jailbirds, and the skeletons of no unfortunate women in its closets.

"I BELIEVE in heredity and that there are people born without any sense of honor or responsibility, and with an almost irresistible tendency toward drinking and gambling and sensuality. And I believe still more in the power of environment and that a girl is just about what her mother makes her. So I want my son's wife to come out of a home where there are strict ideas of right and wrong, and where the mother impressed high ideals on her daughters. I do not want my son to marry a girl whose mother taught her by precept and example the easy philosophy that what a man doesn't know doesn't hurt him, and that a wife is justified in getting all she can by hook or crook, and that lying and deceit are all the day's work of a married woman.

"THE girl who comes of a good family is virtually sure to run straight and her husband's heart may safely trust in her, as the Bible says. But the girl who comes of a scalaway family will bear watching. You don't often find a white blackbird.

"Then I would pick out a girl from a well-to-do-family. Not rich.

"UNLESS a young man has a fortune of his own I can imagine no greater calamity that can befall him than to marry a girl who has been raised to have everything she wants, without stopping to count the cost. She has luxurious tastes and habits that she is miserable if she cannot gratify, and no matter how hard she tries to economize she is still wasteful because she does not know where economy begins, for the extravagances of poorer people she regards as the bare necessities of life.

"I WOULD not pick out for my son's wife a girl who had been reared to be a spender because I do not wish to see him sold into slavery for life to dry goods merchants and milliners and dressmakers.

"STILL less would I pick out for a wife for him a girl who had much money of her own, for no fate is so cruel as that of the poor husband of a rich woman. He is bound to become a parasite upon her, and to have no more authority and receive less consideration in her household than her pet Pomeranian pup.

"NOR would I choose a very poor girl for my son's wife because no wives are more extravagant, more pleasure-mad, more restless and fond of gadding, than are the women who have never had anything and who are starved for luxuries and pleasure. They think that even a moderate income is inexhaustible and they squander it like water. They've never had anything to save, so they have no habits of thrift, and it is so wonderful to them to be able to buy what they desire that their wants have no limit.

"ALSO, the man who marries a poor girl has her family to support, at least in part. Therefore, as my son has his own way to make in the world, I would not pick out a penniless, bride for him.

"BUT I would choose a girl who comes of well-to-do people, because she knows the value of money and how to get the most out of it. She has had enough of the good things of life, pretty clothes and indulgences, to have taken the edge off of her appetite for them, but she has not been so accustomed to them that she cannot live without them.

"SHE has had to contrive and plan to get what she desired, and so she has learned how to handle money. She makes the kind of a wife who is a real helpmate to her husband who, when she marries, is willing to settle down and take her enjoyment in moderation.

"I WOULD pick out for my son's wife a girl who was good-looking, and who knew how to dress and make a good appearance, because for a girl not to know how to make the most of herself shows that she lacks intelligence and initiative and energy.

"A SMART wife is an asset to a man, just as a dowdy wife is a handicap. Nor is a man apt to stay in love long with a wife who is not a good-looker and of whom he is ashamed.

"I SHOULD pick out for my son's wife a healthy, jolly, good-natured girl.

"A SICKLY woman whose nerves are always on edge, and who brings nervous, sickly, crying babies into the world; or a morbid, neurotic woman who is never satisfied with anything; or a high-tempered woman who keeps a man in perpetual terror of scenes; these are the curse a man brings on his own head and that his mother would save him from if he would take her advice.

"ABOVE all, I would pick out for my son's wife a girl who has good, hard common sense. If a girl has that nothing else really matters, because she will learn all the balance."

SO said this mother. What sort of a wife would you pick out for your son?

A Mystery a Day

A series of perplexing cases that have withstood all efforts at solution

THE NAT TURNER REBELLION.

Although there have been a number of insurrections among the negroes of the United States, probably the most celebrated of these was the one which has come down in history as the "Nat Turner Rebellion," launched in Southampton county, Virginia, on August 20, 1831.

Nat Turner, the man who is commonly credited with having been at the head of this conspiracy, was born in 1800 and was the slave of Benjamin Turner, a wealthy land owner of Virginia. Turner, who had conceived at an early age the idea that he was a special object of divine care, gained a subtle influence over others of his race by working upon their superstition until they began to look upon him as a prophet. When, in 1831, there was an eclipse of the sun, Turner believed that the time had come for him to set out upon his "mission," and he told his followers: "As the black spot passed over the sun, so shall the black pass over the earth."

On August 20 Turner and two of his associates completed their plans and started their active revolt by the murder of Joseph Travis and his family, neighbors of the Turners. Then, adding the slaves on the Travis plantation to their forces, the blacks moved from one place to another murdering the whites and freeing the slaves until Turner had several hundred negroes under his control, and the entire countryside became alarmed at the extent of theinsurrection. Appeals for help began to pour into Norfolk, and three companies of United States troops and a corps of marines were sent inland under the command of General Epes. Order was finally restored, but, in the excitement, Turner escaped and was not captured until late in October after a large price had been put upon his head.

As a result of this rebellion twenty-one slaves were convicted and condemned and Turner himself was executed ten days after his arrest. Meanwhile, however, the terror had spread to adjoining states and, while the excitement over the career of Nat Turner was at its height, negro plots and conspiracies were being brought to light in different sections of the country—plots in which Turner was thought to have had a hand but of which he denied all knowledge.

The Nat Turner rebellion caused the state of Virginia to arm itself, and all through the south this uprising carried its visions of terror, lest the blacks rise en masse and overthrow the white masters. Many historians who have made an intensive study of the rebellion and its causes have hinted very broadly that there must have been some one of considerably more intelligence than an ignorant negro leader at the head of the movement, but, if some white man were responsible for the revolt, his name has never been mentioned with any degree of definiteness or assurance.

The Why of Superstitions

H. Irving King

LOVE AND SHOES.

Place the heel of one shoe upon the instep of the other for three consecutive nights before going to bed and you will dream of your future husband. That is a common superstition among New England girls. Possibly the superstition obtains also in other parts of the country. It is based upon the old idea of the subjection of the wife to the husband of which a superimposed shoe is symbolical. "Over Edom will I cast my shoe," sang David when he threatened the subjection of the land of the Edomites.

In a pamphlet of the first part of the seventeenth century it is mentioned as being an ancient custom that "When at any time a couple were married the sole of the bridegroom's shoe was to be laid upon the bride's head implying with what subjection she should serve her husband."

The symbolism is obvious, and in the ancient days when the position of the married woman was one entire subjection to her husband, one shoe placed upon the top of another would suggest the idea of marriage. Now to primitive man what was associated in thought was associated in fact. Therefore one shoe placed upon another had an actual connection with marriage by a phase of sympathetic magic. So when the New England girl arranged her shoes with the heels of one upon the instep of the other, the upper shoe represents her future husband's and the lower one her own. The powers of sympathetic magic are set working and her future spouse appears to her in a dream.

The STORY of JACKIE COOGAN As Told By His Mother

To ze decker

We Have Visitors.

Now that the making of the new picture was in full swing, we came every day to the studio. Our bungalow developed into a rendezvous for visiting vaudeville artists—many of them old friends of our trouping days.

Toto, the famous clown, happened in one morning and after Jackie had taken him into the lot and out on the set, Toto insisted on doing something for his small host.

"Oh, show me how to do a handspring, Toto! I never could do a decent handspring!" cried Jackie, and before we knew it the two of them were out on the bit of lawn, deep in the intricacies of "Cartwheels."

Watching from the window, I felt certain my son would shatter at least an arm or leg if he didn't manage actually to break his small neck. The accident to the two front teeth had made me nervous.

Nothing worse happened, than a few capsizes, one of them ending in the ornamental fountain Mr. Coogan recently had put in the studio yard.

"Well, I learned how to do it, anyhow," gasped Jackie as he was fished out and hustled into his dressing room for dry clothes.

The same day came "Aunt Jemima" and her six jazz players who gave us such a gorgeous concert that all the sight-seeing cars lined up outside the studio to listen, wondering what was going on and wishing they could be inside.

One of Jackie's callers didn't have such a pleasant time on his visit and I fear he will never come again. It was little Sammy Reszchewski, the phenomenal chess player. Sammy is a nice, quiet child and after he had duly inspected the lot and made friends with the dogs and horses who work in the current play and have their quarters just inside the fence, he offered to teach Jackie chess.

"But I don't like chess," remarked Jackie unappreciatively, "you have to think too hard. Daddy plays chess and he always looks as if it hurts."

"But it is a wonderful game," urged Sammy, noted the world over as a prodigy.

"So's golf," chirped Jackie. "Come on, let's play golf on my course. I can do the whole five holes in nine. Betcha a nickel you can't."

Sammy did not take to golf any better than my decidedly low-brow son took to chess, so the two youngsters compromised on a box-

GERALDINE FASHIONS THE HOME

RAYMOND TESNIERE was perhaps the loneliest man in Paris. At the annual ceremonies in which the shopgirls of the city parade as evidence they would accept a proposal of marriage, nothing but his diffidence kept him from breaking through the lines as a suitor to the first at hand.

"It would be better to draw lots, to take a grab from the bag of fate, than to live alone where there is so much of gayety. Why was I not given the gift to make friends? Why do I close up like an oyster whenever a lady is present?"

Then he thought of advertising in the newspapers. Visions came to him of scores of girls ringing on his bell. If they would march by the hundreds, surely thousands would avail themselves of the less conspicuous means. An advertisement would never do. So Raymond went back to the theater where he was employed, looked from behind the scenes at a sentimental story being enacted, and felt worse than ever.

In the midst of the lonely man's perplexity came an astounding adventure.

"It is Raymond Tesniere I seek." It was a woman's voice. "I wish to see him very much."

"He is busy. Who shall I say it is?"

"Tell him," the woman hesitated, "tell him it is his wife."

Raymond, for a moment, thought of hiding under his desk. Then he moved the telephone near. If this woman were mad he might need to summon help. She entered, a slim girl with appealing eyes.

"So you are my husband," she appraised him critically.

"I am Raymond Tesniere, but I have never seen you before in my life."

The girl laughed. "Isn't it ridiculous, for I have never seen you."

Raymond sighed with relief. "You realize, then, it is a mistake. There is another Tesniere. Yes?"

"No, you are he. We are man and wife and I come to ask, if you please, for a divorce."

Then the explanation came. Four years before Raymond Tesniere had lost his pocketbook, containing several cards of identity. Yes, he remembered. That was when his bad luck commenced. Well, another had found it, had taken the name and, in Toulon, had courted this girl.

"He made very pretty love and I accepted him," she said. "Then, when he got from my father the dowry, so little and yet so much, he run away. I am glad he is gone. But when I tried to free myself of a husband who is never a husband, I find by the French law I am married, not to this man, but to Raymond Tesniere. You are my husband. It is you who must divorce me."

Here was but a start to Raymond's perplexities. Court scenes must follow. This would make good reading in the papers. Men would laugh at him, he might lose his position. "For four years," he moaned, "when I have been so lonely, I have been married. It is lucky I am not a bigamist."

The girl's eyes were on him. "I'll do what I can."

They visited an attorney together. Pauline laughed when Raymond suggested charges might be necessary.

"I can say," she said, "you have been very cruel. Not once since my marriage until but now have you spoken to me."

A day was fixed in court and the two waited. Pauline intended to return to Toulon. This was taking longer than she expected and Raymond sensed her resources were limited. He took her to dinner every day and frequently to lunch.

"It is funny," he mused, "our dining together while we wait for a divorce."

"Funny?"

"Well, I will tell you what I intend to do," he spoke boldly. "As soon as you are given the decree, the real Raymond Tesniere will propose to you."

"So you wish a big ceromony?"

"No."

"Do you wish a large expense?"

"No."

She shrugged her shoulders and looked at him happily. "Well, then, my husband, let us go together and withdraw the case!"

As they walked from the restaurant as happy as two children, the bride giggled as at a new thought.

"Do you know that tomorrow will be our fifth anniversary?"

WILL philosoph help an aching heart? IT WILL NOT! Philosophy is Simon-Pure Reason and analysis—and a heart is just one big emotion.

Dear Jerry:

I feel like I could just weep a bucketful of the saddest tears ever shed on your shoulder. Yes, there is a man at the bottom of it all. Let me explain. We are both high seniors at Oakland High and have known each other for about eight months. We've gone together quite a bit and Oh, Jerry, I didn't think I could ever care so much about a man, but Jerry, I love him and him only. I've always wondered how a girl, or anyone, could give her life for her sweetheart, but now I understand. Well, I guess you're wondering what the trouble is, and here it is in a nutshell. HE'S LOSING INTEREST IN ME!

He hasn't said so, or gone with other girls; in fact we are going to a dance tonight, but I can FEEL it. I can tell by his actions, and by the way he looks at me that I can't keep him much longer. I know Jerry, 'cause I've gone with other fellows and know the symptoms, but I've never cared before.

It sounds like I had an awful time keeping a sweetheart, doesn't it, but I don't mean that. I like lots of friends and like to kid them all a little but this one is different. I can't kid him, and everything I do or say, I treat him square.

You will probably think I'm just a flapper, and don't know what I'm talking about, but I know this, Jerry, I know I love him and it would break my heart to give him up.

Please take me seriously and give me your advice on the matter. I guess there isn't much advice to be given on the subject, but let me know what you think and if there is anything I can do.

This means a lot to me, Jerry, and you are the best pal a girl can have. Please let me know soon.

WORRIED.

You needn't have asked me to treat you seriously, little Pal, for I know just how big and achy and lonely a little girl's heart can feel. Mine's been there—AND ITS GOTTEN OVER IT TOO. A tooth ache is a pleasant afternoon in comparison, and a sprained ankle, a luxury.

There's no advice to give you though—just my love and understanding. If his love is gone, its gone, and you'll have to act like a brave little scout. Its part of life's experiences, my dear. (I sound like an old woman, don't I?) but Girl, you're beautifully young, and you're building your character now for the big adventure later on.

If you hate "crybabies" and "whiners" you'll GRIN, even though it busts two hearts and you'll go on richer for the "square" friendship you've lost. You've got Jerry's love, even though it doesn't count much right now.

The smallest crystal wireless set ever produced has been made by a London firm. It is called "The Butterfly" and is mounted on an ordinary finger ring. The base is only one inch long by three-fourths of an inch wide. The diminutive proportions of the set by no means impair the efficiency, for four pairs of headphones distinctly picked up music forty miles away.

Listen, World!

REMEMBER "Teacher," Pal? Awful, wasn't she! Long, sharp nose, little hard eyes that looked as if they had been screwed in, a discouraged knob of hair—poor soul, she probably felt as discouraged as her hair, but we wiggling little simps didn't know it.

How we did loathe that dreary, drab female with her hopeless face and her old fashioned clothes. And how the whole community picked on her. What would have happened to her if she hadn't been drab? The thought is too awful to contemplate. Didn't the School Board fire the Perkins girl who'd just taken the Third Grade, because Mrs. Peevey saw her walk down Roger's lane with the fellow from the city? I'll say they did. Quite right, too. You can't be too careful about the folks who are going to teach our young—No siree!

And now the world has turned most a hundred somersaults since our "last day at school," and here comes Joseph Marr Gwinn, now superintendent of schools of somewhere, who also says that we can't be too careful about the folks who are going to teach our young.

But he says it differently. No dingy, discouraged teachers for Joseph Marr Gwinn. Why should we set standards of drabness before our children, asks he? Why should a poorly dressed, untidy dispirited woman be tolerated in the school room where she wouldn't be tolerated in the office? Why give our children examples which the world will penalize them for following?

Humanize them! Let 'em step out and mix and become human beings—act and enjoy life like everyone else," is the slogan of this educational administrator.

Let her wear the prettiest gowns, the stunningest beads, the sheerest stockings, the sauciest of shoes if so she pleases. Let her be all that is fresh and happy and modern. For a teacher's personality is her most important text book.

Teachers in chiffon stockings! A departure, isn't it. But why not? It's all part of that lusty new propaganda which advertises life as a joyful, profitable adventure rather than a period of penance. And if the chiffon stockings help the work along, let 'em chiff!

I shall write him a love letter on purple paper and tell him that the Sporting Editor calls me Cleopatra!

Dear Geraldine:

Here I am again, but this time not to discuss flappers—but he-males.

Jerry, "No, I'm not a painted and powdered baby doll as you thought, but my hair is cut and I do use powder. I don't pluck my eyelashes, or paint my cheeks or lips, because I don't like it, but if a girl does this, this doesn't brand her as no-good.

It's the men who do all the hollering about flappers? Its time for some one to tell them where they belong.

Say, I know men who will doll up more than I. They powder their face and black their eye-lashes marcel their hair, and then they talk about girls who do the same. Haven't we as much right to doll up? Sure we have, but there are boys who are real boys, and are darn good pals too.

I'm only sixteen, and a junior in high school, and I have more boy friends than girls, but their attitude toward me is that of a sister and mine to them, that of a sister to a brother.

I have a good time playing ball with a bunch of kids, this I'd rather do than have someone whisper "honeyed words" in my ear.

Oh, Jerry, I am perfectly wild (as wild as a sixteen year old can get) over your "Destroyer Gob." Ain't he wonderful, pals? He's a real "he-man" and yet in my town, if a girl is seen talking to a sailor she's classed as common, and during the war it was an honor. Why have times changed? I can't stand it.

Well, Jerry, excuse this violent writing paper, and love to you and my idol, "Destroyer Gob."

What I want to know is this—WHAT RIGHT HAS MERE MAN TO STEAL OUR STUFF? Marcelled hair, darkened eyelashes! I propose a union. Women's weaknesses must be protected.

REMEMBRANCE.

Remembrance clings—
And at your bidding ever springs—
Though time may fade and wither—
And it would seem well furnished rooms—
On either side of memory's hall—
Hold memories of the laughing days—
And those so sad—
Where we may prowl when life grows dull—
And reminiscent—
And live again the days long gone—
So let us wander once again—
Among the ones who long have vanished—
To let them know we can't forget—
Can you remember mother's face—
The day when dressed in bib and tucker—
She took your hand and led the way—
Adown green lanes to village school—
And left you in the somber keeping—
Of master there—
Oh well I do—the barn-like room—
Mischievous children making faces—
Whose minds were romping far away—
In pleasure places—
Where childhood's minds must ever stray—
Too long it seemed ere day was done—
Too long ere willing legs could run—
Back down the lanes to waiting mother—
Back to the arms I loved so well—
Who welcomed me with lips so silent—
Her heart too full for words to tell—
She knew that life had claimed her baby—
And soon would woo its mind away—
But mother's all must know that day—
Too soon in coming—
Can you remember one sweet face—
That claimed your eyes as you grew older—
And claimed warm kisses from your lips—
As you grew bolder—
And life had taught you how to love—
Full well another than your mother—
Can you remember vows you made—
And gave to her a lovers token—
Not knowing then that trusting hearts—
Are only made but to be broken—
Then came the day—
You went away—
And left her there in silence weeping—
Although you left your guileless heart—
Locked in her keeping—
Can you remember how you vowed—
That life could never hold another—
Than her sweet face—
Not knowing then that love's bright eyes—
Haunt every place—
Where moonlight plays upon the heather—
But now you know—and so do I—
And when at times there comes a sigh—
I love to stray through memory's hall—
And hear lips call—
Perhaps not now—but you'll remember—
When comes December—

George, Gink of Antioch

Read 'em and weep! Here are lines from George the Third, Gink of Antioch and Keeper of the Royal Easy-Mark. A lot of men have wailed out their woe on Jerry's broad shoulder—the fresh things!—but here is the Prime Roasted Beef, the original Sappette, still wet behind the ears. He cries out in pain for Succor, Assistance, Help—anything to sooth his bleeding pride. Thumbs down for Sympathetic Geraldine. We throw him to you lions. Claw him, Sweet Sisters. He has no friends.

Dear Geraldine:

Were you ever bunked good and plenty?

Did you ever run up against a smooth person who talked you out of your wits and then left you flat broke, holding an empty sack?

Well the Master Swindler got me? I have been a victim of the Bunkum Movement.

In other words I am a sap.

Maybe you don't know what a sap is. Well, suppose I tell you that I'm Mr. Gink from Antioch or a sheep herder from the Livermore hills, or perhaps just a country cow chaser who, without even a common school education can write D. D. after my name.

Sure I can do it and I've got the law behind me.

I was just a hair-brained young stiff, maybe an egotistic city gink, with a desire to rise in the world. I went to several of these psychological lectures. There's where I met the Smooth Guy.

He was a fat and oily bird—Guess I'd better call him by a fake name, say Joe Jobson. From the platform, where he gave his free lecture, he told all of us that we had gigantic intellects and great ability. He applied it to everyone, even the village imbecile.

There was nothing about Joe to warn me that he was a go-getter for the coin. He seemed on the square. He had that honest, fearless look that you read about. He was plump and prosperous.

I visited Joe in his office. I guess he spotted the diamond in my tie pin because he was extra nice.

"You have marked healing ability," he said. "I can feel it in the aura that hovers over you. All you need is a little instruction and you could go forth to heal the multitudes."

I paid him $25 and he gave me a certificate ordaining me as a Doctor of Divinity and a priest of his cult. There was no ordination ceremonies. No sir. The change from infamy to fame was quick and pronto. One minute I was just plain Mr. Gink of Antioch. The next I was Dr. Aloysius Gink, D. D, C. Q.—the C. Q. standing for silent questioner.

He handed me a few pamphlets, with instructions to read them over. Then before I even had a chance to look at them books that I had never read but which made me a Doctor of Divinity, Bishop Joe Jobson was so overcome by my marked healing ability that he had another brainstorm.

He wanted to give me the higher course. He wanted to promote me from a plain priest and a D. D. to something a lot bigger than that. He held out the opportunity of becoming an Archbishop and a Ph.D. Now although I may be from the tules, I've heard of Ph. D. I know a farm kid that had to study half a lifetime at the university to get one. So that sounded good.

But the Ph.D. cost $500. I didn't want to soak all that money into a flier in Fame. Sure I wanted to be famous. I wanted to be a great healer. But $500 cash would take nearly every cent. So I stalled.

That didn't faze Bishop Joe a doggone bit. He read my mind. Joe is a slick bird, I'll tell you. He had to be slick to trim me.

"This Ph.D. course is very expensive," he said, "but it raises your soul to heights supreme. A study of it gives you the secrets of existence. It opens up unknown worlds to you. You become a superman."

Maybe that don't sound impressive in cold type. But falling like pearls from the lips of Bishop Joe, it knocked me for a ghoul.

When he told me I could become a Doctor of Philosophy for $20 down and $10 a month, I succumbed.

So back I goes to Antioch, a D.D. and Ph.D., a healer and maybe an Archbishop and priest besides, all for only $45 cash, counting everything, and $10 a month.

I showed everybody in Antioch my degree. It was a pretty bit of paper, something like a marriage license only different, and it had a gold seal on it, with the Bishop's name to it.

Nobody seemed to fall very strong for them honors. I guess they remembered the Correspondence School detective badge that I had been wearing only a week before and they figured this was another skin game. But I knew it wasn't. I did a lot of talking and got a good many people interested. I started healing a man, but he died before I got a good start. I healed another with the help of a regular physician, though.

Pretty soon the glory of being famous kind of wore off. I've run the gamut of fame anyhow. I graduated from one correspondence school of journalism and took the full course of the Hokum Detective Agency and became their operative in Antioch. I also took a law course and another in automotive engineering, all in about six months.

Then I got a letter from the Bishop. He summoned me, a priest, Doctor of Divinity and Ph.D. to a conference on a very important matter. Funds were to be raised for a home. I discovered on arriving at the conference.

They wanted me to contribute. I did.

All this happened six months ago. A lot of information has been jammed into my brain since then. The family minister kindly explained that my D. D. didn't mean anything. He wasn't jealous because he didn't have the title of doctor. Our minister is not the jealous kind, like the marshal, who laughed at my detective badge. The minister told me how long it takes to become a Doctor of Divinity in the legitimate religions. Preachers sometime struggle along for a lifetime without securing the honor of being called Dr. He pointed out the absurdity of my position.

Then the Ph. D. in my home town showed me the course of study he had to take to get that degree.

Finally I discovered the site for the home hadn't been bought at all. I learned that they weren't even going to build a home. Collecting money for it was just part of the swindle.

I quit making payments on my Ph. D. degree. Bishop Joe coaxed, wheedled and threatened. When he got mean, then I saw the crook in him.

Well, attorneys advise me I can't do anything. Bishop Joe has a right to sell any kind of degree his charter specifies because he's a regular established church. He's got a police-proof swindle.

I just wanted to tell you about it, Jerry.

Don't you think there ought to be a law to protect feebie minded guys like me?

Yours truly,

GEORGE.

Brother—dear, weak Brother—it ain't the law you need. A strong, Blonde Love should come into your life—a protecting Love that's durn fool enough to keep you in sight, day and night, year in and year out, forever and ever, amen. Yuh need watching, Georgie, or some day somebody'll come along and sell you a comb and brush for a Mexican hairless ki-yi.

Five Minutes To Go — By Webster

MY FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

A Breath From Happy Hollywood

This collection already has been enriched by the truthful account of the distinguished New York theatrical magnate who told a well-known playwright that he didn't care to consider putting on the latter's newest piece called "The Dauphin," because he was sure the American people would never care for a play about a fish.

Then of course there is the tale told of that other and equally prominent manager who, on hearing a synopsis of a dramatization of "David Copperfield," said he liked the story and asked who the original author of the story might have been; and then, when the adaptor told him this honor had belonged to Charles Dickens, said promptly:

"Well, you better get in touch with this here Charley Dickens and bring him in to see me and we'll talk over the royalties and if the guy ain't unreasonable, why we'll fix up a contract and go ahead with the production."

But the contemporary authorities agree that for a wide and comprehensive and all-embracing ignorance of the classics these dignitaries in the realm of the spoken drama are not to be mentioned in the same admiring breath with some of the leaders of the moving pictures industry. A man lately back from sinless Hollywood brings with him two anecdotes regarding a strictly self-made gentleman who holds an important, indeed a commanding position, in one of the biggest of the studios. This gentleman chooses subjects for screening; he casts the companies; he passes on details of location, of costuming and of treatment; he bosses the directors and he issues orders to the actors.

Not so very long ago, he was told that the editorial department of his plant looked with an eye of favor on the project of making a film version of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." Promptly he put his foot down on it.

"Nix," he said; "we positifly wouldn't do it. The public is fed up on these here college plays with football players for heroes."

A few days later he personally was supervising the taking of certain scenes of a comedy. In the script prepared from the author's scenario by the continuity writer he came upon a line to the effect that the leading woman should be pictured as seated alone in a deep reverie.

"Come with me, you," he said, indicating the assistant director, the leading lady and the camera-man. "I know just the place for taking this here piece of business."

He loaded the three of them into an automobile, got in himself and bade the driver take them along a certain road winding into the foothills above Los Angeles. After an hour or so of steady travel they came to where a narrow but precipitous canyon cut into the contours of the landscape. Here the leader of the expedition gave orders to halt.

"There you are," he stated, with a wave of his arm, "you could look for a week and nowhere you wouldn't find no deeper reverie for her to be setting in than what this one is."

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy by Johnny Gruelle

Copyright by JOHNNY GRUELLE. All Rights Reserved.

THE two mean little old Witches had made up their minds to capture Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy and take their magical Wishing Pebble and Wishing Stick away from them.

And the two mean little old Witches had worked all sorts of schemes to do this but each time they had been fooled and the Raggedys had escaped. Wanda Witch had sent invisible bumble bees to chase little Ned Gnome away from the Raggedys, but Raggedy Andy had wished for the Witch's bumble bees to turn and chase her. And of course his wish came true. So the Wanda Witch was at home putting baking soda upon her long nose.

Then Winda Witch caught the Raggedys with a magical invisible string and was dragging them through the deep, deep woods.

Of course, when the Witch dragged the Raggedys behind her as she rode along on her flying broom, it did not hurt them a speck as they bumped about over stones and sticks. But it hurt little Ned Gnome and he cried.

"I wish I could think of some way to stop this!" Raggedy Ann thought to herself. "For the bumping about isn't pleasant for little Ned Gnome!" Raggedy Ann had hardly finished thinking this than she thought of a way. "I wish the mean little old Witch's broom would stop flying!" she thought again to herself.

The mean little old Witch, not expecting the flying broom to stop, was not holding on to the stick at all. So when the broom immediately stopped, the mean little old Witch, continued to go, over and over she rolled until she came to a stop, "BLUMP" smack dab up against a tree trunk. A large fat one! "UMPH!" the mean little old Witch cried, for it almost knocked all the breath out of her. "What happened to my flying broom? It never behaved that way before!"

Raggedy Ann did not answer the mean little old Witch, and of course, Raggedy Andy and little Ned Gnome did not know that Raggedy Ann had wished the flying broom to come to such a sudden stop.

The mean little old Witch finally got to her feet and pulled upon her flying broom, but still it would not budge.

"Something must have happened to my flying broom!" the Witch said.

"Maybe your sister has started working magic with the magic charms!" Raggedy Andy suggested. "And she may have got things mixed up!"

"I'll bet a nickel that is just what she has done!" the mean little Witch said. "Anyway, you can't get away from my magic invisible string, so I will run home and see what my sister Wanda Witch is doing!" And away she went, lickety split through the woods towards her house. Then Raggedy Ann wiggled her shoe button eye at little Ned Gnome and Raggedy Andy, and catching their hands, she started running with them.

"I made the Witch's flying broom stop!" Raggedy Ann said after they had run a long way. "And then I wished for the invisible string to disappear!"

"Ha, ha!" little Ned Gnome laughed. "Won't the Witch be surprised to find us gone when she comes back to her flying broom?"

Household HINTS—

It is often difficult to cleanse the kettle in which candy or icing has been cooked. To prevent this difficulty, fill the kettle with water immediately after the candy has been removed. Put on the lid and allow the water to boil. The steam will loosen the sticky substance.

Radium can laugh pityingly at our mechanical speed. It constantly throws off particles of itself which shoot into space at a speed of 750,000 miles a minute. That's the fastest thing in the line of moving matter, but it's slow alongside light and other ether vibrations.

When a lock seems to be out of order, before sending for a locksmith put the key which fits the lock in oil, and then insert the key in the lock. Often all the lock needs is oiling.

If rice is boiled for about fifteen minutes and the water poured off and diluted to the proper consistency it is much better for starching black cotton material than the regular starch.

Safety matches can be struck as easily on a piece of smooth coal as they can on the sfety match box. Smooth iron will also answer. Try the top of the stove.

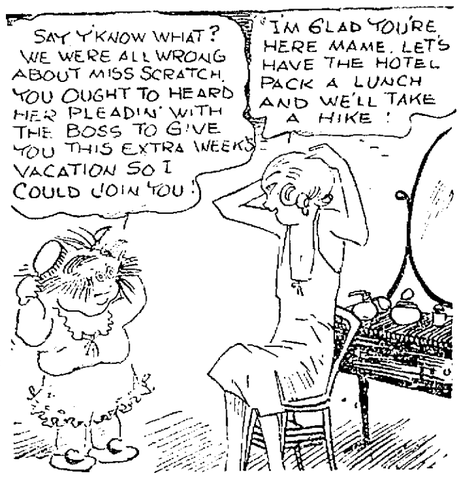

Enameled kettles that have burned dry should be filled at once with boiling water as cold water would cause th enamine to crack or chip.

A few drops of turpentine on a woolen cloth will clean tan shoes, and a drop or two of benzine will give them a brilliant polish.

Moisten a white cloth with cigar, rub gently over the garments and all spots will disappear.

HELP FOR THE MAN WHO WANTS TO BUILD

ELIMINATING "EXTRAS" IN HOME BUILDING

This is the fifth of a number of articles to appear in this column on "Home Building Extras" and How to Eliminate Them by The Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc.

In this, and the final article to appear in this column on home building "extras," we want to point out to you something about the duties of the architect to the home builder, inasmuch as the architect plans the house and is the executive in charge during the operation.

The architect should make sure that the home builder understands every detail of the provisions of his plans and specifications. He should so illustrate and so explain the work that the home builder should have a definite, clear, mental picture of the house which the drawings call for. When the owner and architect fully understand each other, half the battle is won.

Complete Plans Mean Saving

Complete plans and details, and complete definite specifications actually cost less to produce in the end than slipshod documents which must constantly be supplemented and corrected. Nothing is more bothersome on a job, nothing causes more delays, changes and "extras" than incomplete drawings. Home builders are justified in feeling that the architect is the responsible person, and all directions, approvals or disapprovals of the work to the contractor should be in writing by the architect. Verbal orders or conversations are easily distorted and forgotten. The architect should allow no-changes or substitutions unless the owner's approval is obtained in writing, or unless the owner is advised in writing.

The architect should see that all provisions of the contract are fairly carried out.

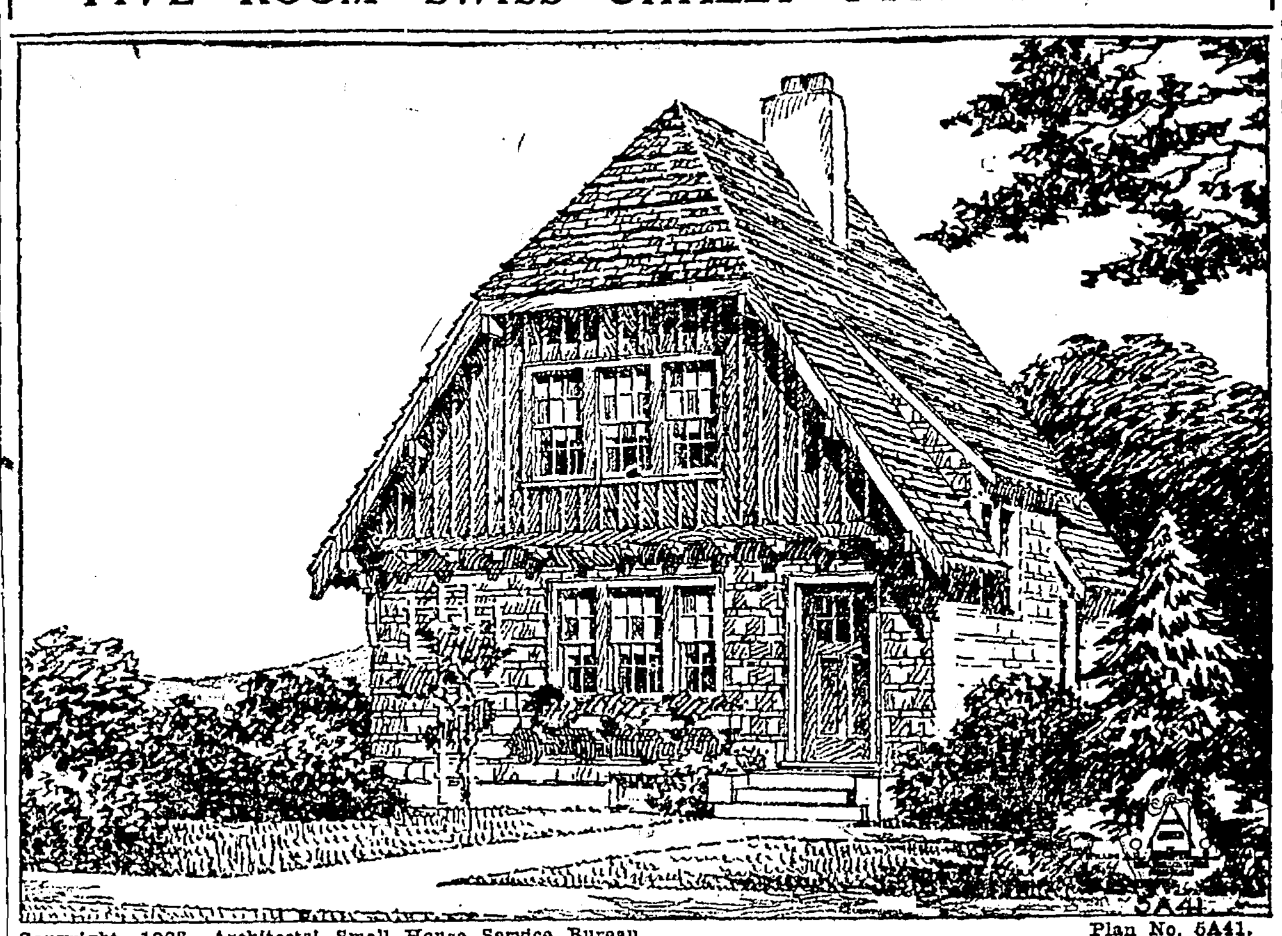

The contractor should carry out all provisions of the contract to the letter. If difficulties arise, he should advise the architect, preferably in writing, because he is employed by the owner to assist the architect. The contractor should insist that all directions come from the architect in writing, and should transact all business with the owner through the architect.

Handpick Subcontractors

Subcontractors should be handpicked. You can't expect to get good work from those who are incompetent and inexperienced. Substitutions should be avoided, unless some other material than that called for in the specifications is more than equivalent, or that specified is found to be not readily obtained.

If changes are suggested effecting the cost, the contractor should submit definite estimates in writing to the architect at once, before any work is done, in order that the owner, through the architect, may be definitely and immediately advised.

FIVE ROOM SWISS CHALET TYPE HOUSE

Copyright, 1923—Architects' Small House Service Bureau. Plan No. 5A41.

THIS five room house is 24 feet wide. In some localities it can be accommodated on a 34 foot lot.

For a narrow lot, the porch, which may be of the open or closed type, should be placed at the rear. For a wider lot, the porch may be at the side.

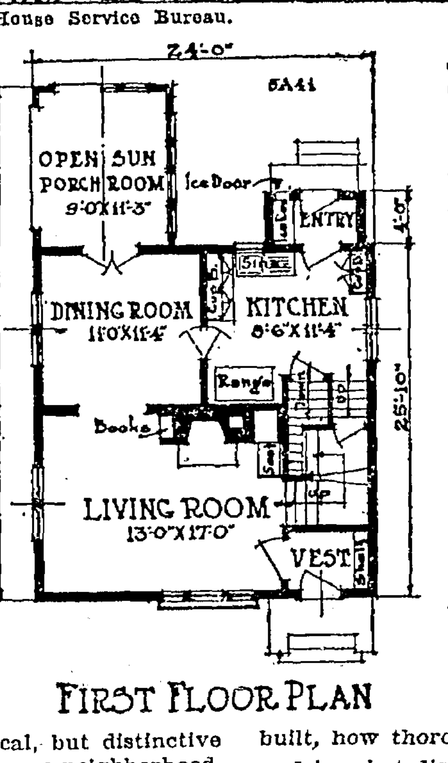

The plans call for frame construction, exterior finish of wide shingles and battens.

There is a cement base course, with cement steps to the doorway.

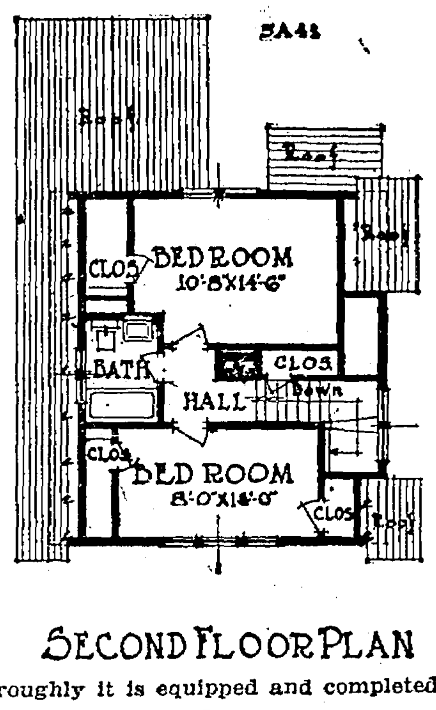

The large living room is made delightful by a fireplace, and by a large window directly opposite. A bay window in the kitchen serves as a breakfast nook.

On the second floor there are two good bedrooms. Each has a closet. There is also a bath.

The kitchen is scientifically planned to save steps and labor.

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

This home is not only practical, but distinctive in type, and will hold its own in any neighborhood, both in style and in reasonable building costs, for what it provides in equipment, convenience and comfort.

The cost to build this house, including heating, plumbing, lighting, painting, ready to live in, but not including wall decorations, should range between $6,500 and $7,500. In certain localities where costs are high, the highest figure quoted would be too low. In other localities, the lowest figure quoted would be more than sufficient. The range of $1,000 is given to cover differences in the way the house is built, how thoroughly it is equipped and completed and in what district it is erected.

The plans for small homes are furnished by the regional Bureau of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects, indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. The estimated costs of construction are based on general average for the entire country. The United States Bureau maintains an information department to answer home builders' questions. For information regarding the blue prints and specifications, which are supplied at moderate costs, address the Home Building Editor of this paper. Inclose self-addressed stamped envelope and the above plans and illustration.

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architect's Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. Inclose selfaddressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Q. I understand that there are different kinds of mahogany. What is the difference?

A. There are many varieties of mahogany just as there are different varieties of maple, oak and pine. The difference is not great. It lies in the grain figure and the depth of color.

Q—In looking over a house under construction, I saw rows of brick placed on wood beams in several places and was told this was a form of fire stop. Is this an effective method of stopping the spread of fires? Where should the bricks be placed?

A—This is an effective method of stopping the spread of flames between studs. Unless some form of blocking is used in these places they form flues for fires originating in the basement which may carry fire through the house with great rapidity. The ends of the beams and studs should be cut off by means of blocking. A more extensive method of fire stopping is followed by filling these places with metal lath baskets in which plaster debris, and other incombustible materials are placed. Bricks are sometimes used. If the studs are bridged or cross braced as they should be this will serve as an effective fire stop.

Q—Does the finish of the metal in a radiator have anything to do with the efficiency of the radiator?

A—Yes. Radiators finished with a high polish or glossy paint are not as efficient in radiation as those with a dull finish. This is due to the fact that the glossy surface seems to retain the heat instead of expelling it.

Q—Which is more expensive—low or high radiators? Is there any difference in the amount of heat given off by radiators of these types provided each has the same amount of radiating surface?

A—High radiators are less expensive than low radiators. This is true because high radiators require fewer sections than low ones for the same number of square feet of radiating surface. The high radiators are more effective per square foot of radiating surface than the low radiators. The air is circulated more readily in the former type and is more thoroughly heated as it passes.

General Grant Faces Peril on Pacific Trip; Freighter Dakotan Ashore.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—(International News Service).—The United States Shipping Board steamer President Grant arrived today at Kobe, Japan, with her cargo afire, according to wireless despatches to the marine department of the Chamber of Commerce here. The information contained no details except that the fire was still burning.

The President Grant is under allocation to the Admiral Oriental line and plies out of Seattle. She sailed from the northern port for Manila and Chinese and Japanese ports on August 6. The liner is of 8405 tons register, and is one of the finest of the large steamers making the trans-Pacific run.

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—S. O. S. calls saying the freight steamship Dakotan went ashore at 2:50 a. m. on the Pacific coast of Mexico about 500 miles south of San Pedro, Cal., were picked up here early today by the Radio Corporation of America.

No details were given, but it later was learned that the army transport Henderson and the oil tanker Charles Pratt were speeding to rescue the Dakotan. The Dakotan left Los Angeles harbor for New York several days ago.

The Dakotan is owned by the American - Hawaiian Steamship company. Her gross tonnage is 6,501, her port of registry being New York.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—The tanker Charles Pratt anchored near the American-Hawaiian freighter Dakotan ashore near San Lazaro, on the west coast of Mexico, at 8:30 a. m., today, according to a message from the Dakotan received by the Federal Telegraph company. Preparations were under way to tow off the freighter, which was undamaged.

What's Happening in the MOTOR WORLD by Tim Houlihan

One of the most difficult tests ever made with a stock automobile was made at Neptune Beach yesterday afternoon when a Maxwell touring car pulled through the deep sand and moved along as if it was on a smooth highway.

The car was stock in every way, including the air pressure in the tires, according to Gil Flint, manager of the Campe-Rose Company, Maxwell distributors, who would not be able to make the tors here.

"The crowds around the car were so thick that we thought we would not be able to make the fact, there were so many people demonstration," states Flint. In fact, there were so many people there that it was hard to get pictures of the test.

"Usually when an automobile gets into soft sand it stays there until some outside agency comes along and pulls it out.

"This demonstration was made to show that the car has enough reserve power to pull it out of any hard hole.

FORD RECORD.

July brought two new sales records to the Ford Motor Company.

In additon to bringing retail deliveries of Ford cars and trucks into the mid-summer season with a new high record for the month, July also carried the sales figures for the year past the million mark.

Increasing popularity of the Ford is most strikingly illustrated in the figures just announced, which show that from January 1 to August 1 this year sales of cars and trucks by the Ford Motor Company totaled 1,950,986 in the United States alone. And the rapidity of the increase in demand is further emphasized in the fact that sales for the first seven months of the year, during which the million mark was passed, were 391,796 greater than for the same period last year, when they totaled 659,190.

July sales mounted to 156,908, an increase of 36,821 over the same month a year ago.

For sixteen consecutive months now, Ford sales have been well over 100,000 every month.

She's Condemned by Jeremiah

MISS VIOLA WORDEN SMITH, a principal dancer in the Biblical drama "Jeremiah" to be presented at the Greek theater.

CO-EDS CHOSEN FOR BIG ROLES IN BIBLICAL DRAMA

BERKELEY, Aug. 20.—Two gifted Berkeley young women, both university students, have been chosen to play important parts in the production of "Jeremiah," Biblical drama, at the Greek theater September 7. The addition to the cast of Viola Worden Smith and Rhea Boynton has just been announced by Mr. and Mrs. John Pratt Whitman, who are directing the drama.

The characters which the two girls will portray are in vivid contrast and because of the overwhelming majority of men in the play the few feminine roles are declared to stand out with striking impressiveness. Miss Boynton will be seen as Hamutal, the sister of Jeremiah, whose wedding takes place in the first act. Miss Boynton will wear a costume purchased in Jerusalem by Mrs. Whitman from a bride who was glad to sell it after her own wedding.

No less alluring will be Miss Smith in her characterization of the scarlet woman, dancing at the high play of Anathoth and supplicating the goddess Ishtar for the fruitfulness of the whole earth. Miss Smith has had extensive daneing experience and created her own number after a study of native Assyrian steps shown her by a group of Orientals in San Francisco.

All of the costumes in the play, Mrs. Whitman declares, will combine historical accuracy with symbolic meaning. White has been used for purity, green for perfidy, scarlet for the carnal. A majority of the costumes were obtained by Mrs. Whitman while spending a year in the Holy Land.

OAKLAND TO TAKE PART IN FETE ON ADMISSION DAY

"Romantic California," the California of the days of the pioneers and padres, is to be reproduced at the coming Admission Day celebration in San Francisco. Plans to turn back seventy-five years in the history of the state to the days of '47 are being entered into by many of the parlors of the Native Sons of the Golden West of Alameda county, according to reports submitted at a joint county committee meeting Saturday night at Native Sons' hall.

Distinctive costuming is being undertaken by several of the Native Sons parlors of Alameda county to insure the pageant being unique in every respect.

A. T. Sousa, of Alameda Parlor No. 47, N. S. G. W., is in charge of arrangements for the Island City participation and announced that the Encinal boys would represent the pioneers of the days of gold, more than eighty of the Alamedans having signified their intention of becoming "pioneers" in costume and spirit for the day of September 10.

The romantic side of California history will be illustrated in the participation of Piedmont Parlor No. 120, N. S. G. W., in typical Spanish costumes. Co-operating with the Piedmont boys will be the Piedmont No. 87 Native Daughters.

E. F. Garrison and Charles Corrigan are the leading spirits in Athens Parlor No. 195, N. S. G. W., in planning to reproduce the earliest days of California history by going back to the days of the padres. These plans, if carried out as outlined will lend color to the county division in the parade.

Chairman Richard M. Hamb, of the joint Admission Day committee, today announced the appointment of a committee on Alameda county representation, the members of which are: Joseph R. Knowland, chairman; R. M. Fitzgerald, Harry G. Williams, William J. Hayes, William Bacchus and Albert Carter.

Participation by full platoons of both the police and fire department is assured, according to Nicholas J. Meinert, secretary of the joint committee, who received communications from the heads of both departments of the City of Oakland. The firemen's band will march with the firemen in the parade formation.

Pigs Grow Drunk On Mash, Betray Still to Police

SUNNYVALE, Aug. 20.—Nine dizzy, reeling porkers—intoxicated—last Friday evening gave away the secrets of a bootleg still on the Raphael De La Cruz ranch, near here, to County Detective William Dreischmeyer and his aide, A. M. Vaughter.

Hunt from bootleg mash, staggering and rolling, the nine pigs were heard squealing in the barn as the detectives began to search the place. Further search of the barn revealed eight gallons of "white mule" whisky, a large quantity of mash and a still of 15-gallon capacity.

De La Cruz was arrested and taken to the county jail. The still and liquor were confiscated and the mash destroyed, while the pigs were turned loose to recover from their spree as best they might. Six children of the family, between the ages of 4 and 8 years, are being cared for by the county.

TYPHOON-LASHED U. S. SHIP MAKES HONGKONG PORT

Death Toll in Hurricane Is Estimated at 100; Damage Large.

HONGKONG, Aug. 20.—The American tramp steamer Josefina, which put into Hongkong yesterday, was severely buffeted and greatly damaged by the typhoon which raged in this vicinity last week. The Josefina, which has Spanish officers and a Filipino crew, was en route from Manila to Nagaski, Japan, when the storm struck her.

The vessel's bridge was partially wrecked and her compass was mashed. A deckhouse was washed overboard, railings were twisted and a companionway was carried away. Cabin doors were broken and ports smashed. Everything moveable that was on deck was carried away. The officers' quarters were wrecked and the rudder lost.

Hardly a house in the Peak district of Hongkong escaped damage in the typhoon. The dead are estimated at 100.

An untenanted military sanitorium was wrecked. The walls surrounding the maternity division of the Matilda hospital was blown down and the iron gates wrenched from their supporting pillars. The roof of the Victoria hospital was seriously damaged and the Mount Gough police station was nearly destroyed. The roof of the building housing the junior mess of the Hongkong-Shanghai bank fell in, damaging two floors. A corner room of the chief justice' house was blown away and the Peak hotel considerably damaged.

MING SANG WAS NOT LINER SUNK.

MANILA, Aug. 20.—By the Associated Press.)—The British steamer Ming Sang, which was reported sunk in the Hongkong harbor during the typhoon Saturday, arrived here safely this morning after a tumultuous voyage. Her officers reported that the vessel seen to sink in Hongkong is a ship of much the same type.

A minor typhoon has been raging here for the last three days. With it came a heavy rainfall that flooded many streets.

Turnbow, who is to be superintendent of dairy products, having charge of the department in which butter, ice cream, cheese and milk will be exhibited in competition.

Competition exhibits in this department will be made from all sections of the Pacific West. Judges in these departments will be announced later.

MEN CREMATED IN DEATH DELUGE OF BURNING OIL

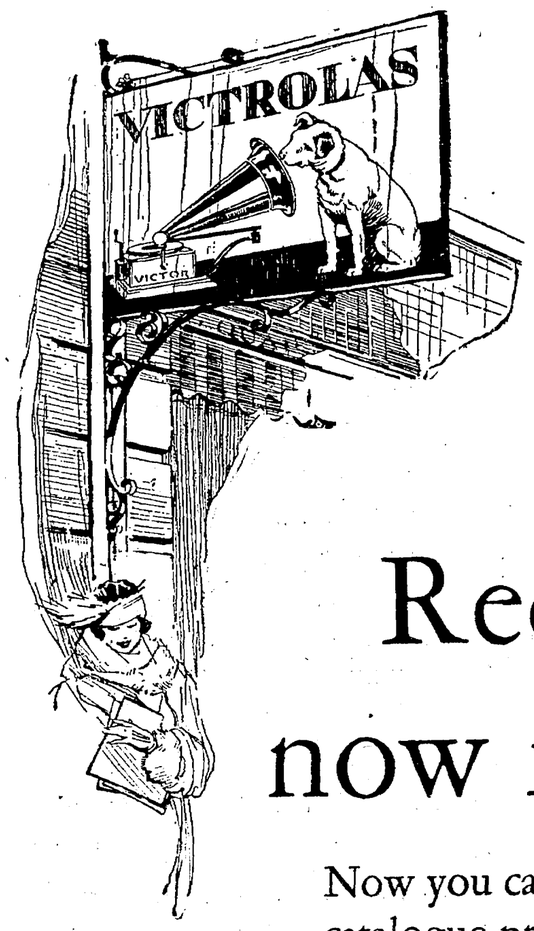

Incendiarism Probe Started Following Tank Blast at Long Beach.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 20.—(By International News Service.)—Two men, W. E. Aman and E. C. Mikel, were dead and a third man, who could not be identified, barely escaped with his life early today in a new oil fire that swept Signal Hill. Mikeal died several hours after the fire. It was announced by officials later this morning that the fire had been brought under control.

The fire started when a pipe line of the Shell Oil company broke, spraying oil on a boiler at which three men were getting up steam. The three men were enveloped in flames.

The burning oil, which was flowing down hill, reached storage tank, causing it to explode. Damage was estimated at $65,000.
